TRUMAN SAYS POLICY UNCHANGED

Auto Workers To Strike

Walkout Is Set For 10 A.M. In Crysler Plants

Last-Minute Talks Reported Failure

DETROIT, May 11—(INS)—The nation-wide strike of 72,500 UAW-CIO Chrysler Corporation employes will start at 10 a. m. (EDT) tomorrow.

Last hope of averting the year's first major auto strike fled tonight when eelventh-hour negotiations were broken off by federal conciliators at 7:20 p. m.

The talks ended when the company rejected a union proposal to enter into a temporary agreement providing for a 17-cent hourly wage increase. The UAW originally demanded 30 cents.

Robert Conder, Chrysler Labor Relations Director, said the company made no counter-offer but was willing to continue discussions on the wage question.

Renewed 6-Cent Offer

However, Conder said the company at one point suggested re-instatement of its previous offer of a six cent pay hike, but union negotiators refused to consider the proposal.

He said the company was willing to continue discussions "if there is no strike." He declined to comment on whether the company will terminate its UAW contract after the strike deadline.

The union charged that the company has taken the position that "its employes are not entitled to one cent an hour increase."

"With complete disregard to public good," the UAW said, "the corporation has left its employes with no alternative but to go on strike."

Conder denied a union claim that the company had conceded that Chrysler workers need 17 cents an hour more to keep pace with higher living costs.

He said 17 cents was mentioned only as the union's lowest acceptable figure.

Conciliators throughout the day kept teams of company and union negotiators in separate sessions in a desperate effort to avert the strike.

Warned of Strike Law

As hope dimmed, the State Labor Board again warned the union that the walkout would violate the state's "little Taft-Hartley Act," the Bonnine-Tripp Law, which provides for a majority vote to call a strike.

However Matthews said the union will ignore any injunctions obtained under the state law.

"It is evident," Matthews said, "that the company is determined to fight the union with the collaboration of the rest of the auto industry. We'll lick them if it comes to a showdown."

Emil Mazey, acting UAW president in the absence of the wounded Walter P. Reuther, declared meanwhile that the union is financially able to support a long strike.

He said the Chrysler Department has a fund of $800,000 and that the combined strike funds of all locals total $7,000,000.

At one point during the negotiations which began last February 27, the company offered (but later withdrew) a proposal to increase wages six cents an hour. The union informally offered to compromise at 18½ cents.

Upon the negotiators for both sides rests responsibility for establishing a pattern for a third round of postwar wage boosts in the auto industry.

Jews Charge Arabs Break Battle Truce

Mortars Open Fire In Two Districts

JERUSALEM, May 12 (Wednesday) (INS) — The Jews charged early today that the Arabs broke Jerusalem's four - day cease - fire "truce" by firing mortars and long-range rifles into the Southern Katamon and Mekor Haim Districts.

Thirty minutes after the first firing broke out at midnight, the Jews still refrained from retaliating.

Jerusalem has been enjoying a semblance of peace since Saturday. Jews and Arabs had agreed to the cease-fire arrangement to permit British, United Nations and Red Cross representatives to attempt negotiation of a permanent truce.

Heavy Firing Begins

Heavy firing broke out on the southern fringes of the city after the battle for control of the Zionist lifeline from Jerusalem to Tel Aviv flared up again east of Latrun.

The Jews claimed they killed more than 200 Arabs in the three-day highway battle.

The roar of mortars and small arms fire awoke Jerusalem after most of its inhabitants had gone to bed hopeful that an international Red Cross attempt to make Jerusalem an open city would bear fruit in a day or so.

But heavy firing that rocked the southwestern suburb of Mekor Hayim dimmed hopes of an imminent permanent truce for Jerusalem.

Haganah leaders then announced that the Arabs were hurling mortar shells at the Jewish positions in the Arab Christian Katamon District.

One shell exploded in the courtyard of Saint Simeon Monastery, which the Haganah forces are using as a command post.

The Jews were understood to have lodged a formal protest with the United Nations Truce Commission, which, with British officials, also have been trying to arrange a permanent truce to replace the temporary cease-fire agreement.

Rifle Fire Breaks Out

Soon after Katamon came under mortar attack, long-range rifle fire hit the district, as well as nearby Mekor Haim. The firing was believed to have come from Arab positions at Beit Safafa in the upper Bakaa area.

The Jewish settlement of Kiryat AnaVim, astride the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv Highway, was heavily bombarded by Arab artillery. The Arabs also shelled the Neve Yaacov Settlement.

The Jews, trying to wind up the highway battle west of Jerusalem, cleared more than 100 mines from the road to Latrun.

Last night several thousand Arabs rallied for a last-ditch stand east of Latrun, midway between Jerusalem and Tel Aviv. The roadblock, 15 miles west of the Holy City, had cut off food supplies to Jerusalem's 100,000 Jews for 20 days.

The highway battle was still raging last night.

Railroads Operating Under U. S. Seizure

Radcliffe Named State Demo Head

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—Maryland Democratic leaders today selected former U. S. Senator George L. Radcliffe to be temporary chairman of the party's state convention in Baltimore June 1.

Governor Lane, who is Democratic National Committeeman for Maryland, announced the date and selection of a temporary chairman after a meeting of party officers with Senator Tydings at the Senate lunchroom.

Robert B. Ennie, chairman of the State Central Committee, said the appointment had not been discussed with Radcliffe and is subject to his approval.

Governor Lane said additional discussion at the meeting dealt with the fall campaign, particularly efforts on behalf of the Democratic nominees to Congress.

Radcliffe was defeated for renomination in the summer of 1946 by Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor, who went on to win the seat in the fall elections.

Royall To Meet Unions Shortly

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The railroad highballed as usual today but the rail labor dispute, snatched from the strike stage in the nick of time, remained unsettled.

Heads of the three unions involved paid a 20-minute call on Army Secretary Kenneth Royall, bent on seeking a settlement now that the rail system is under government control by President Truman's order.

Afterward, they said Royall told them he hasn't authority yet to deal with them but "will get in touch with us" again in a few days.

Secretary Royall told reporters earlier the Army was not disposed to enter negotiations with the unions for the time being.

Quick Settlement Predicted

Quick settlement was predicted by M. W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Clement told reporters at the Pennsy's annual stockholders meeting at Philadelphia that he believed a settlement will come before May 19.

That is the date Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough set for a hearing here on the government's plea for an injunction to replace the temporary restraining order granted by the judge last night to stop the strike.

It was a question of bowing to the court order or facing possible heavy fines for the three union chieftains—Alvanley Johnston of the Locomotive Engineers, David Robertson of the Firemen and Enginemen, and A. J. Glover of the Switchmen.

They finally gave in. But their instructions cancelling strike plans came less than eight hours before the walkout was due to start at 6 a. m., local Standard Time, today.

The court order had been obtained only after the union leaders had flatly refused to commit their men to work for the Army under federal rail seizure.

In carrying out his assignment from President Truman to keep the trains rolling, Secretary Royall has designated Maj. Gen. Edmond H. Leavey, chief of the Army transportation Corps, as top boss.

Andrew F. McIntyre, general manager of the Pensylvania Railroad's New York Division, was called back to active duty from the reserve with the rank of brigadier general as Leavey's assistant.

Royall divided the nation into seven rail traffic areas, commissioned seven civilian railroad presidents as colonels in the army, and put one in charge of each of the areas.

Army To Supervise

Royall said the Army will only supervise rail operations, letting the carriers handle their own finances and other details.

Bans against shipments of perishable foods and produce, imposed in the face of the strike threat to prevent spoilage, were lifted.

The three unions were resentful of government seizure and court action prventing the strike. At a news

Propose UN Watch For Palestine

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 11 (AP)—The United States and France proposed tonight that Jerusalem be placed temporarily under the authority of the United Nations when the British mandate ends May 15.

The proposal designates the United Nations as the administering authority for Jerusalem, with the trusteeship council carrying out the functions of administration.

A high commissioner would be appointed for the Holy City by the trusteeship council. Other organs of the government would be named such as "in the opinion of the high commissioner will meet with cooperation from the various communities x x x."

The high commissioner would be subject to instructions of the trusteeship council. He would be empowered to organize and direct a police force, and also to organize a volunteer force to provide for local defense and maintenance of law and order.

Pending appointment of the commissioner, the trusteeship council would make such arrangements to administer the Holy City.

Should the high commissioner be unable to maintain the territorial integrity of the city, he would present his problem to the U. N. security council.

Territorial integrity of the city would include free access to the city and assurances for its food and water supply and other vital services.

Protection of Jerusalem's holy places would be under the commissioner, as well as education, cultural, charitable institutions and hospitals.

Iowa University Editor Wins Award

NEW YORK, May 11 (INS) — R. Bruce Hughes, 22-year-old University of Iowa newspaper editor, received the 1948 Friends of Democracy award at the 12th annual dinner of the organization tonight.

Hughes was cited for his story about racial intolerance in Iowa City, which led to better understanding and feeling there.

Dr. Leon M. Birkhead, national director of the Friends of Democracy, warned in a speech that American Democracy, in 1948, may reach its lowest point of the last two decades.

Europe Wary But Hopeful Of Red Talk

Fear 'Sphere Of Influence' Basis

LONDON, May 11 (AP)—Western Europe reacted with both hope and wariness today to the Moscow announcement that Russia is ready to try "discussion and settlement" of differences with the United States.

After months of tension most of Europe was anxious to grasp at any prospect that the frictions which have led to fears of another war could be eased at a meeting of the world's two greatest powers.

One main question appeared to be whether Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov was proposing a settlement on a "spheres of influence" basis, with the United States and Russia promising to keep hands off the nations in each other's orbits.

Few Expect Settlement

Few could find reason for expecting a settlement on those terms. They would involve for example, a reversal of U. S. policy in such places as Greece.

Diplomats in Britain and France could hardly fail to notice that Molotov's statement seemed to leave them out in the cold.

The French Foreign Ministry was prompt to demand that the nations of Western Europe be permitted "active participation" in any such talks.

The semi-official French News Agency France-Presse, quoting "authorized circles" to this effect, said their geographical situation and role in western civilization entitle them to be heard.

The British Foreign Office had nothing to say, even after American Ambassador Lewis Douglas was called in to review the situation for Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

Later, French Ambassador Rene Massigli dropped in to see Bevin.

Greek politicians and newspapers were silent, but other Greeks told newsmen they feared their country might be "sacrificed" to appease the Soviet Union.

Molotov said "events in Greece are not the sole example" of U. S. intervention in domestic affairs of other states "which cannot but evoke serious objections on the part of the Soviet Government."

Press reaction was mixed.

London Paper Cautious

The London Standard called the Soviet report of an agreement to hold talks "good news," but cautioned against "extravagant hopes."

In Berlin the Russian-controlled Nacht Express predicted U. S.-Russian talks would mean the end of the "cold war."

The Communist Ce Soir in Paris said "the negotiations to be opened will begin under the augur of frankness."

More cautious were the French-licensed newspaper Kurier in Berlin which observed that "differences were never solved merely by radio announcements" and the liberal Ekstrabladet in Copenhagen, which remarked: "you cannot take it for granted that the discussions will succeed."

Neely Leads Holt In W. Va. Primary

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 11. (AP) — Matthew Mansfield Neely, 73-year-old former Senator and former Governor, took a slight lead tonight over his old Democratic factional enemy, former Senator Rush Dew Holt, in the first trickle of returns from West Virginia's primary election.

Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor running in the Republican preferential primary, was rolling away from two unknown opponents. The preference primary is purely advisory and Stassen was admittedly entered only to test sentiment. In 34 of 2,788 precincts he had 1,048 votes.

Neely, who in the days of the New Deal frequently tangled with Holt on the Senate floor, had 1,464 votes in 42 precincts. Holt, the "boy Senator" of the 30's—he is now 42—polled 1,230. There were three others in the race.

Senator Chapman Revercomb, Republican, who defeated Neely in 1942, was having an easy time of it for renomination in first returns. In 45 precincts he had 2,076 to 35 for John Alderson Simms, Charleston chemical engineer.

ON A BANANA DIET-- This 19-months-old youngster, Peter Buescher, munches bananas in a Berlin hospital as doctors fixed a diet which they hope will save his life. Peter was stricken with an intestinal ailment at his home in Frankfurt and when his condition became serious, a U. S. Army plane flew him to Berlin.

Draft Bill Approved By Senate Committee

Fuel Gas Flames Destroy Building

GLEN BURNIE, Md., May 11 (AP) — A trash fire apparently ignited several small tanks of cooking gas just after noon today and a two-story business building in the heart of town was burned out before firemen could bring the blaze under control two hours later.

A bowling alley on the second floor, the offices of the Anne Arundel County Chronicle, a hardware store, a tavern, and a fuel company office were badly damaged.

The Gas-Oil Products Company supplies cooking gas stored in pressurized tanks to rural homes and it was among the tanks that the fire apparently started.

Witnesses said smoke and leaping flames could be seen 20 miles. Ed Thompson, employed in a nearby store said a fiery torch at one time reached 200 feet into the air.

Fire companies from seven nearby communities joined in the battle. It was almost an hour before they could take hoses into the second floor of the building.

Air Force Measure Goes To President

WASHINGTON, May 11. (AP)—The American Defense Program gathered speed today despite Russia's talk of "peace and co-operation." Both Senate and House approved a 70-group Air Force Bill and a Senate Committee voted a draft measure.

The Air Force Bill—compromising minor differences between the two Houses—now needs only the expected signature of President Truman.

The draft measure, in line with a preparedness program asked by President Truman eight weeks ago, still has several hurdles to pass.

Overwhelming voice votes gave final approval for the 70-group Air Force.

Draft Approved 7-2

The Draft Bill was approved 7 to 2 by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

This is how the committee Draft Bill was finally worked out after weeks of hearing and study:

Men 19 through 25 would be subject to the draft, and serve two years in the armed forces.

Men 18 through 25 and medical men through 45 would have to register.

Youths 18 years old may volunteer for a one year training program. The bill provides for training 260,000 of the 18-year-olds, who then would not be subject to the draft, but be held in a reserve pool.

A former plan that made teenage training mandatory, first offered as a substitute for universal military training, was junked today by the committee.

Veterans would be exempt from induction but not registration. These are men who were on duty for 90 days or longer between Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941, and V-J Day when Japan surrendered September 2, 1945; also any man who has served 18 months in the armed services, even if only part was in the wartime period.

Plan Local Boards

The draft would be handled by local boards, and quotas would be "equalized" by crediting each state with the number of men now in service.

The bill would be effective for five years.

It would boost the armed force strength to a total of 1,994,000, counting trainees.

Defense Secretary Forrestal, asked by reporters today if the Senate Bill met his full approval, said: "Yes, indeed."

CIO Packers Union Rejects Contract

CHICAGO, May 11 (AP)—The CIO Packinghouse Workers Union today refused to ratify a wage agreement reached last night between 400 CIO stock-handlers and the Chicago Stockyards and said it would "investigate the situation."

A threatened strike of the stockhandlers was averted four hours before today's 12:01 a. m. deadline when the Local 44 accepted a new contract providing for a wage increase of six cents an hour.

The stockhandlers are affiliated with the (CIO) United Packinghouse Workers of America, who have been on a strike since March 16 in a dispute over wages with the major packers.

Ralph Helstein, international president of the UPWA, said today the international office refused to ratify Local 44's agreement, and issued the following statement:

"The international office of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO) has refused to ratify the agreement reached yesterday between the Stockhandlers Local 44 of the UPWA and the Union Stockyards and Transit Company at Chicago.

"In accordance with the procedure of the union's international constitution a hearing officer will be appointed to investigate the situation in connection with the local's action and will take such measures as may be necessary to enforce the policies of the union."

Frank Monaghan, president of Local 44, said tonight he had not yet been notified of the UPWA international officers' action, but he added, "I don't believe they have any business in taking such action."

The stockhandlers, who load, unload, weigh, and drive cattle to and from the pens and chutes within the stockyards, averaged about $1.05 hourly under the old contract. The new wage boosts would be retroactive to last April 4.

The Packinghouse Workers have asked a 29 cent hourly boost.

President Explains Message To Molotov

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—Amid world-wide speculation over a Soviet-American "peace" conference, President Truman today issued a cautiously worded statement avoiding any commitment on the possibility of direct negotiations between United States and Soviet leaders.

He declared, instead, that the purpose of Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith's talk with Foreign Minister Molotov in Moscow May 4 was to clear away any "misconception or confusion in the minds of the Soviet government" about American policy.

Smith made two salient points, the President said. These were:

First, that the United States will continue to promote "vigorously and firmly" its policy of aiding Western Europe and

Second, that "the United States has no hostile or aggressive designs" toward Russia.

Must Have Agreement

Some of the President's foreign policy advisers emphasized that a primary requirement of any talks would be agreement beforehand on specific points to be discussed. They also said that any conference which involved the interest of other nations would have to include those other nations.

Generally, in fact, responsible American officials were inclined to discount the prospects for any early negotiotions between Moscow and Washington aimed at an over-all settlement of the "cold war."

The whole situation arose, in the opinion of the President's diplomatic advisers, because the Russians chose to consider a remark by Ambassador Smith that the door is always open to negotiations with Russia as a virtual invitation to hold a Soviet-American conference. The Soviet government last night broadcast Smith's statement to Molotov of May 4 and Molotov's reply of May 9 stating that the Soviet government "adopts a positive attitude toward the wishes of the United States government x x x to begin x x x a discussion and settlement of differences existing between us."

Diplomatic authorities here took the position that actually no new proposal for Soviet-American talks had been made by Smith. His words, as interpreted here, did not go beyond the "open" door statement which President Truman included in his message to Congress on March 17.

Caught U. S. Off Guard

There was no doubt among informed observers here that the Russian reaction, by emphasizing the possibility of "a discussion and settlement" between the world's two greatest powers, had caught the American government somewhat off guard. So had the fact that Russia made both Smith's statement and Molotov's reply public.

Secretary of State Marshall conferred with various advisers today. He also received the British Ambassador Lord Inverchapel and the French Ambassador, Henri Bonnet.

The American Government indicated its attitude officially in two ways. Not only did President Truman issue his statement, but the State Department also issued a 500-word report of what Ambassador Smith said to Molotov on May 9 after he received the Soviet Foreign minister's response to his statement.

In these oral remarks, Smith re-

Grocer Is Charged With Tax Evasion

BALTIMORE, May 11—(AP)—The government today charged Herman B. Sandler of Washington, a grocer, with evading $12,719 in federal income taxes.

Information filed by the district attorney charged Sandler with failure to file proper returns and make payments in the four year period from 1942 through 1945. The papers said his name was Schmukler before he had it changed through court action.

The government also charged Martin M. Griffin, Baltimore tavern proprietor, with evading $25,012 in taxes during the same four-year period.

Rep. Beall Proposes Federal Road Aid

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—Rep. Beall (R-Md) proposed today that state and locally owned toll roads, bridges and tunnels be made eligible for federal highway assistance.

Federal aid is not now applicable to such projects.

Beall offered a bill which would provide that all tolls received from operation of toll roads and related facilities be applied to repayment to the states or local agencies for their share in construction costs.

State Legion Officer Receives Threat Over GI Training Probe

BALTIMORE, May 11—(AP)—J. Nelson Tribby, state adjutant of the American Legion, said today he had received two anonymous telephone calls warning him he might be harmed if the Legion presses for an investigation of GI training.

Harry S. Allen, state commander, announced Saturday the Legion had asked for federal investigation of a private technical school which has been getting tuition fees from the government for training former service men.

The name of the school was not disclosed. The Veterans' Administration announced it also was auditing the books of a GI training institution.

Tribby said he got the first call about Sunday noon and a man's voice "warned me to lay off the VA or I'd regret it."

Tribby asked the caller to identify himself and hung up when he refused.

The second call came last night and Tribby quoted a different voice as saying:

"I'm calling to give you fair warning to lay off the VA or you'll be a sorry man."

Tribby said he thought the calls were made by cranks. Allen wasn't so sure.

Earthquakes Kill One, Cause Heavy Damage In Chile, Peru

LIMA, Peru, May 11—(AP)Sharp earthquakes rocked Southern Peru and Northern Chile early today, killing at least one person and injuring an undetermined number. Heavy damage to homes and buildings was reported.

Two heavy earth tremors were reported at Arequipa, (Population about 40,000) about 500 miles south of Lima. The first occurred at 3:55 a. m. (EST) and lasted about 40 seconds, and a second hit at 4:20 a. m. A third quake struck at 7:30 a. m. and raised a dust cloud over the city.

A woman was reported killed in Chihuata village on the slope of the Misti volcano, close to Arequipa.

An estimated 30 per cent of Arequipa's houses were reported damaged. Some adobe homes crumbled under th force of the temblors.

The modern Goyeneche Hospital was cracked and hospital authorities planned to transfer patients and injured to a safe place. Schools were closed as a precautionary measure, and traffic was stopped over the damaged Chile River bridge.

The epicenter of the quake was believed to have been between Arequipa and Moquegua in the Puquna area.

President Explains Message To Molotov

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—Amid world-wide speculation over a Soviet-American "peace" conference, President Truman today issued a cautiously worded statement avoiding any commitment on the possibility of direct negotiations between United States and Soviet leaders.

He declared, instead, that the purpose of Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith's talk with Foreign Minister Molotov in Moscow May 4 was to clear away any "misconception or confusion in the minds of the Soviet government" about American policy.

Smith made two salient points, the President said. These were:

First, that the United States will continue to promote "vigorously and firmly" its policy of aiding Western Europe and

Second, that "the United States has no hostile or aggressive designs" toward Russia.

Must Have Agreement

Some of the President's foreign policy advisers emphasized that a primary requirement of any talks would be agreement beforehand on specific points to be discussed. They also said that any conference which involved the interest of other nations would have to include those other nations.

Generally, in fact, responsible American officials were inclined to discount the prospects for any early negotiotions between Moscow and Washington aimed at an over-all settlement of the "cold war."

The whole situation arose, in the opinion of the President's diplomatic advisers, because the Russians chose to consider a remark by Ambassador Smith that the door is always open to negotiations with Russia as a virtual invitation to hold a Soviet-American conference. The Soviet government last night broadcast Smith's statement to Molotov of May 4 and Molotov's reply of May 9 stating that the Soviet government "adopts a positive attitude toward the wishes of the United States government x x x to begin x x x a discussion and settlement of differences existing between us."

Diplomatic authorities here took the position that actually no new proposal for Soviet-American talks had been made by Smith. His words, as interpreted here, did not go beyond the "open" door statement which President Truman included in his message to Congress on March 17.

Caught U. S. Off Guard

There was no doubt among informed observers here that the Russian reaction, by emphasizing the possibility of "a discussion and settlement" between the world's two greatest powers, had caught the American government somewhat off guard. So had the fact that Russia made both Smith's statement and Molotov's reply public.

Secretary of State Marshall conferred with various advisers today. He also received the British Ambassador Lord Inverchapel and the French Ambassador, Henri Bonnet.

The American Government indicated its attitude officially in two ways. Not only did President Truman issue his statement, but the State Department also issued a 500-word report of what Ambassador Smith said to Molotov on May 9 after he received the Soviet Foreign minister's response to his statement.

In these oral remarks, Smith re-

Jews Charge Arabs Break Battle Truce

Mortars Open Fire In Two Districts

JERUSALEM, May 12 (Wednesday) (INS) — The Jews charged early today that the Arabs broke Jerusalem's four - day cease - fire "truce" by firing mortars and long-range rifles into the Southern Katamon and Mekor Haim Districts.

Thirty minutes after the first firing broke out at midnight, the Jews still refrained from retaliating.

Jerusalem has been enjoying a semblance of peace since Saturday. Jews and Arabs had agreed to the cease-fire arrangement to permit British, United Nations and Red Cross representatives to attempt negotiation of a permanent truce.

Heavy Firing Begins

Heavy firing broke out on the southern fringes of the city after the battle for control of the Zionist lifeline from Jerusalem to Tel Aviv flared up again east of Latrun.

The Jews claimed they killed more than 200 Arabs in the three-day highway battle.

The roar of mortars and small arms fire awoke Jerusalem after most of its inhabitants had gone to bed hopeful that an international Red Cross attempt to make Jerusalem an open city would bear fruit in a day or so.

But heavy firing that rocked the southwestern suburb of Mekor Hayim dimmed hopes of an imminent permanent truce for Jerusalem.

Haganah leaders then announced that the Arabs were hurling mortar shells at the Jewish positions in the Arab Christian Katamon District.

One shell exploded in the courtyard of Saint Simeon Monastery, which the Haganah forces are using as a command post.

The Jews were understood to have lodged a formal protest with the United Nations Truce Commission, which, with British officials, also have been trying to arrange a permanent truce to replace the temporary cease-fire agreement.

Rifle Fire Breaks Out

Soon after Katamon came under mortar attack, long-range rifle fire hit the district, as well as nearby Mekor Haim. The firing was believed to have come from Arab positions at Beit Safafa in the upper Bakaa area.

The Jewish settlement of Kiryat AnaVim, astride the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv Highway, was heavily bombarded by Arab artillery. The Arabs also shelled the Neve Yaacov Settlement.

The Jews, trying to wind up the highway battle west of Jerusalem, cleared more than 100 mines from the road to Latrun.

Last night several thousand Arabs rallied for a last-ditch stand east of Latrun, midway between Jerusalem and Tel Aviv. The roadblock, 15 miles west of the Holy City, had cut off food supplies to Jerusalem's 100,000 Jews for 20 days.

The highway battle was still raging last night.

Railroads Operating Under U. S. Seizure

Radcliffe Named State Demo Head

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—Maryland Democratic leaders today selected former U. S. Senator George L. Radcliffe to be temporary chairman of the party's state convention in Baltimore June 1.

Governor Lane, who is Democratic National Committeeman for Maryland, announced the date and selection of a temporary chairman after a meeting of party officers with Senator Tydings at the Senate lunchroom.

Robert B. Ennie, chairman of the State Central Committee, said the appointment had not been discussed with Radcliffe and is subject to his approval.

Governor Lane said additional discussion at the meeting dealt with the fall campaign, particularly efforts on behalf of the Democratic nominees to Congress.

Radcliffe was defeated for renomination in the summer of 1946 by Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor, who went on to win the seat in the fall elections.

Royall To Meet Unions Shortly

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The railroad highballed as usual today but the rail labor dispute, snatched from the strike stage in the nick of time, remained unsettled.

Heads of the three unions involved paid a 20-minute call on Army Secretary Kenneth Royall, bent on seeking a settlement now that the rail system is under government control by President Truman's order.

Afterward, they said Royall told them he hasn't authority yet to deal with them but "will get in touch with us" again in a few days.

Secretary Royall told reporters earlier the Army was not disposed to enter negotiations with the unions for the time being.

Quick Settlement Predicted

Quick settlement was predicted by M. W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Clement told reporters at the Pennsy's annual stockholders meeting at Philadelphia that he believed a settlement will come before May 19.

That is the date Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough set for a hearing here on the government's plea for an injunction to replace the temporary restraining order granted by the judge last night to stop the strike.

It was a question of bowing to the court order or facing possible heavy fines for the three union chieftains —Alvanley Johnston of the Locomotive Engineers, David Robertson of the Firemen and Enginemen, and A. J. Glover of the Switchmen.

They finally gave in. But their instructions cancelling strike plans came less than eight hours before the walkout was due to start at 6 a. m., local Standard Time, today.

The court order had been obtained only after the union leaders had flatly refused to commit their men to work for the Army under federal rail seizure.

In carrying out his assignment from President Truman to keep the trains rolling, Secretary Royall has designated Maj. Gen. Edmond H. Leavey, chief of the Army transportation Corps, as top boss.

Andrew F. McIntyre, general manager of the Pensylvania Railroad's New York Division, was called back to active duty from the reserve with the rank of brigadier general as Leavey's assistant.

Royall divided the nation into seven rail traffic areas, commissioned seven civilian railroad presidents as colonels in the army, and put one in charge of each of the areas.

Army To Supervise

Royall said the Army will only supervise rail operations, letting the carriers handle their own finances and other details.

Bans against shipments of perishable foods and produce, imposed in the face of the strike threat to prevent spoilage, were lifted.

The three unions were resentful of government seizure and court action prventing the strike. At a news

Propose UN Watch For Palestine

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 11 (AP)—The United States and France proposed tonight that Jerusalem be placed temporarily under the authority of the United Nations when the British mandate ends May 15.

The proposal designates the United Nations as the administering authority for Jerusalem, with the trusteeship council carrying out the functions of administration.

A high commissioner would be appointed for the Holy City by the trusteeship council. Other organs of the government would be named such as "in the opinion of the high commissioner will meet with cooperation from the various communities x x x."

The high commissioner would be subject to instructions of the trusteeship council. He would be empowered to organize and direct a police force, and also to organize a volunteer force to provide for local defense and maintenance of law and order.

Pending appointment of the commissioner, the trusteeship council would make such arrangements to administer the Holy City.

Should the high commissioner be unable to maintain the territorial integrity of the city, he would present his problem to the U. N. security council.

Territorial integrity of the city would include free access to the city and assurances for its food and water supply and other vital services.

Neely Leads Holt In W. Va. Primary

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 11. (AP) — Matthew Mansfield Neely, 73-year-old former Senator and former Governor, took a slight lead tonight over his old Democratic factional enemy, former Senator Rush Dew Holt, in the first trickle of returns from West Virginia's primary election.

Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor running in the Republican preferential primary, was rolling away from two unknown opponents. The preference primary is purely advisory and Stassen was admittedly entered only to test sentiment. In 34 of 2,788 precincts he had 1,048 votes.

Neely, who in the days of the New Deal frequently tangled with Holt on the Senate floor, had 1,464 votes in 42 precincts. Holt, the "boy Senator" of the 30's—he is now 42—polled 1,230. There were three others in the race.

Senator Chapman Revercomb, Republican, who defeated Neely in 1942, was having an easy time of it for renomination in first returns. In 45 precincts he had 2,076 to 35 for John Alderson Simms, Charleston chemical engineer.

Draft Bill Approved By Senate Committee

Fuel Gas Flames Destroy Building

GLEN BURNIE, Md., May 11 (AP) — A trash fire apparently ignited several small tanks of cooking gas just after noon today and a two-story business building in the heart of town was burned out before firemen could bring the blaze under control two hours later.

A bowling alley on the second floor, the offices of the Anne Arundel County Chronicle, a hardware store, a tavern, and a fuel company office were badly damaged.

The Gas-Oil Products Company supplies cooking gas stored in pressurized tanks to rural homes and it was among the tanks that the fire apparently started.

Witnesses said smoke and leaping flames could be seen 20 miles. Ed Thompson, employed in a nearby store said a fiery torch at one time reached 200 feet into the air.

Fire companies from seven nearby communities joined in the battle. It was almost an hour before they could take hoses into the second floor of the building.

Air Force Measure Goes To President

WASHINGTON, May 11. (AP)—The American Defense Program gathered speed today despite Russia's talk of "peace and co-operation." Both Senate and House approved a 70-group Air Force Bill and a Senate Committee voted a draft measure.

The Air Force Bill—compromising minor differences between the two Houses—now needs only the expected signature of President Truman.

The draft measure, in line with a preparedness program asked by President Truman eight weeks ago, still has several hurdles to pass.

Overwhelming voice votes gave final approval for the 70-group Air Force.

Draft Approved 7-2

The Draft Bill was approved 7 to 2 by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

This is how the committee Draft Bill was finally worked out after weeks of hearing and study:

Men 19 through 25 would be subject to the draft, and serve two years in the armed forces.

Men 18 through 25 and medical men through 45 would have to register.

Youths 18 years old may volunteer for a one year training program. The bill provides for training 260,000 of the 18-year-olds, who then would not be subject to the draft, but be held in a reserve pool.

A former plan that made teenage training mandatory, first offered as a substitute for universal military training, was junked today by the committee.

Veterans would be exempt from induction but not registration. These are men who were on duty for 90 days or longer between Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941, and V-J Day when Japan surrendered September 2, 1945; also any man who has served 18 months in the armed services, even if only part was in the wartime period.

Plan Local Boards

The draft would be handled by local boards, and quotas would be "equalized" by crediting each state with the number of men now in service.

The bill would be effective for five years.

It would boost the armed force strength to a total of 1,994,000, counting trainees.

Defense Secretary Forrestal, asked by reporters today if the Senate Bill met his full approval, said: "Yes, indeed."

CIO Packers Union Rejects Contract

CHICAGO, May 11 (AP)—The CIO Packinghouse Workers Union today refused to ratify a wage agreement reached last night between 400 CIO stock-handlers and the Chicago Stockyards and said it would "investigate the situation."

A threatened strike of the stockhandlers was averted four hours before today's 12:01 a. m. deadline when the Local 44 accepted a new contract providing for a wage increase of six cents an hour.

The stockhandlers are affiliated with the (CIO) United Packinghouse Workers of America, who have been on a strike since March 16 in a dispute over wages with the major packers.

Ralph Helstein, international president of the UPWA, said today the international office refused to ratify Local 44's agreement, and issued the following statement:

"The international office of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO) has refused to ratify the agreement reached yesterday between the Stockhandlers Local 44 of the UPWA and the Union Stockyards and Transit Company at Chicago.

"In accordance with the procedure of the union's international constitution a hearing officer will be appointed to investigate the situation in connection with the local's action and will take such measures as may be necessary to enforce the policies of the union."

Frank Monaghan, president of Local 44, said tonight he had not yet been notified of the UPWA international officers' action, but he added, "I don't believe they have any business in taking such action."

The stockhandlers, who load, unload, weigh, and drive cattle to and from the pens and chutes within the stockyards, averaged about $1.05 hourly under the old contract. The new wage boosts would be retroactive to last April 4.

The Packinghouse Workers have asked a 29 cent hourly boost.

Grocer Is Charged With Tax Evasion

BALTIMORE, May 11—(AP)—The government today charged Herman B. Sandler of Washington, a grocer, with evading $12,719 in federal income taxes.

Information filed by the district attorney charged Sandler with failure to file proper returns and make payments in the four year period from 1942 through 1945. The papers said his name was Schmukler before he had it changed through court action.

The government also charged Martin M. Griffin, Baltimore tavern proprietor, with evading $25,012 in taxes during the same four-year period.

Rep. Beall Proposes Federal Road Aid

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—Rep. Beall (R-Md) proposed today that state and locally owned toll roads, bridges and tunnels be made eligible for federal highway assistance.

Federal aid is not now applicable to such projects.

Beall offered a bill which would provide that all tolls received from operation of toll roads and related facilities be applied to repayment to the states or local agencies for their share in construction costs.

State Legion Officer Receives Threat Over GI Training Probe

BALTIMORE, May 11—(AP)—J. Nelson Tribby, state adjutant of the American Legion, said today he had received two anonymous telephone calls warning him he might be harmed if the Legion presses for an investigation of GI training.

Harry S. Allen, state commander, announced Saturday the Legion had asked for federal investigation of a private technical school which has been getting tuition fees from the government for training former service men.

The name of the school was not disclosed. The Veterans' Administration announced it also was auditing the books of a GI training institution.

Tribby said he got the first call about Sunday noon and a man's voice "warned me to lay off the VA or I'd regret it."

Tribby asked the caller to identify himself and hung up when he refused.

The second call came last night and Tribby quoted a different voice as saying:

"I'm calling to give you fair warning to lay off the VA or you'll be a sorry man."

Tribby said he thought the calls were made by cranks. Allen wasn't so sure.

Iowa University Editor Wins Award

NEW YORK, May 11 (INS) — R. Bruce Hughes, 22-year-old University of Iowa newspaper editor, received the 1948 Friends of Democracy award at the 12th annual dinner of the organization tonight.

Hughes was cited for his story about racial intolerance in Iowa City, which led to better understanding and feeling there.

Dr. Leon M. Birkhead, national director of the Friends of Democracy, warned in a speech that American Democracy, in 1948, may reach its lowest point of the last two decades.

Earthquakes Kill One, Cause Heavy Damage In Chile, Peru

LIMA, Peru, May 11—(AP)Sharp earthquakes rocked Southern Peru and Northern Chile early today, killing at least one person and injuring an undetermined number. Heavy damage to homes and buildings was reported.

Two heavy earth tremors were reported at Arequipa, (Population about 40,000) about 500 miles south of Lima. The first occurred at 3:55 a. m. (EST) and lasted about 40 seconds, and a second hit at 4:20 a. m. A third quake struck at 7:30 a. m. and raised a dust cloud over the city.

A woman was reported killed in Chihuata village on the slope of the Misti volcano, close to Arequipa.

An estimated 30 per cent of Arequipa's houses were reported damaged. Some adobe homes crumbled under th force of the temblors.

The modern Goyeneche Hospital was cracked and hospital authorities planned to transfer patients and injured to a safe place. Schools were closed as a precautionary measure, and traffic was stopped over the damaged Chile River bridge.

The epicenter of the quake was believed to have been between Arequipa and Moquegua in the Puquna area.

2 Proposals Are Surefire For Md. Special Session

Variety Of Bills Expected To Rise

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 11 (AP)—Two proposals are surefire bets for consideration at the special session of Maryland's General Assembly this month, and old hands say it's just as certain a variety of other measures will be pushed into the legislative hopper.

Governor Lane yesterday called the session for May 25. He said he would recommend a 10 per cent cost-of-living pay raise for most state employes.

A bill to accomplish that is the main reason for a session.

Another included in the administration program would put up an additional $500,000 for state welfare department relief purposes next year.

Already a number of other bills with willing sponsors have been mentioned as fuel for legislative action.

Some could stir up quarrels. Most are non-controversial — proposals which would settle lesser state problems or local questions without having to wait for the next regular session in January.

Sen. L. Harold Sothoron (D-Prince George's), majority floor leader, said he had called a conference next week to weigh a bill which would free the way for more Washington suburban sanitary commission bonds.

Sothoron, who also is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said members of the Prince George's and Montgomery County delegations would attend.

The total value of commission bonds is limited to 14 per cent of the taxable basis of both countries, which it furnishes water and sewage service.

Attorneys for bond houses have decided, Sothoron said, that a $3,000,000 sinking fund and some outstanding water bonds are part of the 14 per cent. The question had not been raised before, he added, but a restriction now would hinder issuance of new bonds.

Here in the home county of the state capital, Sen. Wilbur R. Dulin (D-Anne Arundel) said he will press for two bills.

One would outlaw dog racing in Anne Arundel county, a proposal that provoked a bitter controversy last winter. Proponents said the sport, with betting, could be legalized through a "home rule" license act passed several years ago.

Dulin declared he wanted a bill that specifically banned dog racing with pari-mutuel wagering.

The other bill, which Senate President Joseph R. Byrnes (D-Balto Fifth) said has received considerable backing, would allow fire companies, community associations and church groups to conduct raffles for their own support.

Reports from Salisbury were that the Wicomico County Delegation would seek a measure authorizing a $400,000 school bond issue. Officials in other counties have been talking about similar projects.

Byrnes laid a sheaf of proposals before Governor Lane and the other General Assembly leaders who met here yesterday. He said they had been broached to him or the legislative council by interested persons.

Three Md. Unemployment Security Board Members Face Court Action

Charged With Failing To Carry Out Duties

WINS $18,000 GIFTS — Bedridden by illness for the past five years, Mrs. Elizabeth Finneran, 67, Providence, R. I., won $18,000 worth of gifts by guessing the correct title of a mystery tune played on a radio program.

CENTREVILLE, Md., May 11 (AP)—The three members of the Maryland Employment Security Board were charged today by the Queen Anne's County Grand Jury with unlawfully failing to carry out the duties of their office in connection with unemployment payments.

Charles Wheatley, claims referee of the Chestertown ESB office, was accused of failing to investigate claims for jobless payments.

Circuit Court Judge William Horney signed bench warrants requiring all four defendants to appear in Court at 11 a. m. (E.S.T.) tomorrow.

The charges grew out of a five-day grand jury investigation of payments made to Queen Anne's County oystermen and crab pickers. More than 30 witnesses were interviewed by the jurymen.

The board members are Russell S. Davis, chairman, of Cambridge; Joseph P. McCurdy of Baltimore, and Carl F. Gail of Baltimore.

The jury returned these five specific counts against the three board members:

1—"Failing to investigate the legitimacy of claimants (for jobless benefits) in Queen Anne's County by determining before payments were made whether the claimants were able to work, available for work, and actively seeking work."

2—"As a result of their failure to investigate legitimacy of these claims, improper payments were made."

3—Allowing local office to make disbursements without first determining if claims were legitimate.

4—Allowing Charles Wheatley to use of a practice of "spot checking claimants" instead of checking each person.

5—Failing to investigate the practices of Wheatley which resulted in improper payments.

Three counts were returned against Wheatley:

1—Failing to investigate if claimants were actively seeking work and entitled to benefits;

2—"Failing to properly investigate, he went ahead and made disbursements."

3—Failing to follow up on forms "which he had claimants execute to see whether claimants were actively seeking work."

State's Attorney Edward Turner said he prosecuted successfully 32 cases dealing with fraudulent claims for unemployment compensation during last November's court term.

Since then, he said, he has been "investigating the system," and gave results to the May term grand jury, which then instigated its own investigation.

"We want the responsible parties to know that we do not intend to be frightened away from our intention to see this thing through."

Allen said Saturday the school he had in mind draws about $170,000 a month in veterans' tuition fees and already has received over $400,000 from the government. He charged the school fees were based on a 100-hour course, but some of the veterans got only 30 hours on instruction.

Attorneys for bond houses have decided, Sothoron said, that a $3,000,000 sinking fund and some outstanding water bonds are part of the 14 per cent. The question had not been raised before, he added, but a restriction now would hinder issuance of new bonds.

Here in the home county of the state capital, Sen. Wilbur R. Dulin (D-Anne Arundel) said he will press for two bills.

One would outlaw dog racing in Anne Arundel county, a proposal that provoked a bitter controversy last winter. Proponents said the sport, with betting, could be legalized through a "home rule" license act passed several years ago.

Dulin declared he wanted a bill that specifically banned dog racing with pari-mutuel wagering.

The other bill, which Senate President Joseph R. Byrnes (D-Balto Fifth) said has received considerable backing, would allow fire companies, community associations and church groups to conduct raffles for their own support.

Reports from Salisbury were that the Wicomico County Delegation would seek a measure authorizing a $400,000 school bond issue. Officials in other counties have been talking about similar projects.

Byrnes laid a sheaf of proposals before Governor Lane and the other General Assembly leaders who met here yesterday. He said they had been broached to him or the legislative council by interested persons.

Three Md. Unemployment Security Board Members Face Court Action

WINS $18,000 GIFTS — Bedridden by illness for the past five years, Mrs. Elizabeth Finneran, 67, Providence, R. I., won $18,000 worth of gifts by guessing the correct title of a mystery tune played on a radio program.

Charged With Failing To Carry Out Duties

CENTREVILLE, Md., May 11 (AP)—The three members of the Maryland Employment Security Board were charged today by the Queen Anne's County Grand Jury with unlawfully failing to carry out the duties of their office in connection with unemployment payments.

Charles Wheatley, claims referee of the Chestertown ESB office, was accused of failing to investigate claims for jobless payments.

Circuit Court Judge William Horney signed bench warrants requiring all four defendants to appear in Court at 11 a. m. (E.S.T.) tomorrow.

The charges grew out of a five-day grand jury investigation of payments made to Queen Anne's County oystermen and crab pickers. More than 30 witnesses were interviewed by the jurymen.

The board members are Russell S. Davis, chairman, of Cambridge; Joseph P. McCurdy of Baltimore, and Carl F. Gail of Baltimore.

The jury returned these five specific counts against the three board members:

1—"Failing to investigate the legitimacy of claimants (for jobless benefits) in Queen Anne's County by determining before payments were made whether the claimants were able to work, available for work, and actively seeking work."

2—"As a result of their failure to investigate legitimacy of these claims, improper payments were made."

3—Allowing local office to make disbursements without first determining if claims were legitimate.

4—Allowing Charles Wheatley to use of a practice of "spot checking claimants" instead of checking each person.

5—Failing to investigate the practices of Wheatley which resulted in improper payments.

Three counts were returned against Wheatley:

1—Failing to investigate if claimants were actively seeking work and entitled to benefits;

2—"Failing to properly investigate, he went ahead and made disbursements."

3—Failing to follow up on forms "which he had claimants execute to see whether claimants were actively seeking work."

State's Attorney Edward Turner said he prosecuted successfully 32 cases dealing with fraudulent claims for unemployment compensation during last November's court term.

Since then, he said, he has been "investigating the system," and gave results to the May term grand jury, which then instigated its own investigation.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Divorced Parents Sacrifice Daughter Rather Than Agree On Her Future

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

It is a question whether the family complications that result when parents are divorced are harder on small children or on older ones. While the younger ones may suffer emotionally, it often happens that sons and daughters a little older have actual economic responsibilities added to their emotional burdens, which they never should have imposed on them.

A girl who is a senior in high school writes me of just such a situation.

"This June," she says, "I will be graduated, and it is my desire to go to college as I wish to become a doctor. My mother thinks she was kind to let me finish my high school education. I have worked Saturdays and after school to get money for my board at a state college.

"Last year my parents broke up, and since then we have been low in funds. Recently, my mother told me she refuses to let me go to college. She wants me to go to work, as she has no other children to depend upon and her doctor has advised her against traveling to and from a job, so she has to remain at home. She said I was selfish to want to go to college, and she thinks I am just trying to be better than she is. Since my father left us, I am so confused I don't know what to do."

Now of course there is no use whatever in talking about the selfishness of parents who will sacrifice their own child rather than get together in planning for her future, even though they can compromise on no other point. The father apparently has gone his own way, washing his hands of any responsibility for either his wife or his child. The mother wants to sap her daughter's energy and jeopardized both her health and her happiness so that she herself need make no effort.

Whether or not this mother is actualy ill, or merely indulging in an emotional orgy because of her unhappy marital experience and using this to play on her daughter's sympathy, one could not say without knowing more about the situation. It seems, however, that if she cannot rouse herself in her daughter's behalf to the extent at least of giving the child's future some consideration, someone should make the attempt to rouse her.

If it is actually unwise for the mother to attempt taking a job which would mean travel to and from it every day, why couldn't she take a position as housekeeper in someone's home where she would be able to live in? Surely if she wanted to put her mind on it, and think about her daughter instead of herself, she could find some way of taking care of herself while the girl went on with her education, for which she has worked and saved.

I suggest that the girl go to some teacher in her high school whom she likes and trusts and talk to her confidentially about her problem at home. Somewhere in a large high school there must be someone with sympathetic understanding who would be able to go to this mother and tactfully try to get her to look at things from her daughter's point of view. I hope this girl already knows such a person, and will go to her or him with her story.

Way Paved To Give U. S. Superiority In The Air

A start toward creation of a 70-group Air Force for America has been made. The Senate-House conference committee has agreed on legislation providing $822,000,000,000 to get it going. The Administration did not ask for it. Congress decided it should be provided. If it does the job expected it will be a good investment.

All this has been brought about despite strenuous Administration efforts to persuade Congress to take something less. The vote in the House and Senate were virtually unanimous.

The Senate vote was a considerable surprise. When the House acted, its refusal to be guided by Administration wishes seemed a natural result of the confusion within the Department of Defense. Since then, Secretary Forrestal has managed to get the Joint Chiefs of Staff behind a program that included a 66-group Air Force, to be made up partly of planes now in storage, and attempted to advance arguments for not going beyond this recommendation.

One of these arguments was that a modern 70-Air Force would seriously unbalance the defense establishment. To restore the balance, Secretary Forrestal said, would entail adding $9,000,000,000 to the 1949 defense budget instead of the $3,481,000,000 he requested. That, he said, would place a dangerously inflationary burden on the economy.

Another argument advanced against the 70-group Air Force was that it would be misunderstood abroad. It was contended that air power of such proportions, to be created in four or five years and usable at a time when Russia may be able to build the atomic bomb, would be taken as proof of aggressive intent. It was said also that superiority in the air in the future would not meet the present need and might lead the Russians to strike in Europe now. Congress was not convinced.

The action by Congress dispells any doubts concerning the nation's attitude toward its own defense. The United States is speaking to the Soviet Union in language it understands. Uncle Sam will construct a fleet of 2,727 modern planes, including bombers and jet fighters, and recruit a force of several hundred fliers. This is the only practically superiority for America.

To be sure, it is expensive insurance Uncle Sam is taking out. In voting the 70-group Air Force, Congress did its own thinking. In the circumstances, the American people can only hope that the judgement of Congress will prove sound.

President Truman has a trick necktie which lights up in the dark. But, because good taste dictates a limit beyond which it is not considered cricket to go in politics, the opposition will not use this against him.

Every Worker Gets Raise Without Strike

Paydays, beginning with last week, are memorable. Every employe in the country got a raise in his pay envelope or salary check. Nobody had to strike for it, nor were prices hoisted in order to secure the wherewithal. What happened was that the Federal withholding tax had been eased up by law, and employers were no longer required to deduct the old amount from workers' compensation and turn it over to the Government. There was more take-home pay.

We quote from an official instruction slip: "For example, if you are single with no dependents and earn $2,000 a year, the old tax was $249, the new tax $201. If you earn $3,500, the old tax was $521, the new tax $443." This is because, under the new law, income tax rates are reduced 12.6 per cent on net incomes of $2,000 or less, 7.4 per cent on the balance of incomes up to $136,000, 5 per cent on the balance of incomes above that. Another welcome feature is that personal and dependency exemptions are increased from $500 each to $600 each, while persons 65 years or over get an additional exemption of $600.

By availing of the new tax rates and exemptions, persons of moderate incomes may find themselves at the year's end some hundreds of dollars ahead (President Truman tried to stop these universal benefits with another veto, Heavens knows why). We advise readers: (1) to use the surplus money to discharge their debts: (2) to buy Government bonds, and (3) to salute the memory of Calvin Coolidge, who said that the only act of Government which helped everybody and hurt nobody was to reduce taxes.

A survey discloses it is difficult to find tenants in New York City for the thirteenth floor of a building, in addition to the other eccentricities of the metropolis.

Counting The Graves

The tidings from Swift Run Gap, in the Blue Ridge Mountains, leave us groggy but fascinated. A spearhead of Alcoholics Anonymous has penetrated those remote and rugged parts in line of duty. The mountaineers have been shown the horrible results of drinking their own whisky.

By tradition U. S. Internal Revenue agents going up into those regions have been bold men. In days gone by tax collectors were favorite targets of the highland distillers. Sometimes these mountain men were known to miss.

Perhaps they would give a "revenuer" a sporting chance at, say, 300 yards. But for any stranger to criticize the quality of the product would have been to court death at point-blank range.

Members of the AA scouting party were smart enough, and careful enough, to talk with the women. They went to graveyards and counted the graves of those who had died natural (if premature) deaths from drinking the "mountain dew." Before long "96 per cent" of the women were supporters of Alcoholics Anonymous

There was nothing the mountain men could do. The AA left as it had come—safely. Had unfair advantage been taken of a proud race of people? Perhaps, but in future there may be fewer deaths in the Blue Ridge from drinking stuff sold without benefit of age or revenue stamps.

The graves—and the women—carried on authority even more powerful than the white liquid.

Secretary Forrestal has announced the government will keep permanently 309 wartime plants, possibly 400. Perhaps Uncle Sam is going into this business permanently.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

A Remedy For Allergy

We are hearing a great deal about the antihistaminic drugs and many persons are wondering what they are. Benadryl and pyribanzamine are among the oldest and, during the past few years, theophorin, thenylene, neo-antergen, antistine, and others have been introduced. They are utilized primarily in allergies, with varying degrees of success.

Dr. Van Dellen The term "antihistaminic" obviously refers to something that works against histamine. In order to appreciate the action of the antagonistic substances, therefore, some knowledge of the basic cause of allergy is necessary. It is generally believed that when a senitive persons inhales, touches, or swallows an irritant, a reaction takes place within certain cells of the body, liberating histamine.

It is this chemical that does all the damage. By contracting the muscles of the bronchial tubes, for example, asthmas is induced. The effect of histamine on the skin and mucous membranes of the nose is slightly different; the capillaries dilate and become more porous. As a result, an irritating fluid escapes into the tissues, leading to swelling and itching. The best skin illustration is hives. Hay fever follows involvement of the nose, where a tickling sensation is first noticed followed by sneezing, obstruction, and a profuse watery discharge. Other forms of allergy include serum and drug reactions, migraine, and several types of dermatitis.

The efficacy of the antihistaminics will depend upon how well they can neutralize the histamine produced by the body. The majority are prepared in tablets or capsules and are usually taken several times daily. Preparations for hypodermic injection are also available and eye drops containing antistine are being used in conjunctivitis, especially when it is on an allergic basis.

From 50 to 75 per cent of all hay fever sufferers are relieved through this form of therapy. With hives, swelling or itching or both decrease miraculously in 80 per cent. The remedies are likewise valuable in itching skin lesions such as poison ivy, eczema, and irritation about the anus. The results have been somewhat disappointing in bronchial asthma but the substances are worthy of trial because at least one-third of the victims could be helped.

More than half of those with perlodic nasal congestion due to vasomotor or allergic rhinitis are benefited. Drug and serum reactions often respond including cases of penicillin and streptomycin sensitivity. The antihistaminics have proved useful in migraine, 25 to 35 per cent of the sufferers obtaining relief. In the treatment of colds, the products are reported to be of value and, when used early, may abort the condition entirely.

Not every one can tolerate the compounds as drowsiness, dizziness, palpitation, or nervousness may appear. But the drug need not be discontinued on this account unless the side-effects are severe. However, those who are bothered, especially with sleepiness, should never undertake activities requiring close attention and alertness such as driving an auto or working on a machine that might endanger the life of others.

Goiter

G.E. writes: What is a nontoxic goiter?

REPLY

In this state, the gland is enlarged but since it is not producing an overabundance of its secretion, there are no toxic effects on the body.

Unlikely

Mrs. M. writes: Could leg cramps at night be the result of an attack of phlebitis several years back?

REPLY

This is possible but unlikely because muscular cramps are quite common in individuals who have never had phlebitis. Poor circulation, strain, and anemia are better possibilities.

Ear Wings

S.B. writes: Is it foolish to have plastic surgery done on my boy's ears? They flap in the wind.

REPLY

An operation of this type is advised only if the amount of disability is worth the risk incurred by surgery. If the ears are so unsightly thaehttspy ilo,wetaoinetaoi sightly that they spoil the youngser's appearance and will influence his personality in later life, consult a plastic surgeon.

Out here in Hollywood Jack Benny is very busy spring cleaning. He's rinsing all his money in soap suds.

In Washington, the Pentagon Building had its annual spring cleaning and caused a sensation. A major and two colonels left over from the Civil War were found.

Of course, President Truman doesn't bother with spring cleaning . . . He just vetoes the months.

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 11 — Arab leaders have been meeting secretly to plan for the invasion of Palestine, and some of them are not too happy. They don't particularly trust King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan, the central figure of the proposed invasion.

King Farouk of Egypt, Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, and the Syrian government fear Abdullah will promote for himself and then quit. These fears were increased by a recent secret meeting at Amman between Abdullah and his nephew, Prince Abdul-Ilah, the regent of Iraq. Arab leaders have also got wind of a secret British understanding with Abdullah, giving Trans-Jordan a permanent corridor to the Mediterranean, in the vicinity of Gaza.

Final agreement on Arab invasion plans was reached at a secret meeting at Serka, Trans-Jordan, on April 23, attended by representatives of all the Arab states and the Arab higher committee, including the Mufti. The main points of the agreement were:

The invasion army to be known as the "Arab League Palestine Army of Liberation." It will comprise the Arab Legion, supplemented by contingents from the regular forces of Egypt, Iraq, Syria, Lebanon, and Saudi Arabia. The contingent from each country will number between 2,000 a nd 3,500 men. In addition, Egypt and Iraq agreed to supply air force units.

Abdullah was appointed supreme commander, with a general from each Arab state and two Palestine Arab commanders under him. General Ismail Safurt, British-trained commander-in-chief of the volunteer "Liberation Army," and Fawzi Al Kawkji, present field commander of Arab forces are to be absorbed in the new headquarters at Jericho. Abdullah and the Mufti have already moved to Jericho. The Mufti's assignment is to watch Abdullah.

Arab states agreed at the secret meeting to finance the operation in proportion to their national resources, not in proportion to their contingents. Egypt is to bear the largest share; Irag, which gets most of its money from England, is next.

D-Day was set for May 16, on which day a Palestine Arab provisional government is to be proclaimed and recognized by the Arab governments.

One significant statement at the meeting was made by the Grand Mufti, who interpreted the State Department's and United Nations' failure to become alarmed at previous Arab aggression as a guarantee they would not become excited over the invasion.

If the United States or the United Nations stiffened its attitude, however, it was agreed that Arab strategy might have to be changed.

Note—Since then, Arab leaders are reported worried over the Jews' ability to defend themselves. This may affect their ardor for invasion.

No 49th State

The Hawaiian statehood bill, which passed the House by a big majority, was secretly scuttled 7 to 5 by the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs committee. Republican Sen. Guy Cordon of Oregon and Democratic Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney of Wyoming led the fight for making Hawaii the 49th state, but were overridden behind closed doors by Senators Hugh Butler of Nebraska, the committee chairman, Eugene Millikin of Colorado, and other Republicans.

However, here is the pay-off. After voting down the Statehood bill, the same senators decided on another congressional junket to Hawaii—the 14th in the last five years—this time to investigate alleged communism in the islands.

Butler and GOP colleagues apparently were more interested in getting a vacation on the sands of Waikiki at the expense of taxpayers than in granting Hawaii's rightful claim to statehood.

Note—One unfortunate aftermath of the Senate action is that Hawaii's able delegate to Congress, Joseph Farington, who was chiefly responsible for piloting the statehood measure through the House, faces defeat in the next election because his own political party knifed the bill in the Senate. Farrington is a Republican.

Backstage With The RR Strike

When Presidential Assistant John Steelman first sat down with railroad brotherhood chiefs, he suspected they had played their cards so as to get White House intervention, hoping President Truman would wangle further wage concessions.

He warned, therefore, that Truman was getting "fed up" with unions and employers running to the White House to settle disputes.

"The President is as anxious as I am to protect the interests of railroad employes, but we can't go beyond the Leiserson fact-finding report," Steelman said.

He added that he would not attempt to negotiate for a pay increase above the 15½ cents an hour approved by the Leiserson report and accepted by 90 per cent of organized railroad employes. This left working rules—pay computation, operating methods, and other factors involving added earnings—as the only things to be discussed.

Government Would Delay Boost

"If we fail, there's only one answer—government seizure," Steelman warned. Then looking squarely at Alvanley Johnston, a principal in the 1946 strike, when the roads were seized, he added:

"You've been through this before and none of you has anything to gain by that step."

One disadvantage to striking unions, would be the holdup of the retroactive pay increase of 15½ cents an hour, that the other brotherhoods which accepted the increase have been receiving since last November 1.

"Te government wlil operate on existing pay scales if the roads are seized," said Steelman, "just as it did during the seizure in late 1943. We can't do otherwise. Therefore, your members would have to wait until the roads are turned back to private carriers for back pay—and no one can tell how long that would be."

However, David Robertson, of the firemen and enginemen, and his colleagues evidenced no desire to talk about "working rules." They wanted an increase above the 15½ cents an hour. This, they said, was warranted by higher living costs.

When Steelman first talked to W. T. Faricy, president of the Association of American Railroads and chief spokesman for the carriers, Faricy explained:

"We have tried to cooperate, even though we didn't like the pay increase of 15½ cents. But we won't go any higher. We can't afford to upset the settlemen on that basis with 90 percent of railroad employes who want to continue working, for the sake of 10 per cent who want to strike.

"If that means a strike and government seizure—well, it won't be our fault."

Tydings Given Accurate But Ambiguous Reply By Truman

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 11 — The American people are entitled to know all of the truth about the efforts of Russia to reach an understanding with the United States. The denials from the White House issued through Senator Tydings over the week end do not present all of the truth. There was such an effort on the initiative of a high Russian official and the facts are well known in the Department of State and among certain committees on Capitol Hill.

The Maryland Senator made a radio speech over the week end saying he has asked President Truman about reports that Russia suggested a conference between Stalin and the President just prior to the Czechoslovak crisis and that the President answered with a categorical "no." Mr. Tydings continued:

"The President said there was absolutely not one iota of truth in the report. He said that neither Mr. Stalin nor anyone else representing Russia had made any suggestion to him or to the American government."

Accurate But Ambiguous Reply

Technically speaking, the President gave Senator Tydings an accurate though ambiguous answer. It is true the approach wasn't made to Mr. Truman and because it was unofficial and informal it might also be argued that according to diplomatic forms the approach was not made "to the American government."

Mr.Tydings went on to say in his speech that "many of us have heard this manufactured rumor about Russia wanting to meet with the President to work out a solution of European and world problems. We have heard it said that Mr. Truman would not confer with Russia. This is a sample of the propaganda that unfortunately confuses our well-meaning people."

But what are the facts?

Late in January of this year Robert Murphy, who occupies the high post of political adviser to General Clay, commander-in-chief of American forces in Germany, received at his home in Berlin a Russian official who serves in the opposite post as the top political adviser to the Russian commander-in-chief in Berlin.

The Russian official arrived between eight and nine o'clock and stayed until two in the morning. The initiative was entirely that of the Russian official. All manner of subjects relating to outstanding issues between the two countries were canvassed. During the evening, the Russian official suggested that President Truman and Marshal Stalin meet in Moscow. Mr. Murphy replied that Mr. Truman had expressed himself often as opposed to a trip to Moscow and would glady meet Stalin in Washington, whereupon the Russian official stated that this could not be arranged but suggested a third meeting place, namely Stockholm.

At the time of the conference, the Russian official hinted at certain steps that would be forthcoming unless an understanding could be reached. It is believed he was referring to steps subsequently taken in Czechoslovagia and Finland. It was hinted that further exploration of the issues might make unnecessary such steps as were being contemplated but which were not mentioned.

At the time of the meeting at Mr. Murphy's house, the Marshall Plan was very much in the public eye. It is conceivable that the President and Secretary Marshall felt that to engage in a conference might be misunderstood as a weakening of American policy or as a willingness to make concessions that could not be made. Whatever the reasons for American rejection of Russia's initiative, the fact is that the incident happened and was not just manufactured by "well-meaning" persons.

Murphy Punished for Views

Mr. Murphy is an experienced diplomat of the American foreign service and he made a complete report on the affair and supplemented it with oral conversations at the Department of State shortly afterward when he came to Washington. It is believed that Mr. Murphy's report was not relished and there is a rumor that he was punished for his fervor in recommending that the matter be pursued. He was not permitted subsequently to take the top level role that he deserved at a London conference on the economic planning for Germany's three zones.

At a time when the American people are being asked to submit to another draft law, it falls with ill grace for the administration to suppress the facts about what seems to have been a Russian effort to reach an understanding with the United States. Certainly the Tydings-Truman conversation constitutes a technical denial. The whole truth should be revealed even if the administration for good reasons of its own decided not to accept the Russian offer or chose for the sake of expediency to regard it as "without significance," or as likely to prove futile anyway. Evasion begets ditsrust. Candor begets confidence."

U. S. Abandoned Principle In Interfering In Italy Election

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Our rejoicing over the result of the Italian election has blinded us to the fact that the Administration has abandoned one of the most settled principles of American foreign policy—that we would never interfere in the internal affairs of another nation. I do not refer to personal letters from Italian-Americans to relatives in the old country. I refer to the official action of the United States government.

A precedent has now been established, the end of which no man can see. Are we, from now on, going to enter political campaigns all over the world?

We had battleships off the Italian coast; we said we would send no food to Italy if the party we favored was defeated. It is estimated that we spent $4,000,000 in direct political propaganda.

President after President has stated time and again that we would not thus interfere. I quote President Roosevelt: "Single-handed intervention by use in the internal affairs of other nations must end."

Treaty Signed by U. S.

I quote from a treaty which the United States signed: "The High Contracting Parties declare inadmissible the intervention of any one of them, directly or indirectly, and for whatever reason, in the internal or external affairs of any other of the Parties." This doctrine was a firm plank in Mr. Roosevelt's "Good Neighbor" policy in Latin America, which had come to hate the North American "gringo" by reason of our repeated interventions, with marines and warships, in Mexico, Nicaragua, etc.

President Truman, who thinks things through as little as any man who ever occupied the White House, has moved into dangerous waters.

If the Italian government were to attempt to influence an American election by the same methods we used there, would we tolerate it?

President Cleveland dismissed the British Ambassador because the latter said he hoped Mr. Cleveland would be re-elected!

No, we would not tolerate another government spending money and promising either hunger or plenty to win an American political campaign. The thing then becomes nothing but expediency and power politics, divorced from all law, settled policy, or international comity.

England, France, Switzerland took no part in this intervention in the internal affairs of the Italian people. Nor did the United Nations. We claimed the honor alone.

Communism Abroad and Here

Mr. Truman, officially, and with taxpayers' money, entered a political campaign abroad to defeat the Communist party, while in the United States the Communist party has a legal right to participate in American elections!

No one knew how the election would come out until the votes were counted. But the majority against the Italian Communists was so great that it seems that there would have been no substantial change in the result if we had kept officially out of it.

Russia, of course entered the campaign and it will be said that this justified our abandonment of a settled policy. On the other hand, have we not given moral justification to Russia, or any other nation, to intervene in American elections?

We have entered upon uncharted seas. President Truman has announced that he proposes to enter political campaigns everywhere when some party which he does not approve has a ticket in the field. He proposes to do so alone, without the cooperation or approval of other countries; without the United Nations.

However good this may look in our eyes, how will it look to millions all over the world? It will look like American Imperiaism.

The Old Racket

EVERYBODY GETS the Year Book appeal. It starts at High School and runs through life. It starts with a $5.00 quarter page for the local ice-cream emporium (nowadays maybe a fancy drugstore) and it ends in a "contribution."

Publishers, particularly those who have been facing the strikes called by the I. T. U., many of whom have had to go to the expense of putting in varitype installations, were intrigued to receive an appeal from the Milwaukee Typographical Union, inviting them to advertise in the 1948 Yearbook of the I.T.U. The appeal reads:

"The I. T. U. members you know and those you may be trying to interest, will inspect this book thoroughly and, you may be sure, your advertisement either will be given favorable comment, or its absence will be noted.

"You cinch that favorable comment with an advertisement in the book, — the more colorful or larger, the more favorable will be that comment.

"That you may maintain your fine relations wtih the people in the I.T.U. — here is the the rate card and advertising order blank. Help us to meet the deadline by having your copy in by June 20."

The prices for maintaining fine relations is cheap, $250 for a full page. If those, like the Chicago publishers who have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars fighting an I.T.U. strike, could do it for $250, they would be willing to settle for twice the price. In fact, in the 1947 year book, the "Chicago Tribune" took the inside cover in colors ,but that did not prevent the I.T.U. from striking that newspaper.

In fact, in that very issue, Woodruff Randolph, the Czar of the I.T.U., under whose management one of the oldest and best labor unions in America is fast becoming so universal a pain in the neck that newspapers are finding mechanical substitutes for the linotype, announces that "Fascism Invades Congress of United States" and quotes none other than the American Labor Party Congressman from Harlem, Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., to that effect.

In the 1947 issue, Louis Seltzer, editor of the "Cleveland Press," greeting the convention which was held in Cleveland, writes:

"Your craft stands high in the counsels of organized labor, for your union is a fair-minded and responsible organization, devoting its energies and its vigor, entirely to advancement and welfare.

"It is characteristic of the high traditions of your craft that your union, perhaps to a greater degree than other labor organization, has always recognized the interdependence that exists between its members and the publishers for whom they work."

Well, that is a mouthful, considering that Gauleiter Randolph has only a week ago set aside his own local union in New York after it had offered terms of settlement which the publishers found acceptable.

He not only set aside these terms, but demanded that the local publishers trade with him privately, with not a single representative of the local union present. This "interdependence" that Mr. Seltzer talks about has been evident now-here. What Mr. Randolph is fighting for is not the improvement of the terms of work of his union members, but the evasion of the Taft-Hartley Law.

His object is to force the publishers to enter a conspiracy with his union to evade the law, to get around it to find loopholes in it. Some publishers have been forced by economic and local conditions, to meet his demands; others have resorted to technological improvements to avoid not publishing during this uncalled for and illegal strike.

As a metter of fact, I think that some of the Chicago news papers look better in the new type than in the old. That is a matter of taste and opinion, but what is a fact is that the Chicago newspapers have proved beyond peradventure that they no longer need the costly and heavy linotype machines, that they can employ girls on the job.

As has happened so often, an unjust labor leader has forced technological improvements which lessen the authority of his union and throw its members out of work. If any editors hand $250 to this year book committee for improved relations, they deserve what happens to them.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

To Be Appreciated

Most of us would far more desire to be appreciated than to be merely popular. Popularity is a fickle affair. Popular today—but forgotten tomorrow. But sincere appreciation of one lives on and on.

The writers of popular fiction live briefly, but those who write to inspire and uplift, live on in others, endlessly. Writers like Stevenson, Dickens, Hugo, Cervantes, W. H. Hudson, Charles Lamb, Thoreau, and endless others, you can read and re-read, for they are appreciated for what they knew about life and nature. They tell us about ourselves and help us to appraise life to a better advantage.

We ourselves are appreciated only as we deserve to be. If we praise others, see the best in them, and try to uplift and inspire them, we in turn will be uplifted and inspired. We can always be assured of appreciation if we seek to give more than we take. We owe to the world far more than the world owes to us.

What a blessing to all concerned is the one who lives cheerfully! The "Happy Warrior," as it were. The non-complainer, the hopeful traveler, the one who sees something good all about him. He is the welcomed man, or woman, no matter where he resides, and no matter what his job or avocation.

That dumb dog of yours—how he appreciates the knowledge that you love him, that you trust him, and want him near to you. But how much more that friend of yours appreciates your understanding, your faith and confidence, and your encouragement. But why is it that we do not give out more appreciation to those we love while yet they live?

People work far better, and happier, when their work is appreciated than when it is not. Praise is the easiest possible pay, costing nothing to give. We work far more for appreciation than we ever do for mere money. The late William (Billy) Muldoon, athletic trainer, once said it was surprising how the body responded just to a little kindness!

To be appreciated, love, give—serve in some useful manner. How a cheerful, courageous front floods a glow of light wherever human contact is made!

Way Paved To Give U. S. Superiority In The Air

A start toward creation of a 70-group Air Force for America has been made. The Senate-House conference committee has agreed on legislation providing $822,000,000,000 to get it going. The Administration did not ask for it. Congress decided it should be provided. If it does the job expected it will be a good investment.

All this has been brought about despite strenuous Administration efforts to persuade Congress to take something less. The vote in the House and Senate were virtually unanimous.

The Senate vote was a considerable surprise. When the House acted, its refusal to be guided by Administration wishes seemed a natural result of the confusion within the Department of Defense. Since then, Secretary Forrestal has managed to get the Joint Chiefs of Staff behind a program that included a 66-group Air Force, to be made up partly of planes now in storage, and attempted to advance arguments for not going beyond this recommendation.

One of these arguments was that a modern 70-Air Force would seriously unbalance the defense establishment. To restore the balance, Secretary Forrestal said, would entail adding $9,000,000,000 to the 1949 defense budget instead of the $3,481,000,000 he requested. That, he said, would place a dangerously inflationary burden on the economy.

Another argument advanced against the 70-group Air Force was that it would be misunderstood abroad. It was contended that air power of such proportions, to be created in four or five years and usable at a time when Russia may be able to build the atomic bomb, would be taken as proof of aggressive intent. It was said also that superiority in the air in the future would not meet the present need and might lead the Russians to strike in Europe now. Congress was not convinced.

The action by Congress dispells any doubts concerning the nation's attitude toward its own defense. The United States is speaking to the Soviet Union in language it understands. Uncle Sam will construct a fleet of 2,727 modern planes, including bombers and jet fighters, and recruit a force of several hundred fliers. This is the only practically superiority for America.

To be sure, it is expensive insurance Uncle Sam is taking out. In voting the 70-group Air Force, Congress did its own thinking. In the circumstances, the American people can only hope that the judgement of Congress will prove sound.

President Truman has a trick necktie which lights up in the dark. But, because good taste dictates a limit beyond which it is not considered cricket to go in politics, the opposition will not use this against him.

Every Worker Gets Raise Without Strike

Paydays, beginning with last week, are memorable. Every employe in the country got a raise in his pay envelope or salary check. Nobody had to strike for it, nor were prices hoisted in order to secure the wherewithal. What happened was that the Federal withholding tax had been eased up by law, and employers were no longer required to deduct the old amount from workers' compensation and turn it over to the Government. There was more take-home pay.

We quote from an official instruction slip: "For example, if you are single with no dependents and earn $2,000 a year, the old tax was $249, the new tax $201. If you earn $3,500, the old tax was $521, the new tax $443." This is because, under the new law, income tax rates are reduced 12.6 per cent on net incomes of $2,000 or less, 7.4 per cent on the balance of incomes up to $136,000, 5 per cent on the balance of incomes above that. Another welcome feature is that personal and dependency exemptions are increased from $500 each to $600 each, while persons 65 years or over get an additional exemption of $600.

By availing of the new tax rates and exemptions, persons of moderate incomes may find themselves at the year's end some hundreds of dollars ahead (President Truman tried to stop these universal benefits with another veto. Heavens knows why). We advise readers: (1) to use the surplus money to discharge their debts: (2) to buy Government bonds, and (3) to salute the memory of Calvin Coolidge, who said that the only act of Government which helped everybody and hurt nobody was to reduce taxes.

A survey discloses it is difficult to find tenants in New York City for the thirteenth floor of a building, in addition to the other eccentricities of the metropolis.

Counting The Graves

The tidings from Swift Run Gap, in the Blue Ridge Mountains, leave us groggy but fascinated. A spearhead of Alcoholics Anonymous has penetrated those remote and rugged parts in line of duty. The mountaineers have been shown the horrible results of drinking their own whisky.

By tradition U. S. Internal Revenue agents going up into those regions have been bold men. In days gone by tax collectors were favorite targets of the highland distillers. Sometimes these mountain men were known to miss.

Perhaps they would give a "revenuer" a sporting chance at, say, 300 yards. But for any stranger to criticize the quality of the product would have been to court death at point-blank range.

Members of the AA scouting party were smart enough, and careful enough, to talk with the women. They went to graveyards and counted the graves of those who had died natural (if premature) deaths from drinking the "mountain dew." Before long "96 per cent" of the women were supporters of Alcoholics Anonymous.

There was nothing the mountain men could do. The AA left as it had come—safely. Had unfair advantage been taken of a proud race of people? Perhaps, but in future there may be fewer deaths in the Blue Ridge from drinking stuff sold without benefit of age or revenue stamps.

The graves—and the women—carried on authority even more powerful than the white liquid.

Secretary Forrestal has announced the government will keep permanently 309 wartime plants, possibly 400. Perhaps Uncle Sam is going into this business permanently.

A Remedy For Allergy

We are hearing a great deal about the antihistaminic drugs and many persons are wondering what they are. Benadryl and pyribanzamine are among the oldest and, during the past few years, theophorin, thenylene, neo-antergen, antistine, and others have been introduced. They are utilized primarily in allergies, with varying degrees of success.

Dr. Van Dellen

The term "antihistaminic" obviously refers to something that works against histamine. In order to appreciate the action of the antagonistic substances, therefore, some knowledge of the basic cause of allergy is necessary. It is generally believed that when a senitive persons inhales, touches, or swallows an irritant, a reaction takes place within certain cells of the body, liberating histamine.

It is this chemical that does all the damage. By contracting the muscles of the bronchial tubes, for example, asthmas is induced. The effect of histamine on the skin and mucous membranes of the nose is slightly different; the capillaries dilate and become more porous. As a result, an irritating fluid escapes into the tissues, leading to swelling and itching. The best skin illustration is hives. Hay fever follows involvement of the nose, where a tickling sensation is first noticed followed by sneezing, obstruction, and a profuse watery discharge. Other forms of allergy include serum and drug reactions, migraine, and several types of dermatitis.

The efficacy of the antihistaminics will depend upon how well they can neutralize the histamine produced by the body. The majority are prepared in tablets or capsules and are usually taken several times daily. Preparations for hypodermic injection are also available and eye drops containing antistine are being used in conjunctivitis, especially when it is on an allergic basis.

From 50 to 75 per cent of all hay fever sufferers are relieved through this form of therapy. With hives, swelling or itching or both decrease miraculously in 80 per cent. The remedies are likewise valuable in itching skin lesions such as poison ivy, eczema, and irritation about the anus. The results have been somewhat disappointing in bronchial asthma but the substances are worthy of trial because at least one-third of the victims could be helped.

More than half of those with perlodic nasal congestion due to vasomotor or allergic rhinitis are benefited. Drug and serum reactions often respond including cases of penicillin and streptomycin sensitivity. The antihistaminics have proved useful in migraine, 25 to 35 per cent of the sufferers obtaining relief. In the treatment of colds, the products are reported to be of value and, when used early, may abort the condition entirely.

Not every one can tolerate the compounds as drowsiness, dizziness, palpitation, or nervousness may appear. But the drug need not be discontinued on this account unless the side-effects are severe. However, those who are bothered, especially with sleepiness, should never undertake activities requiring close attention and alertness such as driving an auto or working on a machine that might endanger the life of others.

Arabs Plan Palestine Invasion With Wary Eye On King Abdullah; Mufti Anticipates No Protest From U.S. or U.N.; Hawaiian Statehood Killed

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 11 — Arab leaders have been meeting secretly to plan for the invasion of Palestine, and some of them are not too happy. They don't particularly trust King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan, the central figure of the proposed invasion.

King Farouk of Egypt, Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, and the Syrian government fear Abdullah will promote for himself and then quit. These fears were increased by a recent secret meeting at Amman between Abdullah and his nephew, Prince Abdul-Ilah, the regent of Iraq. Arab leaders have also got wind of a secret British understanding with Abdullah, giving Trans-Jordan a permanent corridor to the Mediterranean, in the vicinity of Gaza.

Final agreement on Arab invasion plans was reached at a secret meeting at Serka, Trans-Jordan, on April 23, attended by representatives of all the Arab states and the Arab higher committee, including the Mufti. The main points of the agreement were:

The invasion army to be known as the "Arab League Palestine Army of Liberation." It will comprise the Arab Legion, supplemented by contingents from the regular forces of Egypt, Iraq, Syria, Lebanon, and Saudi Arabia. The contingent from each country will number between 2,000 a nd 3,500 men. In addition, Egypt and Iraq agreed to supply air force units.

Abdullah was appointed supreme commander, with a general from each Arab state and two Palestine Arab commanders under him. General Ismail Safurt, British-trained commander-in-chief of the volunteer "Liberation Army," and Fawzi Al Kawkji, present field commander of Arab forces are to be absorbed in the new headquarters at Jericho. Abdullah and the Mufti have already moved to Jericho. The Mufti's assignment is to watch Abdullah.

Arab states agreed at the secret meeting to finance the operation in proportion to their national resources, not in proportion to their contingents. Egypt is to bear the largest share; Irag, which gets most of its money from England, is next.

D-Day was set for May 16, on which day a Palestine Arab provisional government is to be proclaimed and recognized by the Arab governments.

One significant statement at the meeting was made by the Grand Mufti, who interpreted the State Department's and United Nations' failure to become alarmed at previous Arab aggression as a guarantee they would not become excited over the invasion.

If the United States or the United Nations stiffened its attitude, however, it was agreed that Arab strategy might have to be changed.

Note—Since then, Arab leaders are reported worried over the Jews' ability to defend themselves. This may affect their ardor for invasion.

No 49th State

The Hawaiian statehood bill, which passed the House by a big majority, was secretly scuttled 7 to 5 by the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs committee. Republican Sen. Guy Cordon of Oregon and Democratic Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney of Wyoming led the fight for making Hawaii the 49th state, but were overridden behind closed doors by Senators Hugh Butler of Nebraska, the committee chairman, Eugene Millikin of Colorado, and other Republicans.

However, here is the pay-off. After voting down the Statehood bill, the same senators decided on another congressional junket to Hawaii—the 14th in the last five years—this time to investigate alleged communism in the islands.

Butler and GOP colleagues apparently were more interested in getting a vacation on the sands of Waikiki at the expense of taxpayers than in granting Hawaii's rightful claim to statehood.

Note—One unfortunate aftermath of the Senate action is that Hawaii's able delegate to Congress, Joseph Farington, who was chiefly responsible for piloting the statehood measure through the House, faces defeat in the next election because his own political party knifed the bill in the Senate. Farrington is a Republican.

Backstage With The RR Strike

When Presidential Assistant John Steelman first sat down with railroad brotherhood chiefs, he suspected they had played their cards so as to get White House intervention, hoping President Truman would wangle further wage concessions.

He warned, therefore, that Truman was getting "fed up" with unions and employers running to the White House to settle disputes.

"The President is as anxious as I am to protect the interests of railroad employes, but we can't go beyond the Leiserson fact-finding report," Steelman said.

He added that he would not attempt to negotiate for a pay increase above the 15½ cents an hour approved by the Leiserson report and accepted by 90 per cent of organized railroad employes. This left working rules—pay computation, operating methods, and other factors involving added earnings—as the only things to be discussed.

Government Would Delay Boost

"If we fail, there's only one answer—government seizure," Steelman warned. Then looking squarely at Alvanley Johnston, a principal in the 1946 strike, when the roads were seized, he added:

"You've been through this before and none of you has anything to gain by that step."

One disadvantage to striking unions would be the holdup of the retroactive pay increase of 15½ cents an hour, that the other brotherhoods which accepted the increase have been receiving since last November 1.

"Te government will operate on existing pay scales if the roads are seized," said Steelman, "just as it did during the seizure in late 1943. We can't do otherwise. Therefore, your members would have to wait until the roads are turned back to private carriers for back pay——and no one can tell how long that would be."

However, David Robertson, of the firemen and enginemen, and his colleagues evidenced no desire to talk about "working rules." They wanted an increase above the 15½ cents an hour. This, they said, was warranted by higher living costs.

When Steelman first talked to W. T. Faricy, president of the Association of American Railroads and chief spokesman for the carriers, Faricy explained:

"We have tried to cooperate, even though we didn't like the pay increase of 15½ cents. But we won't go any higher. We can't afford to upset the settlemen on that basis with 90 percent of railroad employes who want to continue working, for the sake of 10 per cent who want to strike.

"If that means a strike and government seizure—well, it won't be our fault."

Tydings Given Accurate But Ambiguous Reply By Truman

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 11 — The American people are entitled to know all of the truth about the efforts of Russia to reach an understanding with the United States. The denials from the White House issued through Senator Tydings over the week end do not present all of the truth. There was such an effort on the initiative of a high Russian official and the facts are well known in the Department of State and among certain committees on Capitol Hill.

The Maryland Senator made a radio speech over the week end saying he has asked President Truman about reports that Russia suggested a conference between Stalin and the President just prior to the Czechoslovak crisis and that the President answered with a categorical "no." Mr. Tydings continued:

"The President said there was absolutely not one iota of truth in the report. He said that neither Mr. Stalin nor anyone else representing Russia had made any suggestion to him or to the American government."

Accurate But Ambiguous Reply

Technically speaking, the President gave Senator Tydings an accurate though ambiguous answer. It is true the approach wasn't made to Mr. Truman and because it was unofficial and informal it might also be argued that according to diplomatic forms the approach was not made "to the American government."

Mr.Tydings went on to say in his speech that "many of us have heard this manufactured rumor about Russia wanting to meet with the President to work out a solution of European and world problems. We have heard it said that Mr. Truman would not confer with Russia. This is a sample of the propaganda that unfortunately confuses our well-meaning people."

But what are the facts?

Late in January of this year Robert Murphy, who occupies the high post of political adviser to General Clay, commander-in-chief of American forces in Germany, received at his home in Berlin a Russian official who serves in the opposite post as the top political adviser to the Russian commander-in-chief in Berlin.

The Russian official arrived between eight and nine o'clock and stayed until two in the morning. The initiative was entirely that of the Russian official. All manner of subjects relating to outstanding issues between the two countries were canvassed. During the evening, the Russian official suggested that President Truman and Marshal Stalin meet in Moscow. Mr. Murphy replied that Mr. Truman had expressed himself often as opposed to a trip to Moscow and would glady meet Stalin in Washington, whereupon the Russian official stated that this could not be arranged but suggested a third meeting place, namely Stockholm.

At the time of the conference, the Russian official hinted at certain steps that would be forthcoming unless an understanding could be reached. It is believed he was referring to steps subsequently taken in Czechoslovagia and Finland. It was hinted that further exploration of the issues might make unnecessary such steps as were being contemplated but which were not mentioned.

At the time of the meeting at Mr. Murphy's house, the Marshall Plan was very much in the public eye. It is conceivable that the President and Secretary Marshall felt that to engage in a conference might be misunderstood as a weakening of American policy or as a willingness to make concessions that could not be made. Whatever the reasons for American rejection of Russia's initiative, the fact is that the incident happened and was not just manufactured by "well-meaning" persons.

Murphy Punished for Views

Mr. Murphy is an experienced diplomat of the American foreign service and he made a complete report on the affair and supplemented it with oral conversations at the Department of State shortly afterward when he came to Washington. It is believed that Mr. Murphy's report was not relished and there is a rumor that he was punished for his fervor in recommending that the matter be pursued. He was not permitted subsequently to take the top level role that he deserved at a London conference on the economic planning for Germany's three zones.

At a time when the American people are being asked to submit to another draft law, it falls with ill grace for the administration to suppress the facts about what seems to have been a Russian effort to reach an understanding with the United States. Certainly the Tydings-Truman conversation constitutes a technical denial. The whole truth should be revealed even if the administration for good reasons of its own decided not to accept the Russian offer or chose for the sake of expediency to regard it as "without significance," or as likely to prove futile anyway. Evasion begets ditsrust. Candor begets confidence."

U. S. Abandoned Principle In Interfering In Italy Election

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Our rejoicing over the result of the Italian election has blinded us to the fact that the Administration has abandoned one of the most settled principles of American foreign policy—that we would never interfere in the internal affairs of another nation. I do not refer to personal letters from Italian-Americans to relatives in the old country. I refer to the official action of the United States government.

A precedent has now been established, the end of which no man can see. Are we, from now on, going to enter political campaigns all over the world?

We had battleships off the Italian coast; we said we would send no food to Italy if the party we favored was defeated. It is estimated that we spent $4,000,000 in direct political propaganda.

President after President has stated time and again that we would not thus interfere. I quote President Roosevelt: "Single-handed intervention by use in the internal affairs of other nations must end."

Treaty Signed by U. S.

I quote from a treaty which the United States signed: "The High Contracting Parties declare inadmissible the intervention of any one of them, directly or indirectly, and for whatever reason, in the internal or external affairs of any other of the Parties." This doctrine was a firm plank in Mr. Roosevelt's "Good Neighbor" policy in Latin America, which had come to hate the North American "gringo" by reason of our repeated interventions, with marines and warships, in Mexico, Nicaragua, etc.

President Truman, who thinks things through as little as any man who ever occupied the White House, has moved into dangerous waters.

If the Italian government were to attempt to influence an American election by the same methods we used there, would we tolerate it?

President Cleveland dismissed the British Ambassador because the latter said he hoped Mr. Cleveland would be re-elected!

No, we would not tolerate another government spending money and promising either hunger or plenty to win an American political campaign. The thing then becomes nothing but expediency and power politics, divorced from all law, settled policy, or international comity.

England, France, Switzerland took no part in this intervention in the internal affairs of the Italian people. Nor did the United Nations. We claimed the honor alone.

Communism Abroad and Here

Mr. Truman, officially, and with taxpayers' money, entered a political campaign abroad to defeat the Communist party, while in the United States the Communist party has a legal right to participate in American elections!

No one knew how the election would come out until the votes were counted. But the majority against the Italian Communists was so great that it seems that there would have been no substantial change in the result if we had kept officially out of it.

Russia, of course entered the campaign and it will be said that this justified our abandonment of a settled policy. On the other hand, have we not given moral justification to Russia, or any other nation, to intervene in American elections?

We have entered upon uncharted seas. President Truman has announced that he proposes to enter political campaigns everywhere when some party which he does not approve has a ticket in the field. He proposes to do so alone, without the cooperation or approval of other countries; without the United Nations.

However good this may look in our eyes, how will it look to millions all over the world? It will look like American Imperialism.

The Old Racket

EVERYBODY GETS the Year Book appeal. It starts at High School and runs through life. It starts with a $5.00 quarter page for the local ice-cream emporium (nowadays maybe a fancy drugstore) and it ends in a "contribution."

Publishers, particularly those who have been facing the strikes called by the I. T. U., many of whom have had to go to the expense of putting in varitype installations, were intrigued to receive an appeal from the Milwaukee Typographical Union, inviting them to advertise in the 1948 Yearbook of the I.T.U. The appeal reads:

"The I. T. U. members you know and those you may be trying to interest, will inspect this book thoroughly and, you may be sure, your advertisement either will be given favorable comment, or its absence will be noted.

"You cinch that favorable comment with an advertisement in the book, — the more colorful or larger, the more favorable will be that comment.

"That you may maintain your fine relations wtih the people in the I.T.U. — here is the the rate card and advertising order blank. Help us to meet the deadline by having your copy in by June 20."

The prices for maintaining fine relations is cheap, $250 for a full page. If those, like the Chicago publishers who have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars fighting an I.T.U. strike, could do it for $250, they would be willing to settle for twice the price. In fact, in the 1947 year book, the "Chicago Tribune" took the inside cover in colors ,but that did not prevent the I.T.U. from striking that newspaper.

In fact, in that very issue, Woodruff Randolph, the Czar of the I.T.U., under whose management one of the oldest and best labor unions in America is fast becoming so universal a pain in the neck that newspapers are finding mechanical substitutes for the linotype, announces that "Fascism Invades Congress of United States" and quotes none other than the American Labor Party Congressman from Harlem, Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., to that effect.

In the 1947 issue, Louis Seltzer, editor of the "Cleveland Press," greeting the convention which was held in Cleveland, writes:

"Your craft stands high in the counsels of organized labor, for your union is a fair-minded and responsible organization, devoting its energies and its vigor, entirely to advancement and welfare.

"It is characteristic of the high traditions of your craft that your union, perhaps to a greater degree than other labor organization, has always recognized the interdependence that exists between its members and the publishers for whom they work."

Well, that is a mouthful, considering that Gauleiter Randolph has only a week ago set aside his own local union in New York after it had offered terms of settlement which the publishers found acceptable.

He not only set aside these terms, but demanded that the local publishers trade with him privately, with not a single representative of the local union present. This "interdependence" that Mr. Seltzer talks about has been evident now-here. What Mr. Randolph is fighting for is not the improvement of the terms of work of his union members, but the evasion of the Taft-Hartley Law.

His object is to force the publishers to enter a conspiracy with his union to evade the law, to get around it to find loopholes in it. Some publishers have been forced by economic and local conditions, to meet his demands; others have resorted to technological improvements to avoid not publishing during this uncalled for and illegal strike.

As a metter of fact, I think that some of the Chicago news papers look better in the new type than in the old. That is a matter of taste and opinion, but what is a fact is that the Chicago newspapers have proved beyond peradventure that they no longer need the costly and heavy linotype machines, that they can employ girls on the job.

As has happened so often, an unjust labor leader has forced technological improvements which lessen the authority of his union and throw its members out of work. If any editors hand $250 to this year book committee for improved relations, they deserve what happens to them.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

To Be Appreciated

Most of us would far more desire to be appreciated than to be merely popular. Popularity is a fickle affair. Popular today—but forgotten tomorrow. But sincere appreciation of one lives on and on.

The writers of popular fiction live briefly, but those who write to inspire and uplift, live on in others, endlessly. Writers like Stevenson, Dickens, Hugo, Cervantes, W. H. Hudson, Charles Lamb, Thoreau, and endless others, you can read and re-read, for they are appreciated for what they knew about life and nature. They tell us about ourselves and help us to appraise life to a better advantage.

We ourselves are appreciated only as we deserve to be. If we praise others, see the best in them, and try to uplift and inspire them, we in turn will be uplifted and inspired. We can always be assured of appreciation if we seek to give more than we take. We owe to the world far more than the world owes to us.

What a blessing to all concerned is the one who lives cheerfully! The "Happy Warrior," as it were. The non-complainer, the hopeful traveler, the one who sees something good all about him. He is the welcomed man, or woman, no matter where he resides, and no matter what his job or avocation.

That dumb dog of yours—how he appreciates the knowledge that you love him, that you trust him, and want him near to you. But how much more that friend of yours appreciates your understanding, your faith and confidence, and your encouragement. But why is it that we do not give out more appreciation to those we love while yet they live?

People work far better, and happier, when their work is appreciated than when it is not. Praise is the easiest possible pay, costing nothing to give. We work far more for appreciation than we ever do for mere money. The late William (Billy) Muldoon, athletic trainer, once said it was surprising how the body responded just to a little kindness!

To be appreciated, love, give—serve in some useful manner. How a cheerful, courageous front floods a glow of light wherever human contact is made!

Local Stores Will Keep Present Hours

At a meeting of the Mercantile Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday in the YMCA, it was agreed that Cumberland stores affiliated with the Chamber will maintain their present business hours.

All stores will close all day May 31 in observance of Memorial Day, and on July 5, in observance of Independence Day, both of which fall on Sunday this year. The stores will also close at noon on June 26 in observance of Cumberland Day at Fairgo.

The action followed a report from the advisory committee on adjustment of store hours here. The study was made following the presentation of a petition asking the group to discuss the adjustment of store hours to include a night opening, preferably Monday night.

A new constitution and the by-laws creating a nine-member board of directors were adopted. A nominating committee will be appointed soon to draft a slate of 18 candidates to be elected as directors. Voting will be by mail ballots.

Max W. Bastian, chairman of the Mercantile Bureau, presided.

Speculation Begins On City Clerk Post

Mentioned as high on the list of persons being considered for the position of city clerk are William B. Orndorff, a World Warr II veteran, and Vivian G. Mahaney, bookbeeper and notary.

The vacancy was created last week by the unexpected death in City Hall of Samuel E. Griminger, a veteran of 18 years' service with the city.

Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday no meeting has been planned as yet by city officials to make a temporary appointment to the post. City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson is acting as city clerk until that time.

Appointment of a permanent city clerk is under jurisdiction of the Cumberland Civil Service Commission, and all applicants must take an examination to qualify for the appointment. Veterans, under state law, are given five points above non-veterans.

The two highest prizes in bridge were won by Mrs. James Rexroad and Mrs. Earl F. Gower, Jr. In 500 Mrs. Carl H. Wagner had high score. Mrs. Lloyd R. Meyers won the gold pen special prize. There were 52 prizes, donated by merchants, awarded to the players.

The cottons for every day were predominately sun backs. Lots of four-piece ensembles were shown.

More fancy spectator cottons for afternoon wear were also shown; many of them were two-piece dresses with jackets of palm beach or Cape Cod fabric. The dressier prints were shown principally in chambrie and baby linen. Girl Scouts Begin Cookie Sale For Their Camp Fund

Every Girl Scout and Brownie Scout is a salesman these days as she scurries for orders among her friends and neighbors in the Girl Scout Cookie Sale. Delivery will begin on May 19 and continue until every home has its share of cookies.

The cookie sale is the means of raising money to develop the new Girl Scout camp in Garrett County. While the Cumberland Girl Scouts is one of the agencies supported by the Community Chest, no money is provided for developing the camp. It is necessary for the girls themselves to earn the money to build tent floors and to buy the other required equipment.

In 1947, funds accumulated in the 1946 and previous sales gave the girls a start. Four tent floors were built, two small storage buildings constructed and other improvements to the site were made. In order to accommodate 24 girls and the staff members, two more floors must be built, lumber purchased for temporary floors for counselors tents and the road must be repaired, Mrs. A. N. Correll, executive secretary, announces.

The cookies which will build the camp for the Girl Scouts will also furnish a week's camping trip for two Girl Scouts or Brownie Scouts. The camp committee has offered prizes of two campérships to the two troops which sell the most boxes of cookies per girl. Each troop will select the girl it will send.

The Girl Scouts who are taking orders for cookies will collect no money until the cookies are delivered. With home baking becoming a burden because of summer weather, the cookie sale should prove highly successful this year.

Get Welcome Relief From Stomach Gas, Sour Food Taste

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal? If so, here is how you may rid yourself of this nervous distress. Thousands have found it the way to be well, cheerful and happy again.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Capacity Crowd Attends Junior Civic Party, Show

The Junior Woman's Civic Club had 75 tables in play and refreshments served to 320 guests at its annual card party and style show Monday night at Ali Ghan Country Club. Proceeds will be used for the various charitable activities of the club.

The two highest prizes in bridge were won by Mrs. James Rexroad and Mrs. Earl F. Gower, Jr. In 500 Mrs. Carl H. Wagner had high score. Mrs. Lloyd R. Meyers won the gold pen special prize. There were 52 prizes, donated by merchants, awarded to the players.

Miss Jean Bowersox was commentator for the showing of Martin fashions. It was divided into five groups, beginning with active sports clothes, featuring bathing suits with beach jackets, principally of palm beach and skinners satin. The cottons for every day were predominately sun backs. Lots of four-piece ensembles were shown.

More fancy spectator cottons for afternoon wear were also shown; many of them were two-piece dresses with jackets of palm beach or Cape Cod fabric. The dressier prints were shown principally in chambrie and baby linen. There also were suits and suit jackets doing quadruple dutywear with skirt, slacks, peddle pushers and shorts, and featuring shade combinations.

The show concluded with sheer silks and a variety of distinctive evening gowns, all with so much detail in the back, consisting of pleating, drawn up effect at the hemline, bustles and flowers. The material varied from marquisette and chiffon to cottons with satin stripes, taffeta, silk Jersey and nets and one eyelet cutout borrowed from the gay 90's.

Girl Scouts Begin Cookie Sale For Their Camp Fund

Every Girl Scout and Brownie Scout is a salesman these days as she scurries for orders among her friends and neighbors in the Girl Scout Cookie Sale. Delivery will begin on May 19 and continue until every home has its share of cookies.

The cookie sale is the means of raising money to develop the new Girl Scout camp in Garrett County. While the Cumberland Girl Scouts is one of the agencies supported by the Community Chest, no money is provided for developing the camp. It is necessary for the girls themselves to earn the money to build tent floors and to buy the other required equipment.

In 1947, funds accumulated in the 1946 and previous sales gave the girls a start. Four tent floors were built, two small storage buildings constructed and other improvements to the site were made. In order to accommodate 24 girls and the staff members, two more floors must be built, lumber purchased for temporary floors for counselors tents and the road must be repaired, Mrs. A. N. Correll, executive secretary, announces.

The cookies which will build the camp for the Girl Scouts will also furnish a week's camping trip for two Girl Scouts or Brownie Scouts. The camp committee has offered prizes of two campérships to the two troops which sell the most boxes of cookies per girl. Each troop will select the girl it will send.

The Girl Scouts who are taking orders for cookies will collect no money until the cookies are delivered. With home baking becoming a burden because of summer weather, the cookie sale should prove highly successful this year.

Nurses as well as diplomats are internationally minded these days. For example, the American Nurses' Association, the United States' oldest and largest professional nursing organization (founded in 1896; membership: more than 160,000) is a corporate member of the International Council of Nurses, which proposes to provide opportunities for nurses of many nationalities "to confer upon questions relating to the welfare of their patients and their profession and to afford facilities or the interchange of international hospitality." Nurses' associations in some forty countries belong to the I. C. N.

Nightingale Tradition Carried On In World War II

When Florence Nightingale arrived at Scutari during the Crimean War and took over the care of the English wounded, the death rate for wounded soldiers was from 50 per cent to 60 per cent. She organized all the English hospitals in the Crimea with such telling effect that the death rate fell to a point not then equalled even in times of peace: 22 per 1,000. Her noble traditions were carried on in World War II by more than 75,000 United States nurses who served with our armed forces all over the globe. Their efforts contributed greatly to the high health standards of G. I. Joe, reports the American Nurses' Association.

Abundance of haddock has declined severely in the past three years, research on the north Atlantic fishing banks has demonstrated. This decline is due in part to the relative failure of the 1941, 1942 and 1943 classes. The Fish and Wildlife service of the U. S. Department of the Interior recommends a course of restoration of haddock stocks by restricting the mesh of fishing gear to sizes that will protect the young, immature fish.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

This story has two heroes, each named Johnny.

Our first hero it a criminal na... Johnny Whitton, alias "the Mutt."

Our second hero is a detective named Johnny Cordes when he been praised by several commissioners as "the best cop New York ever saw."

Billy Rose

I used to know Corden when he and Johnny Broderick worked as a team on the Broadway beat. Broderick was the toughest cop on the force and Cordes was probably the smartest. As a lot of toughies will testify, this Sherlock Holmes-Joe Louis combination broke many a case and many a head.

Cordes first met the Mutt about twenty-five years ago. Passing an East Side drugstore one day, he saw the Mutt helping himself to the day's receipts with one hand and pointing a gun at the druggist's head with the other. The detective went in and subdued the crook with the butt-end of his pistol, but during the scuffle, the Mutt shot him twice. A cop on the beat heard the shots, mistook Cordes for the holdup man, and shot him twice more. Johnny was in the hospital for months, and a judge who frowned on cop-shooting sent the Mutt to Sing Sing for fifteen years.

When the Mutt finally got out of prison, he went looking for Cordes who had been promoted to lieutenant in charge of the Harbor Squad. "Remember me, copper?" he said.

"I think of you every time it rains," grinned Cordes.

"I heard up in Sing Sing," said the Mutt, "that you sometimes get jobs for guys you sent away and who come out, wanting to go straight."

"Sometimes I do," said Johnny. "But if the guy crosses me, I never let up on him."

"I won't cross you," promised the Mutt.

Cordes got him a job on the docks. And when a minor steamship official fired the Mutt because of his record, Johnny got to a vice president and had him reinstated.

"I'll make this up to you some day, Mr. Cordes," the ex-con told him.

Sometime later, several cases of machine guns disappeared from one of the docks. The Commissioner sent for Cordes and told him this was one case which had to be cleaned up fast. If the artillery fell into the hands of one of the heist and hijacking mobs around town, there was no telling what might happen.

Among the men picked up for questioning was the Mutt. When he said he knew nothing about the theft, someone suggested giving him the bright-light treatment.

"I think he's leveling," said Cordes. "Let him go."

The Commissioner really started putted the pressure on Johnny when stool pigeons reported the machine guns were being offered for sale to the various "combines." Late one night, Cordes got a phone call from the Mutt, "You'll find what you're looking for in the lot behind the warehouse at Twelfth Avenue and 18th Street."

Armed with tommyguns and shovels, Cordes and his men raced to the lot. Under the trash heaps, they found the machine guns wrapped in tar paper and burlap.

Next day Johnny went looking for the Mutt to thank him. The dock boss told him the ex-con hadn't checked in in several days.

Three months later, the Mutt's body was found floating in the Hudson.

"He sure paid me off," said Cordes, as he looked at the bashed-in head. "Too bad it had to be with his life."

Nurses Have High Rating

That feeling of relief you get when someone in your family is ill and a nurse arrives is due to the fact that nurses are highly trained. You know that she will know what to do. But did you ever stop to think that, apart from her specialized education, she's a pretty smart girl anyway? A study that the American Nurses' Association recently made of scholastic standings required for admission to accredited schools of nursing in the United States showed that 90 per cent of those admitted had graduated in the upper half of their high school class. Smart as a fox? Smart as a nurse!

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

This story has two heroes, each named Johnny.

Our first hero it a criminal na... Johnny Whitton, alias "the Mutt."

Billy Rose

Our second hero is a detective named Johnny Cordes when he been praised by several commissioners as "the best cop New York ever saw."

I used to know Corden when he and Johnny Broderick worked as a team on the Broadway beat. Broderick was the toughest cop on the force and Cordes was probably the smartest. As a lot of toughies will testify, this Sherlock Holmes-Joe Louis combination broke many a case and many a head.

Cordes first met the Mutt about twenty-five years ago. Passing an East Side drugstore one day, he saw the Mutt helping himself to the day's receipts with one hand and pointing a gun at the druggist's head with the other. The detective went in and subdued the crook with the butt-end of his pistol, but during the scuffle, the Mutt shot him twice. A cop on the beat heard the shots, mistook Cordes for the holdup man, and shot him twice more. Johnny was in the hospital for months, and a judge who frowned on cop-shooting sent the Mutt to Sing Sing for fifteen years.

When the Mutt finally got out of prison, he went looking for Cordes who had been promoted to lieutenant in charge of the Harbor Squad. "Remember me, copper?" he said.

"I think of you every time it rains," grinned Cordes.

"I heard up in Sing Sing," said the Mutt, "that you sometimes get jobs for guys you sent away and who come out, wanting to go straight."

"Sometimes I do," said Johnny. "But if the guy crosses me, I never let up on him."

"I won't cross you," promised the Mutt.

Cordes got him a job on the docks. And when a minor steamship official fired the Mutt because of his record, Johnny got to a vice president and had him reinstated.

"I'll make this up to you some day, Mr. Cordes," the ex-con told him.

Sometime later, several cases of machine guns disappeared from one of the docks. The Commissioner sent for Cordes and told him this was one case which had to be cleaned up fast. If the artillery fell into the hands of one of the heist and hijacking mobs around town, there was no telling what might happen.

Among the men picked up for questioning was the Mutt. When he said he knew nothing about the theft, someone suggested giving him the bright-light treatment.

"I think he's leveling," said Cordes. "Let him go."

The Commissioner really started putted the pressure on Johnny when stool pigeons reported the machine guns were being offered for sale to the various "combines." Late one night, Cordes got a phone call from the Mutt, "You'll find what you're looking for in the lot behind the warehouse at Twelfth Avenue and 18th Street."

Armed with tommyguns and shovels, Cordes and his men raced to the lot. Under the trash heaps, they found the machine guns wrapped in tar paper and burlap.

Next day Johnny went looking for the Mutt to thank him. The dock boss told him the ex-con hadn't checked in in several days.

Three months later, the Mutt's body was found floating in the Hudson.

"He sure paid me off," said Cordes, as he looked at the bashed-in head. "Too bad it had to be with his life."

Nurses Have High Rating

That feeling of relief you get when someone in your family is ill and a nurse arrives is due to the fact that nurses are highly trained. You know that she will know what to do. But did you ever stop to think that, apart from her specialized education, she's a pretty smart girl anyway? A study that the American Nurses' Association recently made of scholastic standings required for admission to accredited schools of nursing in the United States showed that 90 per cent of those admitted had graduated in the upper half of their high school class. Smart as a fox? Smart as a nurse!

Nothing ventured... nothing gained!

No one guaranteed the Wright Brothers that their "box kite" airplane would fly... but it did! No one could be certain that the years of planning, the hopes and dreams, the effort, the hard-earned dollars would pay off in achievement... but they did!

Once again, man's willingness to venture had paved the way for progress.

In a free land such as ours everyone plays a part in one venture or another. Some contribute ideas—men like the Wrights, Edison, Bell, Steinmetz, De Forest. Some carry out ideas—the managers and workers. Some provide the necessary money for tools, factories, raw materials and wages—the investors.

Of all these, the role of the investor is least known, least understood. The individual who sets aside part of his income for investment in industry is but one of millions of similar risk-takers, scattered through all walks of life, unorganized and unrecognized. Yet, without the venture dollars provided by these thrifty citizens, the nation's production of goods could not increase, its standard of living could not rise.

The New York Stock Exchange, as the nation's principal market place for investors, believes there is urgent need for a governmental policy—particularly a tax policy—that gives every individual an opportunity to save, and an incentive to put his surplus dollars to work for the benefit of all our people.

Nothing ventured... nothing gained!

No one guaranteed the Wright Brothers that their "box kite" airplane would fly... but it did! No one could be certain that the years of planning, the hopes and dreams, the effort, the hard-earned dollars would pay off in achievement... but they did!

Once again, man's willingness to venture had paved the way for progress.

In a free land such as ours everyone plays a part in one venture or another. Some contribute ideas—men like the Wrights, Edison, Bell, Steinmetz, De Forest. Some carry out ideas—the managers and workers. Some provide the necessary money for tools, factories, raw materials and wages—the investors.

Of all these, the role of the investor is least known, least understood. The individual who sets aside part of his income for investment in industry is but one of millions of similar risk-takers, scattered through all walks of life, unorganized and unrecognized. Yet, without the venture dollars provided by these thrifty citizens, the nation's production of goods could not increase, its standard of living could not rise.

The New York Stock Exchange, as the nation's principal market place for investors, believes there is urgent need for a governmental policy—particularly a tax policy—that gives every individual an opportunity to save, and an incentive to put his surplus dollars to work for the benefit of all our people.

Allie Reynolds Throttles Tribe For 5th Victory

Keller Leads Attack As Yankees Win, 4-1

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—Allie Reynolds halted the high-flying Cleveland Indians today, snapping their five-game win streak with a 4-1 victory for the New York Yankees. It was Reynold's fifth straight success in an unbeaten season.

Reynolds, although nicked for nine hits, including Ken Keltner's 10th homer in the fourth inning, held his former mates in control most of the afternoon. Charley Keller, making a fine comeback, was his biggest booster with two doubles and a single.

In the second, seventh and eighth, the Tribe had two men on base but could not get to Reynolds for the big hit they needed.

Kramer Shuts Out Chicago Sox, 8-0

Vern Stephens Hits Pair Of Home Runs

BOSTON, May 11 (AP)—Aided by two home runs by Vern Stephens and one by Bobby Doerr the Boston Red Sox today blanked the Chicago White Sox 8-0 behind the six single pitching of handsome Jack Kramer against whom only one enemy base runner advanced as far as second base.

Stephens treated starter Glen Moulder like a batting practice pitcher, leading off the second inning with a home run high into the screen atop the left field wall and duplicating the stunt in the third inning.

Bobby Doerr followed the example set by Stephens in the second inning when he too punched a drive into the same netting.

Boston Manager Joe McCarthy changed his lineup in an effort to put some thump into the local Hose who had lost five in a row. Stan Spence, who has been a first baseman all season, was sent to right field and Jake Jones played first.

The loss was the seventh in succession for Chicago's Sox. Box:

GAME TODAY

Fort Hill at Hyndman

Cumberland teams remained deadlocked for first place in the Bi-State Interscholastic Baseball Conference yesterday when both Allegany High School and Fort Hill High School chalked up their fourth straight victories.

Allegany defeated Hyndman on the Pennsylvanians' field by the score of 8-3 while Fort Hill took the measure of Central High at Lonaconing to the tune of 5-2.

In the third game of the afternoon, Beall High School of Frostburg handed LaSalle its third straight defeat by the score of 8-7 at Community Park. It was the third game the 1947 conference champions lost by the margin of a single run.

Clingan Wins Sixth

Jim Clingan notched his sixth straight victory of the season as the Campers' undefeated team made it seven in a row for the current campaign. The AHS ace kept Hyndman's seven hits well scattered and fanned seven batsmen. Earl "Lefty" Bruce paced the Allegany hitters with a triple and double and Perrell hammered a triple with one aboard in the 5th.

Fort Hill kept pace with the Campobello nine by scoring once in the second and twice in the third and sixth frames to hand the Lonaconing team its fourth successive setback in the league. Glenn Burke was the winning pitcher but was relieved by "Buck" Shaw during Central's two-run sixth. Lester Dawson had three of 'Coney's six hits while Stevenson garnered two of Fort Hill's eight safeties. Ronnie Cage's catch of Bobby Lee's long fly to centerfield was the fielding highlight.

Rally Falls Short

Singles by Jim Collins and Close and triples by Reissig and Joe Collins featured a 7th inning rally by LaSalle in its game with Beall. With the tying run on third base, however, Leo struck out to end the contest at the Wineow Street park.

Beall got away to a four-run start in the first inning and was never headed. Pat Creegan started on the mound for the Explorers and was the losing pitcher.

Each team racked up 10 hits. Matese of Beall and Close of LaSalle collected three hits each.

Fort Hill will play Hyndman in a league game at Hyndman today at 4 p. m. Paw Paw plays Fort Hill here in a non-league game Thursday at 4 p. m.

Group Files Appeal In Stadium Case

BALTIMORE, May 11 (AP) — A decision which permits the Baltimore Orioles of the International League to use Municipal Stadium was appealed today by a group of residents who live near the stadium.

Some 28 residents had sought an injunction from Judge E. Paul Mason to prevent the baseball team from using the stadium. But he decided in favor of the team.

Today the group filed an appeal and Judge Mason ordered the group to post bond covering the cost. The case now goes to the Maryland Court of Appeals at Annapolis.

Umpires To Meet

A meeting of Interstate Baseball League umpires is scheduled for today at 8 p. m. at the office of the United States Employment Service, 146 Union Street.

Probable Field For Preakness Is Reduced To Five

Two Are Withdrawn From Saturday Race

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE, May 11 (AP)—It took a railroad strike threat to keep Coaltown out of the Preakness and Citation had very little company today in waiting for Saturday's race.

The known probable field was reduced to the Calumet Comet and four other 3-year-olds by two new withdrawals. W. L. Brann announced in New York he was keeping Escadru there. In Baltimore, trainer Sylvester Veitch pulled out C. V. Whitney's Mount Marcy.

Mount Marcy finished second yesterday here to Sylvester W. Labrot's Bovard. Veitch said the Whitney colt finished with a sore shin. Escadru was last in the Kentucky Derby.

This left Whitney's Vulcan's Forge, third in yesterday's race, King Ranch's Better Self, William Helis' Salmagundi and Bovard to tackle Citation in the $100,000 race. All but Salmagundi, who is at Garden State track in New Jersey, are on the Pimlico grounds.

Citation thus wiped out one set of challengers to his claim to 3-year-old honors. None of the five he beat in the Derby, including stablemate Coaltown, is taking him on again Saturday.

The powerful son of Bull Lea will pose a problem for Pimlico management as well as owners of other colts. A top-heavy favorite, Citation is bound to threaten the track with a minus pool unless it eliminates some of the betting and perhaps limits it to win only as in the Derby.

Bovard, a Maryland-bred, now looms as the outstanding challenger to Citation. The big, rambunctious son of Bahram showed exceptional class in yesterday's Survivor.

He not only whipped Mount Marcy handily, but ran the mile and one sixteenth in 1:43 3/5. That was only one and two-fifths seconds off Count Fleet's track record and the turf was anything but good.

Bovard and Citation hooked up in a duel last month at Havre De Grace with Citation beating him in the Chesapeake Stakes. Bovard stayed in Maryland to point for Saturday's mile and three-sixteenths grind while Citation went on to take the Derby.

On past performances, Bovard has shown plenty of late power and invariably comes on from far behind. Calument also has held Citation off the pace until the turn for home so that Saturday's race might find them running together, for a time at least.

Southern Colleges Form New Athletic Conference

BIRMINGHAM, May 11—(AP)—A new athletic conference — strictly amateur—was formed here today by nine southern colleges.

A rigid code, which bars financial aid in any way to college athletes, was adopted at the organizational meeting. The new group selected Dixie Conference as its name.

Schools forming the new group are:

Howard College, Birmingham; Florida State University, Tallahassee; Stetson University, Deland, Fla.; Tampa University, Tampa, Fla.; Lambuth College, Jackson, Tenn.; Mercer University, Macon, Ga.; Oglethorpe University, Atlanta; Milisaps College, Jackson, Miss., and Mississippi College, Clinton, Miss.

Reds Sign Collegian

CINCINNATI, May 11 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds announced today that they had signed Will Van Huit of St. Mary's College, California, outfielder.

He is 19 years old, six feet, one inch tall, weighs 186 pounds, and bats and throws right handed.

Warren Giles, president of the Reds, said Van Huit probably will join the team in Chicago, travel with it for 10 days, and then be sent to one of the farm clubs for seasoning.

Allie Reynolds Throttles Tribe For 5th Victory

Keller Leads Attack As Yankees Win, 4-1

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—Allie Reynolds halted the high-flying Cleveland Indians today, snapping their five-game win streak with a 4-1 victory for the New York Yankees. It was Reynold's fifth straight success in an unbeaten season.

Reynolds, although nicked for nine hits, including Ken Keltner's 10th homer in the fourth inning, held his former mates in control most of the afternoon. Charley Keller, making a fine comeback, was his biggest booster with two doubles and a single.

In the second, seventh and eighth, the Tribe had two men on base but could not get to Reynolds for the big hit they needed.

Kramer Shuts Out Chicago Sox, 8-0

Vern Stephens Hits Pair Of Home Runs

BOSTON, May 11 (AP)—Aided by two home runs by Vern Stephens and one by Bobby Doerr the Boston Red Sox today blanked the Chicago White Sox 8-0 behind the six single pitching of handsome Jack Kramer against whom only one enemy base runner advanced as far as second base.

Stephens treated starter Glen Moulder like a batting practice pitcher, leading off the second inning with a home run high into the screen atop the left field wall and duplicating the stunt in the third inning.

Bobby Doerr followed the example set by Stephens in the second inning when he too punched a drive into the same netting.

Boston Manager Joe McCarthy changed his lineup in an effort to put some thump into the local Hose who had lost five in a row. Stan Spence, who has been a first baseman all season, was sent to right field and Jake Jones played first.

The loss was the seventh in succession for Chicago's Sox. Box:

GAME TODAY

Fort Hill at Hyndman

Cumberland teams remained deadlocked for first place in the Bi-State Interscholastic Baseball Conference yesterday when both Allegany High School and Fort Hill High School chalked up their fourth straight victories.

Allegany defeated Hyndman on the Pennsylvanians' field by the score of 8-3 while Fort Hill took the measure of Central High at Lonaconing to the tune of 5-2.

In the third game of the afternoon, Beall High School of Frostburg handed LaSalle its third straight defeat by the score of 8-7 at Community Park. It was the third game the 1947 conference champions lost by the margin of a single run.

Clingan Wins Sixth

Jim Clingan notched his sixth straight victory of the season as the Campers' undefeated team made it seven in a row for the current campaign. The AHS ace kept Hyndman's seven hits well scattered and fanned seven batsmen. Earl "Lefty" Bruce paced the Allegany hitters with a triple and double and Perrell hammered a triple with one aboard in the 5th.

Fort Hill kept pace with the Campobello nine by scoring once in the second and twice in the third and sixth frames to hand the Lonaconing team its fourth successive setback in the league. Glenn Burke was the winning pitcher but was relieved by "Buck" Shaw during Central's two-run sixth. Lester Dawson had three of 'Coney's six hits while Stevenson garnered two of Fort Hill's eight safeties. Ronnie Cage's catch of Bobby Lee's long fly to centerfield was the fielding highlight.

Rally Falls Short

Singles by Jim Collins and Close and triples by Reissig and Joe Collins featured a 7th inning rally by LaSalle in its game with Beall. With the tying run on third base, however, Leo struck out to end the contest at the Wineow Street park.

Beall got away to a four-run start in the first inning and was never headed. Pat Creegan started on the mound for the Explorers and was the losing pitcher.

Each team racked up 10 hits. Matese of Beall and Close of LaSalle collected three hits each.

Fort Hill will play Hyndman in a league game at Hyndman today at 4 p. m. Paw Paw plays Fort Hill here in a non-league game Thursday at 4 p. m.

Aristocrats, Century Score At Frostburg

FROSTBURG, May 11 — The Aristocrats trounced Twigg and Thomas, 14-4, and the Century A. C. walloped Allegany, 17-2, in Frostburg Softball League games today.

Youthful Jim Taylor held the Twigg and Thomas team to four hits, one a homer by Nelson, while his mates racked up 22. N. Harper, W. Biggs and C. Williams headed the assault with three hits each.

"Stony" Jackson homered with the bases loaded and Carter connected for three hits as the C.A.C. garnered 17 blows to swamp Allegany. M. Miller made several nice catches in right field for the losers. The scores:

Group Files Appeal In Stadium Case

BALTIMORE, May 11 (AP) — A decision which permits the Baltimore Orioles of the International League to use Municipal Stadium was appealed today by a group of residents who live near the stadium.

Some 28 residents had sought an injunction from Judge E. Paul Mason to prevent the baseball team from using the stadium. But he decided in favor of the team.

Today the group filed an appeal and Judge Mason ordered the group to post bond covering the cost. The case now goes to the Maryland Court of Appeals at Annapolis.

Umpires To Meet

A meeting of Interstate Baseball League umpires is scheduled for today at 8 p. m. at the office of the United States Employment Service, 146 Union Street.

Probable Field For Preakness Is Reduced To Five

Two Are Withdrawn From Saturday Race

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE, May 11 (AP)—It took a railroad strike threat to keep Coaltown out of the Preakness and Citation had very little company today in waiting for Saturday's race.

The known probable field was reduced to the Calumet Comet and four other 3-year-olds by two new withdrawals. W. L. Brann announced in New York he was keeping Escadru there. In Baltimore, trainer Sylvester Veitch pulled out C. V. Whitney's Mount Marcy.

Mount Marcy finished second yesterday here to Sylvester W. Labrot's Bovard. Veitch said the Whitney colt finished with a sore shin. Escadru was last in the Kentucky Derby.

This left Whitney's Vulcan's Forge, third in yesterday's race, King Ranch's Better Self, William Helis' Salmagundi and Bovard to tackle Citation in the $100,000 race. All but Salmagundi, who is at Garden State track in New Jersey, are on the Pimlico grounds.

Citation thus wiped out one set of challengers to his claim to 3-year-old honors. None of the five he beat in the Derby, including stablemate Coaltown, is taking him on again Saturday.

The powerful son of Bull Lea will pose a problem for Pimlico management as well as owners of other colts. A top-heavy favorite, Citation is bound to threaten the track with a minus pool unless it eliminates some of the betting and perhaps limits it to win only as in the Derby.

Bovard, a Maryland-bred, now looms as the outstanding challenger to Citation. The big, rambunctious son of Bahram showed exceptional class in yesterday's Survivor.

He not only whipped Mount Marcy handily, but ran the mile and one sixteenth in 1:43 3/5. That was only one and two-fifths seconds off Count Fleet's track record and the turf was anything but good.

Bovard and Citation hooked up in a duel last month at Havre De Grace with Citation beating him in the Chesapeake Stakes. Bovard stayed in Maryland to point for Saturday's mile and three-sixteenths grind while Citation went on to take the Derby.

On past performances, Bovard has shown plenty of late power and invariably comes on from far behind. Calument also has held Citation off the pace until the turn for home so that Saturday's race might find them running together, for a time at least.

Southern Colleges Form New Athletic Conference

BIRMINGHAM, May 11—(AP)—A new athletic conference — strictly amateur—was formed here today by nine southern colleges.

A rigid code, which bars financial aid in any way to college athletes, was adopted at the organizational meeting. The new group selected Dixie Conference as its name.

Schools forming the new group are:

Howard College, Birmingham; Florida State University, Tallahassee; Stetson University, Deland, Fla.; Tampa University, Tampa, Fla.; Lambuth College, Jackson, Tenn.; Mercer University, Macon, Ga.; Oglethorpe University, Atlanta; Millsaps College, Jackson, Miss., and Mississippi College, Clinton, Miss.

Reds Sign Collegian

CINCINNATI, May 11 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds announced today that they had signed Will Van Huit of St. Mary's College, California, outfielder.

He is 19 years old, six feet, one inch tall, weighs 186 pounds, and bats and throws right handed.

Warren Giles, president of the Reds, said Van Huit probably will join the team in Chicago, travel with it for 10 days, and then be sent to one of the farm clubs for seasoning.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, May 11 (INS)—Betty Grable gets Preston Sturges and a western all in one swoop. I told you some time ago that Pres had a little number called "The Blonde From Bashful Creek." Only he could think of a title like that, and he wanted Betty Grable for it. Well, he's got her.

Betty Grable

"The Miracle of Morgan's Creek" was one of the funniest movies ever made, and was Preston at his best. This is the same type of nonsense that won Betty Hutton such acclaim. Betty Grable continues to be the joy of 20th stockholders and her bosses by giving them boxoffice hits. Maybe that's because she let's her studio decide what's best for her.

Shed a few tears, all you character actors who have been panting to play the father in "The Heiress," the role which gave Basil Rathbone high praise and assorted awards on the stage. Ralph Richardson—or perhaps I should say Sir Ralph—gets the acting plum.

When Sir Alex Korda was here last week, Director William Wyler made the deal with him to borrow Richardson, who next to Laurence Olivier, is probably England's finest actor. Richardson came to this country with Olivier and the old Vic repertory company last year, and received highest acclaim.

I have seen an amazing picture, "Will It Happen Again?" made from films that were seized from the Nazis—all filmed during the Hitler regime.

You see Hitler at work at Berchtesgaden. You see him during the hours he is cavorting with Eva Braun. You see her swimming in all sorts of Paris bathing suits, with the guests at Berchtesgaden, brought there to gloat over and discuss Hitler's victories. In the end, Stalin is brought in—he who seems to be starting much the same at Hitler did when the ex-paper hanger set out to conquer the world.

This is a picture to see—and extremely interesting. Films classics has acquired it, and, believe me, it's the greatest thing of its kind I've ever seen.

Bing Crosby, who sticks to his tatting, golfing and family when he is in Hollywood, always has a time for himself when he goes to New York.

A few nights ago, Bingo went backstage to call on his old friend, Phil Silvers, who is a big hit in "High Button Shoes." He got there just as the chorus boys were going on, so Bing grabbed a straw hat and pranced out with them.

Well, you can imagine what happened. The audience went crazy and wouldn't stop calling for him until Phil made him pay off with a song.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Mrs. Marion Bren and Spencer Martin at the Mocambo. At the next table sat David May and Beverly Tyler. A short time ago, Mrs. Bren and David were constantly together.

Redhaired Greer Garson, also at the Mocambo, with Otto Preminger, another redhead. Greer is taking a small party to the Angna Enters show Thursday night.

Clark Gable didn't get much peace when he went to the Kings for dinner with Elaine White. There were about 150 high school kids there, and they kept filing past Gable's table to go to the powder room.

Larry Parks, who underwent a serious operation three weeks ago, suffered a setback when he came down with the flu.

Candy Bergen, Edgar's two-year-old, is not going to stand for any competition where Charlie McCarthy is concerned. When Edgar and Charlie were entertaining the children at Candy's birthday party, Miss Bergen walked up, gave Charlie a push, and got on her dad's knee herself. She didn't make Edgar angry, or Charlie either.

At the party for Robert Young head of Eagle-Lion Studio were Ingrid Bergman and her husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, having loads of fun. I couldn't believe my eyes when I saw them both dancing again and again.

Olivia De Havilland, in a trick hat made of red roses and extremely becoming, was with Marcus Goodrich, but natch, and the Nunnally Johnsons.

Leland Hayward and "Slim" Hawks looked happy dancing together at the party. Well, I guess they are happy.

I keep hearing Margaret Sullivan and George Gregson, wealthy Los Angeles business man, are together constantly. I saw Maggie looking so pretty, at the Wanger wedding reception, with Charles Feldman. Charlie was with Gene Tierney at the party for Robert Young—but they remain very good friends.

That's all today.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

A Good Living With Ulcers

Leon Janney, one of the busiest and least known actors in radio, feels keenly as do many of his colleagues the lack of recognition in the trade. Janney, for example, has played longer and tougher parts in "Mr. District Attorney" than the D. A. himself, though Jay Jostyn always gets air credit and Janney doesn't. A recent "Tales of Willie Piper" program was largely devoted to a not-too-bright insurance salesman played by Janney. Press releases concerning the program mentioned three actors but not Janney.

John Crosby

A successful radio actor like Janney—as opposed to a radio star like Jack Benny—must establish his name in the confidence and memories of dozens of radio producers and directors. In New York where Janney works, there is an inner circle of professional actors and actresses who earn their living in radio. Considering the fountains of drama which wash the airlanes every day, it is rather a small one. Breaking into the circle is not easy, but once accomplished an actor is fairly assured of much steadier employment than either motion pictures or the stage until death or television intervenes. This security has its drawbacks. Janney, who was in seven Broadway plays between 1934 and 1941, would like another fling at the stage sometime but doesn't quite dare. Even hit plays close eventually and then Janney would face the task of working his way back into regular programs again, a risky business.

Within a couple of hours, Janney may play a fresh-voiced youngster, a whining old man and a rasp-voiced menace. This melange of characteristics doesn't bother him much unless he has too many parts in the same script. When this happens he marks the straight parts with a straight line, the character parts with a wavy line so he won't have to consume time reading the names.

He has a fearful time getting around from program to program and worries incessantly about being late. Sometimes one of his programs follows another from a different place. He gets off "The Shadow," which is broadcast from the Longacre Theater on Forty-Eighth Street, at 5:28 p. m., weaves his way through Broadway crowds on a dead run for four blocks to the Guild Theater on Fifty-second Street, where at 5:32 p. m., he is heard imperturably running through two or three roles on "Quick as a Flash."

Janney's first radio role was on Uncle John's program, one of the original uncles of radio, in Los Angeles in 1925. He didn't take up full-time radio acting until 1944, after a year and a half stretch in the Army. Tired of waiting for a play to come along, he put his movie stardom and vaudeville headliner days resolutely behind him and plunged into the anonymity of radio. Today his annual take from radio is higher than his movie days, though not quite so great as his vaudeville period. At first he played juvenile roles only. Now he plays anything and can tackle any known dialect.

His dialects, he asserts, are 90 per cent authentic and are the result of an exceptionally good ear. His Russian dialect is too good. People don't believe it. Janney speaks Russian fluently, having taken a four-year course in six months during the war in preparation for a special job promised him by the Army. The Army rewarded his industry by making him a telephone lineman, second class.

You can't be too authentic with accents, he says. General de Gaulle for example, has a comedy French accent which Janney can imitate to perfection. Janney doesn't dare use it. People, he says, would laugh him off the air.

The inner circle of radio actors has its share of prima donnas but Janney isn't one of them. He cheerfully takes voice tests, something considered below the dignity of many established actors, if it'll help him land a job. When he has been written out of the scripe of his regular shows, he discreetly voices the news around that he's at liberty and wouldn't mind picking up an extra buck. Too much pride in this business would cut into his income.

Like many others in his profession, Janney looks on television without enthusiasm. A successful radio actor can't afford television right now. A featured part, for example, in Kraft Television Theater, which involves a week's work and thirty or forty hours of rehearsal, would bring in about $150, which Janney can earn on two half-hour radio shows. Ultimately, however, television may bring wholesale changes in the lives of Janney and his colleagues. An actor as skilled as Janney has several dozen voices at his command but he hasn't several dozen good faces.

Radio, he admits, has been good to him but the wear and tear of rehearsal and the tremendous pace have taken their toll. Janney suspects he has an ulcer and he quite definitely has "radio stomach" (chronic heartburn), the occupational disease of radio actors.

Stocks Hit Highest Average Since July In Lively Market Session

NEW YORK, May 11—(AP)—In the liveliest session of the past three weeks, stocks today hit an average high since last July although profit cashing put many market leaders in the minus ranks.

There was considerable "sellings on the good news" following calling off the threatened railway walkout. A certain amount of buying again was based on inflationary psychology and business optimism.

Transfers of 1,750,000 shares compared with 1,440,000 shares the day before.

Gainers of 1 to 2 points, a number of the "new high" class, included Rock Island preferred at 63 (on a favorable dividend), Standard Oil (Ohio) 31⅝ (reflecting an earnings jump), U. S. Steel 77¾, Bethlehem Steel 35¼, Republic Steel 28½, Youngstown Sheet 79½, Goodrich 58¼, American Smelting 58¼, General Electric 37, Allied Chemical 190¾ and Pacific Western Oil 59¼.

Improved were General Motors, Chrysler, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, U. S. Rubber, Caterpillar Tractor, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, American Can, Radio Corp., American Tobacco, Loew's and Paramount Pictures.

Douglas Aircraft dropped 2⅝ points at 61⅝, United Aircraft 1⅛ at 28⅜, Lockheed 1⅛ at 21⅝, Glenn Martin I at 18¾ and Boeing ⅞ at 26⅛.

Lower were Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Great Northern Railway, Northern Pacific, Sinclair Oil, Standard Oil (N.J.), Eastern Air Lines, Union Carbide, International Paper, Kennecott, Anaconda and Electric Power & Light.

Demand for railroad bonds pepped up the market as a nationwide rail strike was averted at least temporarily.

U. S. Aids Berlin Papers, Radio

BERLIN—(AP)—Americans in Berlin have stepped up their facilities for propaganda against the Soviets here. U. S. authorities announced an increase of 100,000 copies for the two big American-licensed daily newspapers and a boost in broadcasting time for their German language radio station.

Both papers could sell many thousand more copies if they had the newsprint. Most of Germany's newsprint production is controlled by the Russians in their occupation zone and therefore the Russians have a vast advantage in Berlin with seven daily newspapers with total circulation of about 2½ millions. The two U. S. licensed papers now will total 467,000.

With their control of powerful Radio Berlin and other stations in the surrounding Russian Zone, the Soviets also have great advantages in the broadcasting field.

To Get Ancient Axe

LONDON—(AP)—A 200,000 year-old axe will grace the desk of Mayor John Davis of Reading, Pa. It is a palaeolithic flint handaxe used by the folks around Reading, England, some 200,000 years B.C. It will be mounted as a paperweight on a base of ancient oak which probably flourished in England at the time the Mayflower set sail.

Mayor H. V. Kersley of Reading, England, will go to Reading to present the souvenir to Mayor Davis to mark the bicentenary industrial exhibition of Reading, Pa.

Fossil Wombat Found

SIDNEY, Australia — (AP) — A Queensland farmer has found the lower jawbone of a prehistoric diprotodon on his farm. The diprotodon, a kind of giant wombat weighing about three or four times as much as a heavy bullock, was an ancestor of the kangaroo and koala and other Australian marsupials. Its head was three feet long. It carried its young in a pouch, ate grass and lived in the now famous grazing lands of the Darling Downs in Queensland in the Pleistocene Age. George Mack, Director of the Queensland Museum is planning a field expedition to search for a complete skeleton of a diprotodon.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

A Good Living With Ulcers

Leon Janney, one of the busiest and least known actors in radio, feels keenly as do many of his colleagues the lack of recognition in the trade. Janney, for example, has played longer and tougher parts in "Mr. District Attorney" than the D. A. himself though Jay Jostyn always gets air credit and Janney doesn't. A recent "Tales of Willie Piper" program was largely devoted to a not-too-bright insurance salesman played by Janney. Press releases concerning the program mentioned three actors but not Janney.

John Crosby

A successful radio actor like Janney—as opposed to a radio star like Jack Benny—must establish his name in the confidence and memories of dozens of radio producers and directors. In New York where Janney works, there is an inner circle of professional actors and actresses who earn their living in radio. Considering the fountains of drama which wash the airlanes every day, it is rather a small one. Breaking into the circle is not easy, but once accomplished an actor is fairly assured of much steadier employment than either motion pictures or the stage until death or television intervenes. This security has its drawbacks. Janney, who was in seven Broadway plays between 1934 and 1941, would like another fling at the stage sometime but doesn't quite dare. Even hit plays close eventually and then Janney would face the task of working his way back into regular programs again, a risky business.

Within a couple of hours, Janney may play a fresh-voiced youngster, a whining old man and a rasp-voiced menace. This melange of characteristics doesn't bother him much unless he has too many parts in the same script. When this happens he marks the straight parts with a straight line, the character parts with a wavy line so he won't have to consume time reading the names.

He has a fearful time getting around from program to program and worries incessantly about being late. Sometimes one of his programs follows another from a different place. He gets off "The Shadow," which is broadcast from the Longacre Theater on Forty-Eighth Street, at 5:28 p. m., weaves his way through Broadway crowds on a dead run for four blocks to the Guild Theater on Fifty-second Street, where at 5:32 p. m., he is heard imperturably running through two or three roles on "Quick as a Flash."

Janney's first radio role was on Uncle John's program, one of the original uncles of radio, in Los Angeles in 1925. He didn't take up full-time radio acting until 1944, after a year and a half stretch in the Army. Tired of waiting for a play to come along, he put his movie stardom and vaudeville headliner days resolutely behind him and plunged into the anonymity of radio. Today his annual take from radio is higher than his movie days, though not quite so great as his vaudeville period. At first he played juvenile roles only. Now he plays anything and can tackle any known dialect.

His dialects, he asserts, are 90 per cent authentic and are the result of an exceptionally good ear. His Russian dialect is too good. People don't believe it. Janney speaks Russian fluently, having taken a four-year course in six months during the war in preparation for a special job promised him by the Army. The Army rewarded his industry by making him a telephone lineman, second class.

o—o—o

You can't be too authentic with accents, he says. General de Gaulle for example, has a comedy French accent which Janney can imitate to perfection. Janney doesn't dare use it. People, he says, would laugh him off the air.

The inner circle of radio actors has its share of prima donnas but Janney isn't one of them. He cheerfully takes voice tests, something considered below the dignity of many established actors, if it'll help him land a job. When he has been written out of the scripe of his regular shows, he discreetly voices the news around that he's at liberty and wouldn't mind picking up an extra buck. Too much pride in this business would cut into his income.

Like many others in his profession, Janney looks on television without enthusiasm. A successful radio actor can't afford television right now. A featured part, for example, in Kraft Television Theater which involves a week's work and thirty or forty hours of rehearsal would bring in about $150, which Janney can earn on two half-hour radio shows. Ultimately, however, television may bring wholesale changes in the lives of Janney and his colleagues. An actor as skilled as Janney has several dozen voices at his command but he hasn't several dozen good faces.

Radio, he admits, has been good to him but the wear and tear of rehearsal and the tremendous pace have taken their toll. Janney suspects he has an ulcer and he quite definitely has "radio stomach" (chronic heartburn), the occupational disease of radio actors.

Transfers of 1,750,000 shares compared with 1,440,000 shares the day before.

Gainers of 1 to 2 points, a number of the "new high" class, included Rock Island preferred at 63 (on a favorable dividend), Standard Oil (Ohio) 31⅝ (reflecting an earnings jump), U. S. Steel 77¼, Bethlehem Steel 35½, Republic Steel 28½, Youngstown Sheet 79½, Goodrich 58¼, American Smelting 58¼, General Electric 37, Allied Chemical 190⅝ and Pacific Western Oil 59¼.

Improved were General Motors, Chrysler, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, U. S. Rubber, Caterpillar Tractor, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, American Can, Radio Corp., American Tobacco, Loew's and Paramount Pictures.

Douglas Aircraft dropped 2⅝ points at 61⅝, United Aircraft 1¼ at 28⅜, Lockheed 1¼ at 21⅛, Glenn Martin 1 at 18⅜ and Boeing ⅞ at 26⅛.

Lower were Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Great Northern Railway, Northern Pacific, Sinclair Oil, Standard Oil (N.J.), Eastern Air Lines, Union Carbide, International Paper, Kennecott, Anaconda and Electric Power & Light.

Demand for railroad bonds pepped up the market as a nationwide rail strike was averted at least temporarily.

Text Of Senator O'Conor's Address On Centennial Of Christian Brothers

"It is always a source of gratification to a public official to assist in the dedication of a structure memorializing a great event or person of the past, or hailing for the public benefit new facilities affording increased advantages in health, education or some similar field. Tonight's occasion marks such an observance, but in the mental and spiritual sphere rather than in the field of physical achievement. The privilege of participating is far greater because the measure of accomplishment in terms of men, ideas and ideals, marks so much more valuable a contribution to the nation and to this community than any memorial or facility of marble or steel.

"It was Diogenes who is reputed to have said that 'the foundation of every state is the education of its youth.' Much closer to our own times was the declaration by Former President James A. Garfield that "next in importance to freedom and justice is popular education, without which neither freedom or justice can be permanently maintained."

"To attempt to evaluate the influence which the Christian Brothers have exerted upon the development of this nation during their hundred years of teaching, and to the state of Maryland and this community during their forty years of successful endeavors among us, would be like trying to evaluate the worth of endless labor on the structure of ordered Society.

Brothers' Training Reflected

"One has only to look about him here to see and appreciate some of the results of the education and training imparted by these good Brothers to so many of the leaders of the community in the past two generations. Multiply the effects of this benificent influence to include the many cities and communities in which the Christian Brothers have labored during the past century. Then it is possible to visualize in a general way the bountiful results for good citizenship, and for progress and development of our state and nation, which have accrued to the American people by reason of the painstaking efforts the members of this splendid order have put into their "labor of love" for our youths.

Fortunate it is for Maryland and for our country in this time of world turbulence and unrest that the celebration here tonight to mark the fortieth anniversary of the LaSalle Institute High School does not merely signalize a completed accomplishment. More importantly, it emphasizes rather the continuing readiness and increased capacity of the Brothers of the Christian Schools to contribute in even greater measure throughout the years to the training of our young men for the duties of citizenship and the opportunities for progress and development that lie ahead.

Never was there a time, throughout the century in which the Brothers have labored among our American people, when the lessons of good citizenship which they teach, and the principles of morality and justice which are basic in their curricula, were more needed to leaven the life of community and nation.

There is raging in the world today a struggle, greater even than any battles of guns or planes, of battle cruisers or submarines, of armor or of artillery, such as commanded world interest during the Great War of recent memory. This greatest war this most crucial of all human conflicts, is the struggle for the control of men's minds. Upon its outcome will depend the course of the world for good or evil.

It is a struggle which is always going on, but it becomes more intense and difficult in times of great stress and it is then that a democratic people needs most desperately to win this greatest war. For that reason, it appears to me extremely desirable that we should try to understand the tactics and the strategy of the never-ceasing war for the control of men's attitudes and ideals.

Two Opposing Currents

The issues in this struggle are very complex on the surface, yet deep underneath that surface run two main currents in opposite directions. One is the current which bears men in the direction of surrendering control of their thoughts and their ideals to some other man, a dictator of some kind, or to a relatively small group of men with supposed special powers of thought and feeling. The other current bears men in the opposite direction of retaining the control they now have over their own thoughts and ideals and of trying to widen, strengthen, and perfect that control. So long has our American way of life prospered that our people are inclined to forget that other nations have not been so fortunate. They tend to ignore the fact that other peoples, in every country without exception during this 160 year period, have been forced to undergo turmoil and change which have brought untold suffering to millions.

The statement often voiced durin recent years that "it could happen here," is important for us to keep in mind, lest we allow ourselves to be lulled into a dangerous, false security.

Freedom of thought, of speech, of action, of religion, are the priceless possessions and privileges which our people have come to accept as their inalienable right. Undoubtedly, many of the millions who now cower and suffer beneath the despotism of the USSR and its puppet dictators had the same feeling in their days of freedom. Because individual liberty was theirs to use and enjoy, many of them no doubt felt that it would always be theirs. Like so large a proportion of the American people today, they accepted the benefits of their free institutions while consciously or unconsciously refusing to accept the responsibilities that go hand in hand.

Subtle Threat Of Aggression

Those people behind the Iron Curtain today have learned a lesson, a lesson from which the American people should draw a moral before we, too, are challenged in a bitter struggle for the preservation of our freedom.

Russian aggression of which we hear so much is not, basically, the bloody, violent aggression that marked the conquest of Genghis Khan, of Napoleon and of the other conquerors of the past. As we have seen its effect throughout the world, it is a more subtle threat to the safety of nations. Make no mistake about it, however, it is a potent threat, despite its subtlety. Its propagandists seek to dominate men's minds, and to drive from the hearts of people everywhere belief in the eternal truths that alone afford a basis for justice and morality among men.

These proponents of the Soviet doctrines are well-trained by their masters for this specific form of treachery .Teaching that man as an individual is un-important and that the state is the proper expression of human aims and hopes, they have worked their way into all the countries of the world, taking advantage of the unrest and the want, the sufferings and the privations which have been permitted to develop and to spread in the democratic countries through complacence.

When Czechoslovakia fell, was it to armed minions of the USSR? No! The final work of treachery was by a militant group of residents of that country. But their minds had been poisoned, and their treacherous acts charted, as a result of the insidious propaganda of Russian agents and sympathizers.

Well has it been said that hunger has no conscience. It is basic in human nature for individuals to seek to feed and protect their families in times of want, despite any man-made laws of private property. In our own country the question of race segragation has been seized upon as well by these Soviet propagandists. In fact, they overlook no festering sore on the body politic anywhere, that might offer opportunity for agitation and destruction.

No Clearcut Division

Too many are ready to sum up present world difficulties and disunion by declaring that it is simply a conflict between capitalism and socialism, or between Communism and Christianity. There is no such clearcut division of objective or ideals. While Communism is antagonistic to Christianity, it feeds rather on the defects in democratic countries that stem from the refusal of many to accept and bide by Christian teaching and principles.

In the same way, capitalism and the democratic concepts of individual liberty, of free enterprise, are not themselves the point of Communist attack in this struggle for the control of man's minds, but rather it is the abuses which have been permitted to develop and to mar the democratic ideal, which have made it so relatively easy for Communists to infiltrate and finally to seize control of freedom-loving countries elsewhere.

The difficulty has been, and the opportunity for Communism has been, that our opponents have been unceasing in their efforts to tear down and destroy. Our people however, who have held in their possession the priceless heritage of legally asknowledged, God - given rights, have not always been on the alert to defend these institutions by wiping out the injustices and defects which even today mark the operation of the capitalist system.

In times like this, when prosperity abounds on every hand and people have more money in their pockets than ever before in history, people tend to overlook the fact that not all our people are prosperous. They forget that many of our own citizens are suffering privations that are outrageous in comparison to the privations suffered in other countries, because we have the same means here immediately at hand to correct the situation and we have done so little about it.

Important Precepts Barred

America has developed in a material way far beyond the other countries of the world because, in the main, our people, no matter what their condition, have had the opportunity for education. Again here, however, intelligent as has been our progress in many ways, we have been shortsighted indeed. We have barred from our educational program the most important learning of all, the precepts of God and morality upon which all lawful progress in the world is based.

Until there is general recognition, in the educational program, and in the daily lives of our people, of our dependency upon the Almighty, and our need for His guidance in the settlement of national and international problems, we may expect that subversive efforts such as now are current in the world will achieve success, and make difficult the application of the principles of justice and right to all peoples. Particularly upon the graduates of schools such as LaSalle Institute, where right principles of morality are taught, will the responsibility lie for efforts to persuade our country and our people to individual and national actions in conformity with Divine teachings.

All too often, unfortunately, even where there is ample opportunity to ascertain the proper course of action to be pursued in the consideration of major problems, such opportunity for proper guidance is ignored or overlooked.

In the matter of labor relations, for instance, the Papal Encyclicals have laid down a norm of right conduct which, if adhered to, would assure immense improvement in industrial relationships.

Such considerations impress themselves upon our minds today, because of the current railway labor dispute. It will be no surprise to you, I know, to learn that there was some doubt in my mind yesterday as to whether I would be able to get to Cumberland by train today. The decision of the Federal Government to take over the railways solved for the time being the particular difficulty. It did not, however, offer any permanent solution towards the problem of improved labor-management relations in the transportation field.

Whatever may be the justice of the unions' contentions, I think there will be general agreement that a way must be found to resolve such disputes in the future without Government operation, or a strike that would cripple the nation's economy.

Too Dangerous For Appeasement

Perhaps this is a time when the basic issues should be discussed rather than merely the current demand. The continuing hazard of such major disruptions of our country's economy poses too dangerous a threat to the public interest to be settled each time on an "appeasement" basis.

The time has come when the aim should be not merely to settle each of these major labor conflicts as it arises, but to lay down statutory procedure for settlement of any disputes. This statutory procedure must not only take into consideration the just demands of the workers and of management but, first of all, it must demand protection for the interests of the people of the entire country.

It is an insufferable situation when minority groups, be they employers of employees, can bring to a halt the orderly functioning of any essential part of our industrial setup. Particularly is this so when the phase of industry affected is one upon which the great masses of our citizenry are dependent for employment, for access to their employment or for any of the vital necessities of life. Unless we maintain the sovereignty of the people, and refuse to surrender that sovereignty to any group, our country will be in constant danger.

Going into another sphere, that of international relationships, all of us will watch with concern the future of efforts for the control of atomic energy, now in jeopardy because of the uncompromising attitude of one party to the discussions, namely, Soviet Russia. I said just a moment ago that it was insufferable that any minority group should control the functioning of our American economy. To a far greater degree it is unthinkable that a situation be permitted to continue under which any one country could jeopardize the security of the world, by indiscriminate use or even threats of use of the most frightful of all new weapons, the atomic bomb.

America has gone all the way in her efforts to outlaw the use of this tremendous new force for destruction. As sole possessor of the bomb, our country has offered to submit to international regulation and control in the development of atomic energy, so as to prevent any nation from using it either as a threat or as a devastating weapon of destruction.

Favors Atomic Control Pact

In this, as in other fields of attempted world co-operation, Russia has been the great obstacle to progress towards an agreement which would insure world security. So essential is such an agreement, however, that I would be in favor of an official move by the American Government, looking toward a pact for atomic control and development which, like the Marshall Plan, would embrace all nations of good will, and would leave the door wide open for Russia and her satellites to join. Initiation of such efforts would demonstrate again to the world America's good faith. It would be one more tie to bind the nations of western Europe and of this continent in a joint movement for mutual security. The indication of yesterday that Russia might negotiate should encourage us to strive for a compact on atomic power.

A third matter of national interest, and one which very directly will affect the students of LaSalle Institute of the recent past, of the present and perhaps of the future, is the proposed legislation on Selective Service. It seems clear to any reasonable person that America is compelled to maintain, ready for instant service, adequate armed forces, because of Russia's uncompromising attitude. Just what form the final Selective Service proposals will take remains to be seen. It is quite probable, however, that a Selective Service Bill will be passed at this session, and that youths of 18 or 19 to 25 soon will be called upon to serve in one or another of the armed services.

Generally, I am in agreement that America owes it to herself to be prepared, during these critical times, with a thoroughly adequate Army, Navy and Air Force. I am firmly of the opinion, however, that any legislation passed should really deserve to be called "selective."

Reserves Selective Service Approval

By that I mean that the nation must not, more or less indiscriminately as in the last war, take a great portion of our young men and simply make soldiers of them. You and I know very well that there are many young men of military age who could be much more valuable to the nation as potential scientists, or doctors, or even in certain specialized phases of industry, than they could be with a gun on their shoulder, or behind the wheel of a tank or the controls of a plane. I reserve the right to withhold approval on any selective service legislation until satisfied that we have corrected the defects of the World War II selective service system. Only thus can we use to the best advantage the young men who will be called upon under Selective Service, to shoulder their responsibilities for the nation's security.

In conclusion, let me acknowledge again, on behalf of our people, deep appreciation of the contribution made to the development and betterment of our State and nation by the Brothers of the Christian Schools. The record is a brilliant one. May it be a continuing inspiration for the members of the Order in the even more fruitful years ahead. Cumberland and Maryland are indebted to you.

Text Of Senator O'Conor's Address On Centennial Of Christian Brothers

"It is always a source of gratification to a public official to assist in the dedication of a structure memoralizing a great event or person of the past, or hailing for the public benefit new facilities affording increased advantages in health, education or some similar field. Tonight's occasion marks such an observance, but in the mental and spiritual sphere rather than in the field of physical achievement. The privilege of participating is far greater because the measure of accomplishment in terms of men, ideas and ideals, marks so much more valuable a contribution to the nation and to this community than any memorial or facility of marble or steel.

"It was Diogenes who is reputed to have said that 'the foundation of every state is the education of its youth.' Much closer to our own times was the declaration by Former President James A. Garfield that "next in importance to freedom and justice is popular education, without which neither freedom or justice can be permanently maintained."

"To attempt to evaluate the influence which the Christian Brothers have exerted upon the development of this nation during their hundred years of teaching, and to the state of Maryland and this community during their forty years of successful endeavors among us, would be like trying to evaluate the worth of endless labor on the structure of ordered Society.

Brothers' Training Reflected

"One has only to look about him here to see and appreciate some of the results of the education and training imparted by these good Brothers to so many of the leaders of the community in the past two generations. Multiply the effects of this benificent influence to include the many cities and communities in which the Christian Brothers have labored during the past century. Then it is possible to visualize in a general way the bountiful results for good citizenship, and for progress and development of our state and nation, which have accrued to the American people by reason of the painstaking efforts the members of this splendid order have put into their "labor of love" for our youths.

Fortunate it is for Maryland and for our country in this time of world turbulence and unrest that the celebration here tonight to mark the fortieth anniversary of the LaSalle Institute High School does not merely signalize a completed accomplishment. More importantly, it emphasizes rather the continuing readiness and increased capacity of the Brothers of the Christian Schools to contribute in even greater measure throughout the years to the training of our young men for the duties of citizenship and the opportunities for progress and development that lie ahead.

Never was there a time, throughout the century in which the Brothers have labored among our American people, when the lessons of good citizenship which they teach, and the principles of morality and justice which are basic in their curricula, were more needed to leaven the life of community and nation.

There is raging in the world today a struggle, greater even than any battles of guns or planes, of battle cruisers or submarines, of armor or of artillery, such as commanded world interest during the Great War of recent memory. This greatest war this most crucial of all human conflicts, is the struggle for the control of men's minds. Upon its outcome will depend the course of the world for good or evil.

It is a struggle which is always going on, but it becomes more intense and difficult in times of great stress and it is then that a democratic people needs most desperately to win this greatest war. For that reason, it appears to me extremely desirable that we should try to understand the tactics and the strategy of the never-ceasing war for the control of men's attitudes and ideals.

Two Opposing Currents

The issues in this struggle are very complex on the surface, yet deep underneath that surface run two main currents in opposite directions. One is the current which bears men in the direction of surrendering control of their thoughts and their ideals to some other man, a dictator of some kind, or to a relatively small group of men with supposed special powers of thought and feeling. The other current bears men in the opposite direction of retaining the control they now have over their own thoughts and ideals and of trying to widen, strengthen, and perfect that control. So long has our American way of life prospered that our people are inclined to forget that other nations have not been so fortunate. They tend to ignore the fact that other peoples, in every country without exception during this 160 year period, have been forced to undergo turmoil and change which have brought untold suffering to millions.

The statement often voiced during recent years that "it could happen here," is important for us to keep in mind, lest we allow ourselves to be lulled into a dangerous, false security.

Freedom of thought, of speech, of action, of religion, are the priceless possessions and privileges which our people have come to accept as their inalienable right. Undoubtedly, many of the millions who now cower and suffer beneath the despotism of the USSR and its puppet dictators had the same feeling in their days of freedom. Because individual liberty was theirs to use and enjoy, many of them no doubt felt that it would always be theirs. Like so large a proportion of the American people today, they accepted the benefits of their free institutions while consciously or unconsciously refusing to accept the responsibilities that go hand in hand.

In our own country the question of race segragation has been seized upon as well by these Soviet propagandists. No Clearcut Division

Too many are ready to sum up present world difficulties and disunion by declaring that it is simply a conflict between capitalism and socialism, or between Communism and Christianity. There is no such clearcut division of objective or ideals. While Communism is antagonistic to Christianity, it feeds rather on the defects in democratic countries that stem from the refusal of many to accept and bide by Christian teaching and principles.

In the same way, capitalism and the democratic concepts of individual liberty, of free enterprise, are not themselves the point of Communist attack in this struggle for the control of man's minds, but rather it is the abuses which have been permitted to develop and to mar the democratic ideal, which have made it so relatively easy for Communists to infiltrate and finally to seize control of freedom-loving countries elsewhere.

Too Dangerous For Appeasement

Perhaps this is a time when the basic issues should be discussed rather than merely the current demand. The continuing hazard of such major disruptions of our country's economy poses too dangerous a threat to the public interest to be settled each time on an "appeasement" basis.

The time has come when the aim should be not merely to settle each of these major labor conflicts as it arises, but to lay down statutory procedure for settlement of any disputes. This statutory procedure must not only take into consideration the just demands of the workers and of management but, first of all, it must demand protection for the interests of the people of the entire country.

It is an insufferable situation when minority groups, be they employers of employees, can bring to a halt the orderly functioning of any essential part of our industrial setup. Particularly is this so when the phase of industry affected is one upon which the great masses of our citizenry are dependent for employment, for access to their employment or for any of the vital necessities of life. Unless we maintain the sovereignty of the people, and refuse to surrender that sovereignty to any group, our country will be in constant danger.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of thanking our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during the illness and following the death of our Mother, Mrs. Joseph Cesnick, Lord, Md. We also wish to thank Father Reilly and the choir of St. Joseph's Church, those who sent floral tributes and those who loaned cars for the funeral.
The Cesnick Family

We deeply appreciate and wish to express publicly our debt of gratitude for the sincere expressions of sorrow and assistance given us by our relatives and friends, neighbors and former neighbors of our family and of the Graebenstein, Carney, Coleman, Mattingly and Dugan families. Also to the priests, doctors, sisters and nurses of the Allegany Hospital, who were so courteous, consoling, patient and kind to our wife and mother, Alice Graebenstein Carney.
The family of J. Joseph Carney, Jr.
728 Hilltop Drive

Our sincere thanks to all our friends and neighbors for all their help and kindness, and to all those who donated cars and sent floral tributes following the death of our beloved mother, daughter and sister, Hazel B. Russ.
James & Shirley Russ
Her Mother, Father, Brothers & Sisters

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our beloved husband and Daddy, Edward T. Mulligan, who died four years ago May 12th, 1944.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent the voice we loved to hear,
Sad but true, we wonder why,
The best are always the first to die.
Our hearts cry out in pain,
We'd love to have you with us again;
The days are sad without him,
Nothing will ever be the same,
For he has gone and left a lonliness
In our hearts by day and by night.
Sadly missed by his loving
Wife, daughter & son.
Fannie K. Mulligan,
Sonja K. Mulligan,
Gary E. Mulligan.

In loving but, sad remembrance of my Dear Brother, Jacob Clay, who departed this life May 12, 1943.
Dearest Brother you have left us
In this dreary world below,
Though in our hearts we have never forgot you,
For we loved each other so.
Yet again we hope to meet you
When the days of life has fled;
And in heaven with joys to greet you
Where no farewell tears are shed.
Sadly missed by his sister,
Mrs. Ellen E. Yost

In loving memory of our dear Father, and husband, George E. Bennett, who died one year ago today, May 12, 1947.
No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain;
This world would seem like Heaven
If we had you back again.
Your memory lingers in our hearts,
Sweet, tender, fond and true;
There is not a day, dear Father,
That we do not think of you.
Sadly missed by his,
Wife and Children.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of thanking our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during the illness and following the death of our Mother, Mrs. Joseph Cesnick, Lord, Md. We also wish to thank Father Reilly and the choir of St. Joseph's Church, those who sent floral tributes and those who loaned cars for the funeral.
The Cesnick Family

We deeply appreciate and wish to express publicly our debt of gratitude for the sincere expressions of sorrow and assistance given us by our relatives and friends, neighbors and former neighbors of our family and of the Graebenstein, Carney, Coleman, Mattingly and Dugan families. Also to the priests, doctors, sisters and nurses of the Allegany Hospital, who were so courteous, consoling, patient and kind to our wife and mother, Alice Graebenstein Carney.
The family of J. Joseph Carney, Jr.
728 Hilltop Drive

Our sincere thanks to all our friends and neighbors for all their help and kindness, and to all those who donated cars and sent floral tributes following the death of our beloved mother, daughter and sister, Hazel B. Russ.
James & Shirley Russ
Her Mother, Father, Brothers & Sisters

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our beloved husband and Daddy, Edward T. Mulligan, who died four years ago May 12th, 1944.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent the voice we loved to hear,
Sad but true, we wonder why,
The best are always the first to die.
Our hearts cry out in pain,
We'd love to have you with us again;
The days are sad without him,
Nothing will ever be the same,
For he has gone and left a lonliness
In our hearts by day and by night.
Sadly missed by his loving
Wife, daughter & son.
Fannie K. Mulligan,
Sonja K. Mulligan,
Gary E. Mulligan.

In loving but, sad remembrance of my Dear Brother, Jacob Clay, who departed this life May 12, 1943.
Dearest Brother you have left us
In this dreary world below,
Though in our hearts we have never forgot you,
For we loved each other so.
Yet again we hope to meet you
When the days of life has fled;
And in heaven with joys to greet you
Where no farewell tears are shed.
Sadly missed by his sister,
Mrs. Ellen E. Yost

In loving memory of our dear Father, and husband, George E. Bennett, who died one year ago today, May 12, 1947.
No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain;
This world would seem like Heaven
If we had you back again.
Your memory lingers in our hearts,
Sweet, tender, fond and true;
There is not a day, dear Father,
That we do not think of you.
Sadly missed by his,
Wife and Children.

Union To File Charge Against Cement Company

Cumberland Local 453, Teamsters Union, AFL, announced yesterday that it will file charges of unfair labor practices with the National Labor Relations Board against the Cement Products Corporation, Henderson Avenue.

C. E. Stutzman, business agent, said five men were discharged for failing to return to work before the deadline set by management last week.

Local 453, Teamsters Union, and Local 616, Laborers Union, are involved in the dispute which a union official said arose from the union's demand for a union shop and a 25 cent wage boost. Ten cents has been offered, he said.

He said the firm refused to sign a contract and flatly refused a demand for a union shop in spite of the fact the unions have held contracts there for several years, and added the union is still picketing for the adjustment of wages and a union shop contract.

Lloyd Smith, company manager, said five new men have been hired, bringing the working force up to its full strength of 21 men. He termed operations "normal" despite continued picketing by the union.

Parr said late last night he had a report that the 150-acre fire was out, and crews had come out of the area. He said wardens will return to the scene this morning to make a final check.

Eloquently Msgr. McNally elaborated on the theme of great men arising in the church to meet the dangers and needs of the times. John Baptist de la Salle, he said, was the man who arose in France in the seventeenth century to found an order of Christian teachers who would be an antidote to the irreligion of that time. A priest and scion of a distinguished family, LaSalle brought education to the masses and is rated in educational circles as one of the great founders of the present system of teaching.

"God only knows," declared the preacher, "what incalculable good has been accomplished in the world by the Christian Brothers founded by St. LaSalle.

Molotov had taken in his reply an exactly opposite line. He declared that the new Communist Governments in Eastern Europe were the result of "democratic" changes in the Eastern European countries while the developments in Western Europe under the Marshall Plan and the Western European Union were essentially aggressive actions against Russia.

One fact which stood out in the exchange of views was that neither Molotov nor Smith showed by their statements any point on which either Russia or the United States was

Union To File Charge Against Cement Company

Cumberland Local 453, Teamsters Union, AFL, announced yesterday that it will file charges of unfair labor practices with the National Labor Relations Board against the Cement Products Corporation, Henderson Avenue.

C. E. Stutzman, business agent, said five men were discharged for failing to return to work before the deadline set by management last week.

Local 453, Teamsters Union, and Local 616, Laborers Union, are involved in the dispute which a union official said arose from the union's demand for a union shop and a 25 cent wage boost. Ten cents has been offered, he said.

He said the firm refused to sign a contract and flatly refused a demand for a union shop in spite of the fact the unions have held contracts there for several years, and added the union is still picketing for the adjustment of wages and a union shop contract.

Lloyd Smith, company manager, said five new men have been hired, bringing the working force up to its full strength of 21 men. He termed operations "normal" despite continued picketing by the union.

Parr said late last night he had a report that the 150-acre fire was out, and crews had come out of the area. He said wardens will return to the scene this morning to make a final check.

Eloquently Msgr. McNally elaborated on the theme of great men arising in the church to meet the dangers and needs of the times. John Baptist de la Salle, he said, was the man who arose in France in the seventeenth century to found an order of Christian teachers who would be an antidote to the irreligion of that time. A priest and scion of a distinguished family, LaSalle brought education to the masses and is rated in educational circles as one of the great founders of the present system of teaching.

"God only knows," declared the preacher, "what incalculable good has been accomplished in the world by the Christian Brothers founded by St. LaSalle.

One fact which stood out in the exchange of views was that neither Molotov nor Smith showed by their statements any point on which either Russia or the United States was will

Dismisses Complaints Brought By Council

BALTIMORE, May 11 (AP)—The Maryland Public Service Commission today cleared the way for a proposed increase in Cumberland bus fares by the Potomac Edison Company.

The PSC dismissed complaints brought against the requested fare raise by the Cumberland Mayor and City Council. It ordered Potomac Edison to give the commission and the public 10 days notice before putting the new rates into effect.

The company asked for a change in its commutation fares. It wants to replace three-for-a-quarter, ten-for-80-cent and 15-for-$1 tickets with six for 50 cents.

E. H. Koons, general traffic agent for the company, said without the increase the utility would suffer $29,009 loss this year. This would be caused, he added, by $31,785 in more wages because of a 12-cent hourly increase granted March 1 and $17,356 in increased operating costs.

The traffic agent estimated the fare increase would give the firm a net profit of $3,156.

The City of Cumberland contended through Solicitor Thomas B. Finan that "Potomac Edison is speculating on what will happen and not what has happened. They are crying before they're hurt."

Potomac Edison also operates busses in Hagerstown.

In filing its application for the increase several weeks ago, Potomac Edison said the increase was necessary to absorb about $49,000 estimated annual increase in cost of operations, and requested that the new rate schedule be made effective May 2.

However, on April 14 the Public Service Commission postponed a hearing on the petition until May 5 at the request of City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, who sought more time to prepare the city's case against the fare raises.

At the hearing May 5, the PSC took the case under advisement after the City of Cumberland asked the commission to require the company to continue operation with its present bus fares to determine if it would suffer a loss as claimed.

Henry W. Price, district manager of Potomac Edison, said earlier the company did not propose an increase in bus fares in Cumberland but an adjustment in one class of fares. He added that the 10-cent cash fare would remain the same.

Local organizations which went on record as opposing the fare increase were Local 212, International Association of Machinists, and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America.

The Public Service Commission recently granted fare rate increases to the Cumberland and Western-port Transit Company and to Emery's Motor Coach Lines.

Scholarship Funds Will Help Nurse Trainees In Area

Scholarship funds are being provided by various Allegany County organizations to permit any qualified young man or woman interested in nursing as a profession to enter training, regardless of financial ability, Mrs. Charles L. Kopp said last night.

Mrs. Kopp, a member of the student nurse recruitment committee which is conducting a drive in this area, was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Allegany County Public Health Lay Council at City Hall.

The committee hopes to obtain 100 qualified applicants, Mrs. Kopp said in outlining plans for events scheduled today in observance of "National Hospital Day," when 165 young women from area high schools will come to Cumberland as guests of the committee.

If sufficient applicants are obtained, classes will be started next month at Allegany and Memorial Hospital Schools of Nursing, Mrs. Kopp said.

Another feature of last night's meeting, at which Mrs. Arthur Evans, chairman, presided, was a short talk by Mrs. Norman S. Yoder, Pinto, who was the first lay health worker in the county.

She recalled that 26 years ago Miss Margaret Morrissey, public health nurse in the Cresaptown and Pinto districts, asked permission to hold a baby clinic at the Yoder home, and that 12 women brought their babies to the clinic.

Miss Morrissey outlined the present organization of lay health workers in her district and praised their help at the various clinics.

Similar talks were given by other public health nurses, Miss Grace Hardman, Miss Anna Hardy, Mrs. Elizabeth Rosenmerkel, Mrs. Rose Loible, Mrs. Isabelle Laughlin, Miss Henrietta Lippold, and Miss Margaret Neumann.

Another speaker was Mrs. Ruth K. Graham, Baltimore, director of county organization for the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, who arirved here yesterday for conferences with City Commissioner William J. Edwards and Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer.

Edwards served as chairman of the county Christmas Seal campaign to raise funds for the fight against tuberculosis.

Meeting Called To End Emery Strike

A meeting to attempt to end the week-old strike of drivers of the Emery Motor Coach Lines in this section has been arranged for this afternoon through the efforts of C. E. Clevenger, federal conciliator.

Willis Sams, representative of the local union, and John Elliott, representative of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railways and Motor Coach Employes, AFL, are scheduled to meet with management.

CONTEST WINNER-- Miss Gladys Troshak, 20, Route 3, Valley Road, won the Road To Hollywood screen contest, sponsored by Screen Guild Productions and the local National Guard Units at the State Armory. The finals were held here Saturday, and she will compete later in regional competition in the nation-wide contest. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wertz. James Hager, Fort Hill High School senior, won the male competition.

Building Trades Say Strike May End Tomorrow

Present Outlook Termed 'Promising'

Officials of the Building and Construction Trades Council reported last night that conditions are "promising" for the return to work of all building trades craftsmen tomorrow.

The announcement by George W. Lucas, president of the council, followed conferences yesterday between contractors and building trades officials with James A. Holden, Washington, well known federal conciliator.

One of the factors which is delaying the agreement is the meeting of members of Local 616, Laborers Union, to act upon a wage offer by the general contractors.

That action will be taken at a special meeting to be held tonight at 6:45 o'clock in Allegany Trades Council Hall, R. C. Simmons, business agent, said. He did not disclose the amount of the offer prior to the meeting.

Construction bogged down here last week after building craftsmen went on what was termed a "fishing trip" or "holiday" due to the lack of an agreement on a new wage scale and the effective date of that scale on projects already under contract.

Officials said there was no question, except in the case of laborers, of the rates but that the chief argument arose from the effective date of the increases which in most cases was about 25 cents an hour.

The building holiday has chiefly affected projects of the Vandegrift and Hazelwood construction firms.

There is some question, one official said, as to whether carpenters employed on one job will continue their "fishing trip."

France Asks Md. Editors To Dinner

Jacob France, Republican National Committeeman for Maryland, has issued invitations to editors of all the newspapers in the state to be his guests at a dinner at 6:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

Congressman Charles Hallack of Indiana, majority floor leader in the House of Representatives, will be guest of honor and will speak informally.

"The purpose of the gathering," France said, "is for the newspapermen to meet personally the six GOP Congressional candidates in Maryland." Editors in Western Maryland are acquainted with J. Glenn Beall, Sixth District, and those on the Eastern Shore have met Edward T. Miller, First District, both of whom were unopposed in the recent primaries to succeed themselves in the House of Representatives in the general election this year. The other four candidates are:

Second District — Former State Senator A. Earl Shipley, Westminster, Carroll County.

Third District—John A. Janetzke, 1754 Bank Street, Baltimore, 31.

Fourth District—James W. Miller, 347 East 29th Street, Baltimore, 18.

Fifth District—C. Maurice Weidemeyer, Suitland, Prince Georges County.

There are approximately 75 weeklies in Maryland outside of Baltimore, and four in the city proper, three of which are of foreign language. Nine dailies are published in the State and three in Baltimore, making an overall total of 92.

Ohr Lodge To Observe Eighty-First Anniversary

Ohr Lodge 131, A. F. and A. M., will observe its 81st anniversary tomorrow night at the Masonic Temple, beginning with a dinner which will be served at 6 p. m. by McKinley Chapter No. 12, Order of the Eastern Star. Dinner music will be furnished by the Colomy String Ensemble.

Following the dinner, at 7:30, the regular meeting will be held.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes John J. Robinson, Fred P. Keyser and Thomas A. Robertiello. Fred W. Shanning, worshipful master, will preside.

County Board To Request Bigger Share Sales Tax

Commissioners Meet In Hagerstown Today

Allegany County Commissioners attending a meeting of Western Shore County Commissioner Association at Hotel Alexander, Hagerstown, today, will recommend the distribution of more state sales tax funds to counties, Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., president of the Board, said yesterday.

Commissioners James Holmes and William H. Lemmert, accompanied by the board's attorney, Lewis M. Wilson, will attend the conference. Wilkinson said he will be unable to go.

Commissioners agreed yesterday that the Association should be urged to request more money for relief and for school building construction.

The Allegany commissioners will present both requests formally and urge uniform action by the association in sending the recommendation to state officials. In view of heavy receipts from state-wide sales tax, local commissioners believe the counties are receiving too small a proportion on the distribution.

An order of court was presented the County Board yesterday extending the term of office of James Park, tax collector for District 3 to April 1949.

A report of an insurance company received by the commissioners this morning showed that several defects of the electric elevator at the Court House should be corrected at once in the interest of safety.

The commissioners ordered the clerk to contact the Otis Elevator Company at once so that the suggested repairs can be made.

A letter was received from J. Milton Patterson, director of the State Department of Welfare, asking for recommendations for a successor to Mrs. J. C. Cobey, Frostburg, as a member of the Allegany County Welfare Board. Patterson suggested that someone in Frostburg vicinity be recommended.

PERMIT GRANTED TO BUILD $4,500 HOME

A building permit was granted yesterday by the city engineer's office to William R. Turner, 768 Maryland Avenue, to construct a two-story six-room house on Lot No. 63, Kentucky Avenue, at an estimated cost of $4,500.

Thurston Grapes secured a permit to build an addition and rebuild a porch at 437 South Street. The first floor of the two-story addition will measure 5 by 12 feet, and the second floor will be 12 by 18 feet, with a concrete block foundation, frame walls covered with Inselbrick and a composition roof.

The porch will be reduced from 6 by 28 feet to 5 by 26 feet. Work will be done by Burch Brothers and cost is estimated at $1,400.

G. E. Pfeiffer, 425 Columbia, secured a permit to enclose a rear porch at his home with frame walls, with the enclosure to measure 5½ by 12 feet. Cost is estimated at $80.

A permit was granted to Harold Cain, 5 Broadway, Frostburg, to use part of a two-story brick building at 110 Henry Street as a sign shop. The premises, owned by the W. E. Turner estate, were formerly used as an appliance repair shop.

The Weather

Wheeeeee, that was a scorcher yesterday, wasn't it? But, the weather man promises more later this week. The mercury topped Monday's high, when it reached a peak of 92 degrees and sent townspeople to shaded areas. It wasn't typical circus weather, as it generally rains on Circus Day, and that is just what the weatherman says will happen today. But the kiddies all have their fingers crossed, hoping the showers hold out at least until they are under the "big top." The weatherman says it will be warm again today, with some cloudiness, turning to rain in the afternoon. The low for the night was 73 degrees, with many sleepers shedding their winter sleeping clothes.

Beall Declines Offer Of Party Chairmanship

Congressman Says He Does Not Seek Office.

Congressman J. Glenn Beall, Frostburg, said last night he is not a candidate for the chairmanship of the Republican State Central Committee and has no intention of seeking the office at the state convention next week.

Rep. Beall stated, "About three weeks ago, Mr. Galen L. Tait, of Bethesda, state party chairman, told me he plans to resign and said he thought I was the logical man to succeed him. I thanked Mr. Tait for his confidence, but explained that I do not feel I should accept additional responsibility since I am a candidate for re-election to Congress. I felt then, and feel now, that my acceptance of the position would prove a burden to the party in the state, and I told Mr. Tait I could not accept. I have not been approached officially otherwise, and if I should be I will have to decline the offer. I could not give the job the time it requires."

Asked if he has any idea who might be named to succeed Tait in the event of a resignation, Rep. Beall replied, "The chairman is elected by the members of the state central committees from 23 counties and Baltimore City. I am sure they will choose a competent, capable and efficient man to lead the party and manage its affairs."

Political Speculation

In the Baltimore Evening Sun, Bradford Jacobs, political writer, said there was a strong possibility that Beall would be named to succeeded Tait as GOP state chairman.

According to Jacobs, Congressman Beall is close to Jacob France, Maryland's Republican national committeeman, and, in this position "has been functioning to all intents and purposes as the state chairman, despite the titular office held by Mr. Tait."

"Thus," continued Jacobs, "Mr. Beall's formal election to the office after Mr. Tait's resignation would be a logical extension of his progress in unofficial strength in party ranks, this progress being largely at the political expense of Mr. Tait.

"Furthermore, Mr. Beall's emergence as the chairman of the state party would amount to official recognition of his development through outright vote control to one of the strongest Republican figures in the state, if not the strongest."

To Head Delegation

Congressma Beall's statement last night clearly takes him out of any party contest for the chairmanship, but he remains an important part of the GOP in Maryland.

The Frostburg legislator, a veteran of three terms in the U. S. House of Representatives, was unopposed for renomination this month in the party primaries. He will head a delegation to the convention from the five counties of Western Maryland which comprise his Sixth Congressional District, when it meets in the Lord Baltimore Hotel May 20 at 12:30 p. m.

From other sources the NEWS learned last night that the most likely successor to Mr. Tait for the chairmanship in view of Mr. Beall's refusal to take the post, is probably the state senator from Carroll County, Stanford Hoff, Westminster.

GOP party observers, in close touch with party and political affairs, explain that the chairmanship will probably become a full time position with a salary of $6,000 per year, an office and secretary in Baltimore. Party leaders throughout the county are interested in electing to the office a young, experienced and energetic man who can give much of his time to the office. Since state headquarters are to be located in Baltimore, it is the opinion that a man from near Baltimore would be a logical choice.

County Leaders Agree

Interest seems to center around Senator Hoff, and it was reliably reported to the News last night that numerous county leaders have already agreed on him as the successor to Tait if he resigns. If Tait does not resign, he can continue as GOP state chairman until 1950.

When the convention opens next week, D. Lindley Sloan, this city, former chief judge of the Maryland Court of Appeals, will be keynoter and permanent chairman. Former Judge Sloan recently consented to act as chairman and to keynote the convention.

U. S. Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Speaker of the House of Representatives, is scheduled to deliver the principal address. He agreed to make the address after an invitation from Congressman Beall.

Coming before the state convention will be the election of 16 delegates to the National Convention

Millholland Heads First Battalion National Guard

Assumes Temporary Command Last Night

Col. Randolph Millholland, executive officer of the 115th Infantry Regiment, 29th Division, Maryland National Guard, last night assumed command of the First Battalion here until a successor to the late Major Howard H. Dickey is appointed.

At the regular drill period of Headquarters Company last night, Col. Millholland announced that all members of the battalion will begin wearing summer weight khaki uniforms next week to repace the present olive drab woolens.

Plans were also announced for a battalion rifle match for the championship of the First Battalion. Headquarters and C Companies of this city will compete on the Armory's indoor range Tuesday, May 18, with Lt. Forest Moser and Lt. Herbert E. Smiley in charge.

Company A and Company B of Hagerstown will compete Monday, May 17, at the Hagerstown Armory.

The winners of the two matches will compete for the championship at a date to be announced the following week on the Hagerstown range.

Capt. A. M. Schedlwachter, pastor of St. Matthews Episcopal Church, Oakland, First Battalion chaplain, was a visitor at the drill of Headquarters Company last night.

Four Local DAV Members Given State Citations

Members of Fort Washington Chapter No. 2, Disabled American Veterans, will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock to hear reports on the convention held over the weekend at Hagerstown. The regular meeting tonight has been postponed to give all members an opportunity to attend the circus.

Four local members received honors at the convention in the form of citations signed by William Pritzker, state commander, and Meredith G. DuBar, state adjutant, for obtaining five memberships each during the year. They are John E. Hoffman, Walter Lashley, Eddie P. Parsons and Labin Perdew.

John E. Hoffman was elected blue rodent or junior vice commander of the "Trench Rats," the fun organization of the DAV. Phillip Robrecht and William L. Minor, Sr., both of Baltimore Chapter No. 1, were elected golden rodent or commander and silver rodent or senior vice commander, respectively.

The convention will be held next year at Salisbury, local delegates reported.

Dailey Brothers Circus To Arrive By Railroad Early This Morning

Alarm clocks will be set early this morning, for a lot of kids (of all ages) will be on hand to welcome the railroad train which brings the Dailey Brothers Circus to town.

The five-ring show is scheduled to arrive here shortly after dawn on the Western Maryland Railway tracks and will unload on the railroad sidings.

The circus will present two performances at Community Ball Park, at 3 and 8 p. m. Doors will open an hour earlier to permit inspection of the traveling menagerie. Side shows will be open even earlier.

At 11 a. m. the show will send uptown a bright red calliope drawn by 10 Belgian ponies, reminiscent of the old-time circus parades.

School children will be dismissed from classes earlier than usual, so they may attend the afternoon performance. Many of the elementary school-age children in the area have never seen a circus, as none have visited Cumberland in the past several years.

A 65-year-old woman, Mrs. Margaret McElfish, Flintstone, received a fractured arm in a fall at her home, and was treated at Allegany Hospital. William Stonebrake, Oldtown Road, was treated for third degree burns on his left thigh, after he dropped a cigaret and his pants caught fire.

Memorial Hospital reported the following births last night.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dale Arnold, Bedford, Pa., a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan A. Kidwell, Keyser, W. Va., a son.

165 High School Seniors To Tour This City Today

Visit To Mark Hospital Day

Plans were being completed last night for the visit in Cumberland today of approximately 165 high school seniors from 26 schools in Western Maryland and nearby West Virginia and Pennsylvania in observance of "National Hospital Day."

Miss Anne Sloan, Lonaconing, chairman of the student nurse recruitment committee which is sponsoring the observance, said other guests will include nine nurses from Romney, W. Va., representing the Hampshire County Registered Nurses Association.

The group will assemble at the Cumberland Free Public Library at 1 p. m. prior to visiting local sites of historical interest. J. William Hunt, editor of the Sunday Times, will conduct the tour.

Open house will be held at both Allegany and Memorial Hospitals, where refreshments will be served by the respective Woman's Auxiliary organizations.

The Times and Alleganian Company will be host to the young women at a dinner to be served at 6 p. m. at St. Luke's Lutheran Church by members of the Baracca Bible Class of the church. Mrs. Marshall Twigg, teacher of the class, will be in charge.

Members of the Drum and Bugle Corps of Farrady Post No. 13, American Legion, Frostburg, will come here to take part in flag ceremonies preceding an original pageant on the history of nursing, to be presented at 8 p. m. at Allegany High School auditorium.

Jury Returns Unusual Verdict In Damage Suit

A Circuit Court jury returned an unusual verdict yesterday afternoon in an automobile mishap damage suit, when the jury foreman reported to the Court, "We find both parties negligent."

The suit had been filed by Nettie L. Aberle, 72-year-old local woman, against Frank Mortzfeldt for personal injuries and damages to her car as a result of a mishap on Mason Road last May 30. She was represented by Paul M. Fletcher and claimed damages of $1,500 from Mortzfeldt, who was represented by Edwin M. Horchler.

Associate Judge George Henderson, who presided, asked the foreman if the jury meant that the plaintiff and defendant were equally responsible. The foreman replied, "Yes, sir" and the jurymen nodded agreement. Judge Henderson explained that in such a case, in view of the court's instructions, a verdict would be entered for the defendant.

Witnesses in the case told the jury and court that Mrs. Aberle was driving from this city to the home of her sister at Rocky Gap on Mason Road when a car operated by Mortzfeldt approached. Mrs. Aberle's car left the road and plunged down a 20-foot embankment.

Lawrence E. Meister was jury formean, and the jury deliberated two hours before reaching a verdict.

A damage suit of Gilbert Spiker against Fred Jenkins, trading as the Astor Cab Company, was settled out of court yesterday morning by attorneys. Spiker was injured several months ago when struck by a taxicab at the corner of Baltimore and Mechanic Streets.

B. & O. Trains Reported Operating As Usual

Trains of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad ran on schedule yesterday, and local officials said that all employes who had been slated for furlough in the event of a strike were at work.

Government seizure of the railroads, termed merely a formality, brought no changes, and officials said, "trains are running as usual and all departments are operating as if nothing had happened."

The settlement of the strike threat and the continued operation of the railroad assured the appearance of Dailey Brothers Circus here today. The circus played in Altoona, Pa., yesterday and was scheduled to leave there at midnight and arrive here over Western Maryland tracks between 6 and 7 a. m. today.

O'Conor Favors Atom Pact To Insure Peace

Pays Tribute To Christian Brothers

The complete text of Senator O'Conor's address will be found on page 19.

An official move by the American Government looking toward a pact for atomic control and development embracing all "nations of good will" was advocated last night by Senator Herbert R. O'Conor at a civic banquet held here to commemorate the American Centennial of the Brothers of the Christian Schools and the 40th anniversary of the Christian Brothers in Cumberland.

The pact, he added, would leave the door wide open for Russia and her satellites to join. Such a move, he added, would demonstrate again to the world America's good faith and would be one more tie to bind the nations of Western Europe and this continent in a joint movement for mutual security.

Not Bloody Aggression

Russian aggression, he declared, is not basically the bloody, violent aggression which marked the conquests of conquerors of the past but is a more potent threat, despite its subtlety, since it seeks to dominate men's minds and to drive from the hearts of people everywhere belief in the eternal truths which afford a basis for justice and morality among men.

It is not capitalism and the democratic concepts of liberty and free enterprise which are the real point of the Communist attack but rather the abuses which have been permitted to develop and mar the democratic ideal which have made it easy for Communists to infiltrate and seize control of freedom loving countries elsewhere, he pointed out.

Until there is general recognition in the educational program and in the lives of the people of our dependency upon the Almighty and our need for His Guidance, he added, we may expect that subversive efforts such as are now current in the world will achieve success.

Civic Banquet Held

Tributes to the work of the Brothers of the Christian Schools in Cumberlan dwere offered at the banquet.

It opened with the invocation by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Louis C. Vaeth, Baltimore, followed by a brief talk by John H. Mosner, chairman of the committee which arranged the banquet.

Edward J. Ryan, well known attorney, who served as toastmaster, gave a light touch to the banquet by terming the celebration "my last centennial."

Ryan, a member of the 1910 class of LaSalle Institute, termed the teaching profession "one of the noblest" professions and pointed that many of the Christian Brothers make tremendous sacrifices in their work.

In recounting a brief history of the Brothers of the Christian Schools in the United States and in Cumberland, he paid tribute to the present faculty who are carrying on the work of the order here.

LaSalle High School has never lacked the support of the people of Cumberland, Brother Clement, principal of LaSalle High School, declared.

He expressed the gratitude of the LaSalle faculty for the successful Centennial celebration and promised the Brothers would continue "to fashion Christian men" at LaSalle.

Relates Early History

In emergencies, men have been raised up to do the work of the church, Rev. Brother Emilian James, Baltimore, provincial of the Brothers of the Christian Schools, said in relating the early history of the Christian Brothers.

He paid special tribute to the man chiefly responsible for the beginning of the Christian Brothers work in Maryland.

St. De LaSalle, founder of the order, is happy in Heaven to know that the Christian Brothers are in Cumberland, Brother Emilian concluded.

Rep. J. Glenn Beall, in a brief tribute to the work of the Christian Brothers, said Western Maryland is grateful for the type of citizens the Christian Brothers have produced at LaSalle High School.

Among the highlights of the banquet were selections by the Glee Club of St. Francis College, Loretta, Pa., which included the traditional Welsh air, "All Through the Night" and the spiritual, "Let My People Go."

Dr. George Smith, director of St. Francis, paid tribute to LaSalle, pointing out that some 50 LaSalle graduates have become affiliated with St. Francis.

Some 400 persons were present for the banquet.

Pontifical Mass Held

"LaSalle High School, Cumberland, is one of the brightest gems in the crown of the Christian Brothers in the United States," said Rt. Rev. Monsignor Thomas F. McNally, Ph.D., pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Jenkintown, suburban Philadelphia, in his sermon yesterday at the Pontifical high mass in St. Patrick's Church, celebrating the centennial of the Brothers in this country and their fortieth year in Cumberland.

Wallace Petition Names To Be Printed Again

ANNAPOLIS, May 11 (AP)—More than 20,000 names, neatly typed on hundreds of sheets of crisp white paper, were on their way to newspaper advertising colums today.

They were taken from petitions which will gain ballot places for candidates of the Progressive Party of Maryland and Socialist Party next November.

S. P. Brock, administrative assistant to the Secretary of State, said the names must be advertised within 30 days of filing.

Secretary Bertram L. Boone II hired four extra typists for the transcript job. They worked two solid days, pounding out more than 20,000 names.

Most of the signatures were on petitions for the Progressive Party aspirants, Henry A. Wallace for president and Sen. Glen H. Taylor for vice president, along with three Maryland congressional candidates.

PSC Clears Way For Local Bus Fare Increase

Dismisses Complaints Brought By Council

BALTIMORE, May 11 (AP)—The Maryland Public Service Commission today cleared the way for a proposed increase in Cumberland bus fares by the Potomac Edison Company.

The PSC dismissed complaints brought against the requested fare raise by the Cumberland Mayor and City Council. It ordered Potomac Edison to give the commission and the public 10 days notice before putting the new rates into effect.

The company asked for a change in its commutation fares. It wants to replace three-for-a-quarter, ten-for-80-cent and 15-for-$1 tickets with six for 50 cents.

E. H. Koons, general traffic agent for the company, said without the increase the utility would suffer $29,009 loss this year. This would be caused, he added, by $31,785 in more wages because of a 12-cent hourly increase granted March 1 and $17,356 in increased operating costs.

The traffic agent estimated the fare increase would give the firm a net profit of $3,156.

The City of Cumberland contended through Solicitor Thomas B. Finan that "Potomac Edison is speculating on what will happen and not what has happened. They are crying before they're hurt."

Potomac Edison also operates busses in Hagerstown.

In filing its application for the increase several weeks ago, Potomac Edison said the increase was necessary to absorb about $49,000 estimated annual increase in cost of operations, and requested that the new rate schedule be made effective May 2.

However, on April 14 the Public Service Commission postponed a hearing on the petition until May 5 at the request of City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, who sought more time to prepare the city's case against the fare raises.

At the hearing May 5, the PSC took the case under advisement after the City of Cumberland asked the commission to require the company to continue operation with its present bus fares to determine if it would suffer a loss as claimed.

Henry W. Price, district manager of Potomac Edison, said earlier the company did not propose an increase in bus fares in Cumberland but an adjustment in one class of fares. He added that the 10-cent cash fare would remain the same.

Local organizations which went on record as opposing the fare increase were Local 212, International Association of Machinists, and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America.

The Public Service Commission recently granted fare rate increases to the Cumberland and Western-port Transit Company and to Emery's Motor Coach Lines.

Scholarship Funds Will Help Nurse Trainees In Area

Scholarship funds are being provided by various Allegany County organizations to permit any qualified young man or woman interested in nursing as a profession to enter training, regardless of financial ability, Mrs. Charles L. Kopp said last night.

Mrs. Kopp, a member of the student nurse recruitment committee which is conducting a drive in this area, was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Allegany County Public Health Lay Council at City Hall.

The committee hopes to obtain 100 qualified applicants, Mrs. Kopp said in outlining plans for events scheduled today in observance of "National Hospital Day," when 165 young women from area high schools will come to Cumberland as guests of the committee.

If sufficient applicants are obtained, classes will be started next month at Allegany and Memorial Hospital Schools of Nursing, Mrs. Kopp said.

Another feature of last night's meeting, at which Mrs. Arthur Evans, chairman, presided, was a short talk by Mrs. Norman S. Yoder, Pinto, who was the first lay health worker in the county.

She recalled that 26 years ago Miss Margaret Morrissey, public health nurse in the Cresaptown and Pinto districts, asked permission to hold a baby clinic at the Yoder home, and that 12 women brought their babies to the clinic.

Miss Morrissey outlined the present organization of lay health workers in her district and praised their help at the various clinics.

Similar talks were given by other public health nurses, Miss Grace Hardman, Miss Anna Hardy, Mrs. Elizabeth Rosenmerkel, Mrs. Rose Loible, Mrs. Isabelle Laughlin, Miss Henrietta Lippold, and Miss Margaret Neumann.

Another speaker was Mrs. Ruth K. Graham, Baltimore, director of county organization for the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, who arirved here yesterday for conferences with City Commissioner William J. Edwards and Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer.

Edwards served as chairman of the county Christmas Seal campaign to raise funds for the fight against tuberculosis.

Meeting Called To End Emery Strike

A meeting to attempt to end the week-old strike of drivers of the Emery Motor Coach Lines in this section has been arranged for this afternoon through the efforts of C. E. Clevenger, federal conciliator.

Willis Sams, representative of the local union, and John Elliott, representative of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railways and Motor Coach Employes, AFL, are scheduled to meet with management.

CONTEST WINNER-- Miss Gladys Troshak, 20, Route 3, Valley Road, won the Road To Hollywood screen contest, sponsored by Screen Guild Productions and the local National Guard Units at the State Armory. The finals were held here Saturday, and she will compete later in regional competition in the nation-wide contest. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wertz. James Hager, Fort Hill High School senior, won the male competition.

Building Trades Say Strike May End Tomorrow

Present Outlook Termed 'Promising'

Officials of the Building and Construction Trades Council reported last night that conditions are "promising" for the return to work of all building trades craftsmen tomorrow.

The announcement by George W. Lucas, president of the council, followed conferences yesterday between contractors and building trades officials with James A. Holden, Washington, well known federal conciliator.

One of the factors which is delaying the agreement is the meeting of members of Local 616, Laborers Union, to act upon a wage offer by the general contractors.

That action will be taken at a special meeting to be held tonight at 6:45 o'clock in Allegany Trades Council Hall, R. C. Simmons, business agent, said. He did not disclose the amount of the offer prior to the meeting.

Construction bogged down here last week after building craftsmen went on what was termed a "fishing trip" or "holiday" due to the lack of an agreement on a new wage scale and the effective date of that scale on projects already under contract.

Officials said there was no question, except in the case of laborers, of the rates but that the chief argument arose from the effective date of the increases which in most cases was about 25 cents an hour.

The building holiday has chiefly affected projects of the Vandegrift and Hazelwood construction firms.

There is some question, one official said, as to whether carpenters employed on one job will continue their "fishing trip."

France Asks Md. Editors To Dinner

Jacob France, Republican National Committeeman for Maryland, has issued invitations to editors of all the newspapers in the state to be his guests at a dinner at 6:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

Congressman Charles Hallack of Indiana, majority floor leader in the House of Representatives, will be guest of honor and will speak informally.

"The purpose of the gathering," France said, "is for the newspapermen to meet personally the six GOP Congressional candidates in Maryland." Editors in Western Maryland are acquainted with J. Glenn Beall, Sixth District, and those on the Eastern Shore have met Edward T. Miller, First District, both of whom were unopposed in the recent primaries to succeed themselves in the House of Representatives in the general election this year. The other four candidates are:

Second District — Former State Senator A. Earl Shipley, Westminster, Carroll County.

Third District—John A. Janetzke, 1754 Bank Street, Baltimore, 31.

Fourth District—James W. Miller, 347 East 29th Street, Baltimore, 18.

Fifth District—C. Maurice Weidemeyer, Suitland, Prince Georges County.

There are approximately 75 weeklies in Maryland outside of Baltimore, and four in the city proper, three of which are of foreign language. Nine dailies are published in the State and three in Baltimore, making an overall total of 92.

Ohr Lodge To Observe Eighty-First Anniversary

Ohr Lodge 131, A. F. and A. M., will observe its 81st anniversary tomorrow night at the Masonic Temple, beginning with a dinner which will be served at 6 p. m. by McKinley Chapter No. 12, Order of the Eastern Star. Dinner music will be furnished by the Colomy String Ensemble.

Following the dinner, at 7:30, the regular meeting will be held.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes John J. Robinson, Fred P. Keyser and Thomas A. Robertiello. Fred W. Shanning, worshipful master, will preside.

County Board To Request Bigger Share Sales Tax

Commissioners Meet In Hagerstown Today

Allegany County Commissioners attending a meeting of Western Shore County Commissioner Association at Hotel Alexander, Hagerstown, today, will recommend the distribution of more state sales tax funds to counties, Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., president of the Board, said yesterday.

Commissioners James Holmes and William H. Lemmert, accompanied by the board's attorney, Lewis M. Wilson, will attend the conference. Wilkinson said he will be unable to go.

Commissioners agreed yesterday that the Association should be urged to request more money for relief and for school building construction.

The Allegany commissioners will present both requests formally and urge uniform action by the association in sending the recommendation to state officials. In view of heavy receipts from state-wide sales tax, local commissioners believe the counties are receiving too small a proportion on the distribution.

An order of court was presented the County Board yesterday extending the term of office of James Park, tax collector for District 3 to April 1949.

A report of an insurance company received by the commissioners this morning showed that several defects of the electric elevator at the Court House should be corrected at once in the interest of safety.

The commissioners ordered the clerk to contact the Otis Elevator Company at once so that the suggested repairs can be made.

A letter was received from J. Milton Patterson, director of the State Department of Welfare, asking for recommendations for a successor to Mrs. J. C. Cobey, Frostburg, as a member of the Allegany County Welfare Board. Patterson suggested that someone in Frostburg vicinity be recommended.

PERMIT GRANTED TO BUILD $4,500 HOME

A building permit was granted yesterday by the city engineer's office to William R. Turner, 768 Maryland Avenue, to construct a two-story six-room house on Lot No. 63, Kentucky Avenue, at an estimated cost of $4,500.

Thurston Grapes secured a permit to build an addition and rebuild a porch at 437 South Street. The first floor of the two-story addition will measure 5 by 12 feet, and the second floor will be 12 by 18 feet, with a concrete block foundation, frame walls covered with Inselbrick and a composition roof.

The porch will be reduced from 6 by 28 feet to 5 by 26 feet. Work will be done by Burch Brothers and cost is estimated at $1,400.

G. E. Pfeiffer, 425 Columbia, secured a permit to enclose a rear porch at his home with frame walls, with the enclosure to measure 5½ by 12 feet. Cost is estimated at $80.

A permit was granted to Harold Cain, 5 Broadway, Frostburg, to use part of a two-story brick building at 110 Henry Street as a sign shop. The premises, owned by the W. E. Turner estate, were formerly used as an appliance repair shop.

The Weather

Wheeeeee, that was a scorcher yesterday, wasn't it? But, the weather man promises more later this week. The mercury topped Monday's high, when it reached a peak of 92 degrees and sent townspeople to shaded areas. It wasn't typical circus weather, as it generally rains on Circus Day, and that is just what the weatherman says will happen today. But the kiddies all have their fingers crossed, hoping the showers hold out at least until they are under the "big top." The weatherman says it will be warm again today, with some cloudiness, turning to rain in the afternoon. The low for the night was 73 degrees, with many sleepers shedding their winter sleeping clothes.

Beall Declines Offer Of Party Chairmanship

Congressman Says He Does Not Seek Office.

Congressman J. Glenn Beall, Frostburg, said last night he is not a candidate for the chairmanship of the Republican State Central Committee and has no intention of seeking the office at the state convention next week.

Rep. Beall stated, "About three weeks ago, Mr. Galen L. Tait, of Bethesda, state party chairman, told me he plans to resign and said he thought I was the logical man to succeed him. I thanked Mr. Tait for his confidence, but explained that I do not feel I should accept additional responsibility since I am a candidate for re-election to Congress. I felt then, and feel now, that my acceptance of the position would prove a burden to the party in the state, and I told Mr. Tait I could not accept. I have not been approached officially otherwise, and if I should be I will have to decline the offer. I could not give the job the time it requires."

Asked if he has any idea who might be named to succeed Tait in the event of a resignation, Rep. Beall replied, "The chairman is elected by the members of the state central committees from 23 counties and Baltimore City. I am sure they will choose a competent, capable and efficient man to lead the party and manage its affairs."

Political Speculation

In the Baltimore Evening Sun, Bradford Jacobs, political writer, said there was a strong possibility that Beall would be named to succeeded Tait as GOP state chairman.

According to Jacobs, Congressman Beall is close to Jacob France, Maryland's Republican national committeeman, and, in this position "has been functioning to all intents and purposes as the state chairman, despite the titular office held by Mr. Tait."

"Thus," continued Jacobs, "Mr. Beall's formal election to the office after Mr. Tait's resignation would be a logical extension of his progress in unofficial strength in party ranks, this progress being largely at the political expense of Mr. Tait.

"Furthermore, Mr. Beall's emergence as the chairman of the state party would amount to official recognition of his development through outright vote control to one of the strongest Republican figures in the state, if not the strongest."

To Head Delegation

Congressma Beall's statement last night clearly takes him out of any party contest for the chairmanship, but he remains an important part of the GOP in Maryland.

The Frostburg legislator, a veteran of three terms in the U. S. House of Representatives, was unopposed for renomination this month in the party primaries. He will head a delegation to the convention from the five counties of Western Maryland which comprise his Sixth Congressional District, when it meets in the Lord Baltimore Hotel May 20 at 12:30 p. m.

From other sources the NEWS learned last night that the most likely successor to Mr. Tait for the chairmanship in view of Mr. Beall's refusal to take the post, is probably the state senator from Carroll County, Stanford Hoff, Westminster.

GOP party observers, in close touch with party and political affairs, explain that the chairmanship will probably become a full time position with a salary of $6,000 per year, an office and secretary in Baltimore. Party leaders throughout the county are interested in electing to the office a young, experienced and energetic man who can give much of his time to the office. Since state headquarters are to be located in Baltimore, it is the opinion that a man from near Baltimore would be a logical choice.

County Leaders Agree

Interest seems to center around Senator Hoff, and it was reliably reported to the News last night that numerous county leaders have already agreed on him as the successor to Tait if he resigns. If Tait does not resign, he can continue as GOP state chairman until 1950.

When the convention opens next week, D. Lindley Sloan, this city, former chief judge of the Maryland Court of Appeals, will be keynoter and permanent chairman. Former Judge Sloan recently consented to act as chairman and to keynote the convention.

U. S. Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Speaker of the House of Representatives, is scheduled to deliver the principal address. He agreed to make the address after an invitation from Congressman Beall.

Millholland Heads First Battalion National Guard

Assumes Temporary Command Last Night

Col. Randolph Millholland, executive officer of the 115th Infantry Regiment, 29th Division, Maryland National Guard, last night assumed command of the First Battalion here until a successor to the late Major Howard H. Dickey is appointed.

At the regular drill period of Headquarters Company last night, Col. Millholland announced that all members of the battalion will begin wearing summer weight khaki uniforms next week to repace the present olive drab woolens.

Plans were also announced for a battalion rifle match for the championship of the First Battalion. Headquarters and C Companies of this city will compete on the Armory's indoor range Tuesday, May 18, with Lt. Forest Moser and Lt. Herbert E. Smiley in charge.

Company A and Company B of Hagerstown will compete Monday, May 17, at the Hagerstown Armory.

The winners of the two matches will compete for the championship at a date to be announced the following week on the Hagerstown range.

Capt. A. M. Schedlwachter, pastor of St. Matthews Episcopal Church, Oakland, First Battalion chaplain, was a visitor at the drill of Headquarters Company last night.

Four Local DAV Members Given State Citations

Members of Fort Washington Chapter No. 2, Disabled American Veterans, will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock to hear reports on the convention held over the weekend at Hagerstown. The regular meeting tonight has been postponed to give all members an opportunity to attend the circus.

Four local members received honors at the convention in the form of citations signed by William Pritzker, state commander, and Meredith G. DuBar, state adjutant, for obtaining five memberships each during the year. They are John E. Hoffman, Walter Lashley, Eddie P. Parsons and Labin Perdew.

John E. Hoffman was elected blue rodent or junior vice commander of the "Trench Rats," the fun organization of the DAV. Phillip Robrecht and William L. Minor, Sr., both of Baltimore Chapter No. 1, were elected golden rodent or commander and silver rodent or senior vice commander, respectively.

The convention will be held next year at Salisbury, local delegates reported.

Dailey Brothers Circus To Arrive By Railroad Early This Morning

Alarm clocks will be set early this morning, for a lot of kids (of all ages) will be on hand to welcome the railroad train which brings the Dailey Brothers Circus to town.

The five-ring show is scheduled to arrive here shortly after dawn on the Western Maryland Railway tracks and will unload on the railroad sidings.

The circus will present two performances at Community Ball Park, at 3 and 8 p. m. Doors will open an hour earlier to permit inspection of the traveling menagerie. Side shows will be open even earlier.

At 11 a. m. the show will send uptown a bright red calliope drawn by 10 Belgian ponies, reminiscent of the old-time circus parades.

School children will be dismissed from classes earlier than usual, so they may attend the afternoon performance. Many of the elementary school-age children in the area have never seen a circus, as none have visited Cumberland in the past several years.

A 65-year-old woman, Mrs. Margaret McElfish, Flintstone, received a fractured arm in a fall at her home, and was treated at Allegany Hospital. William Stonebrake, Oldtown Road, was treated for third degree burns on his left thigh, after he dropped a cigaret and his pants caught fire.

Samuel K. Eckard, Martens Street, an employe of the Queen City Neon Company, was treated in Memorial Hospital for slight burns about his left hand suffered while working on a large sign at McCrory's Store.

165 High School Seniors To Tour This City Today

Visit To Mark Hospital Day

Plans were being completed last night for the visit in Cumberland today of approximately 165 high school seniors from 26 schools in Western Maryland and nearby West Virginia and Pennsylvania in observance of "National Hospital Day."

Miss Anne Sloan, Lonaconing, chairman of the student nurse recruitment committee which is sponsoring the observance, said other guests will include nine nurses from Romney, W. Va., representing the Hampshire County Registered Nurses Association.

The group will assemble at the Cumberland Free Public Library at 1 p. m. prior to visiting local sites of historical interest. J. William Hunt, editor of the Sunday Times, will conduct the tour.

Open house will be held at both Allegany and Memorial Hospitals, where refreshments will be served by the respective Woman's Auxiliary organizations.

The Times and Alleganian Company will be host to the young women at a dinner to be served at 6 p. m. at St. Luke's Lutheran Church by members of the Baracca Bible Class of the church. Mrs. Marshall Twigg, teacher of the class, will be in charge.

Members of the Drum and Bugle Corps of Farrady Post No. 13, American Legion, Frostburg, will come here to take part in flag ceremonies preceding an original pageant on the history of nursing, to be presented at 8 p. m. at Allegany High School auditorium.

Jury Returns Unusual Verdict In Damage Suit

A Circuit Court jury returned an unusual verdict yesterday afternoon in an automobile mishap damage suit, when the jury foreman reported to the Court, "We find both parties negligent."

The suit had been filed by Nettie L. Aberle, 72-year-old local woman, against Frank Mortzfeldt for personal injuries and damages to her car as a result of a mishap on Mason Road last May 30. She was represented by Paul M. Fletcher and claimed damages of $1,500 from Mortzfeldt, who was represented by Edwin M. Horchler.

Associate Judge George Henderson, who presided, asked the foreman if the jury meant that the plaintiff and defendant were equally responsible. The foreman replied, "Yes, sir" and the jurymen nodded agreement. Judge Henderson explained that in such a case, in view of the court's instructions, a verdict would be entered for the defendant.

Witnesses in the case told the jury and court that Mrs. Aberle was driving from this city to the home of her sister at Rocky Gap on Mason Road when a car operated by Mortzfeldt approached. Mrs. Aberle's car left the road and plunged down a 20-foot embankment.

Lawrence E. Meister was jury formean, and the jury deliberated two hours before reaching a verdict.

A damage suit of Gilbert Spiker against Fred Jenkins, trading as the Astor Cab Company, was settled out of court yesterday morning by attorneys. Spiker was injured several months ago when struck by a taxicab at the corner of Baltimore and Mechanic Streets.

B. & O. Trains Reported Operating As Usual

Trains of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad ran on schedule yesterday, and local officials said that all employes who had been slated for furlough in the event of a strike were at work.

Government seizure of the railroads, termed merely a formality, brought no changes, and officials said, "trains are running as usual and all departments are operating as if nothing had happened."

The settlement of the strike threat and the continued operation of the railroad assured the appearance of Dailey Brothers Circus here today. The circus played in Altoona, Pa., yesterday and was scheduled to leave there at midnight and arrive here over Western Maryland tracks between 6 and 7 a. m. today.

O'Conor Favors Atom Pact To Insure Peace

Pays Tribute To Christian Brothers

The complete text of Senator O'Conor's address will be found on page 19.

An official move by the American Government looking toward a pact for atomic control and development embracing all "nations of good will" was advocated last night by Senator Herbert R. O'Conor at a civic banquet held here to commemorate the American Centennial of the Brothers of the Christian Schools and the 40th anniversary of the Christian Brothers in Cumberland.

The pact, he added, would leave the door wide open for Russia and her satellites to join. Such a move, he added, would demonstrate again to the world America's good faith and would be one more tie to bind the nations of Western Europe and this continent in a joint movement for mutual security.

Not Bloody Aggression

Russian aggression, he declared, is not basically the bloody, violent aggression which marked the conquests of conquerors of the past but is a more potent threat, despite its subtlety, since it seeks to dominate men's minds and to drive from the hearts of people everywhere belief in the eternal truths which afford a basis for justice and morality among men.

It is not capitalism and the democratic concepts of liberty and free enterprise which are the real point of the Communist attack but rather the abuses which have been permitted to develop and mar the democratic ideal which have made it easy for Communists to infiltrate and seize control of freedom loving countries elsewhere, he pointed out.

Until there is general recognition in the educational program and in the lives of the people of our dependency upon the Almighty and our need for His Guidance, he added, we may expect that subversive efforts such as are now current in the world will achieve success.

Civic Banquet Held

Tributes to the work of the Brothers of the Christian Schools in Cumberlan dwere offered at the banquet.

It opened with the invocation by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Louis C. Vaeth, Baltimore, followed by a brief talk by John H. Mosner, chairman of the committee which arranged the banquet.

Edward J. Ryan, well known attorney, who served as toastmaster, gave a light touch to the banquet by terming the celebration "my last centennial."

Ryan, a member of the 1910 class of LaSalle Institute, termed the teaching profession "one of the noblest" professions and pointed that many of the Christian Brothers make tremendous sacrifices in their work.

In recounting a brief history of the Brothers of the Christian Schools in the United States and in Cumberland, he paid tribute to the present faculty who are carrying on the work of the order here.

LaSalle High School has never lacked the support of the people of Cumberland, Brother Clement, principal of LaSalle High School, declared.

He expressed the gratitude of the LaSalle faculty for the successful Centennial celebration and promised the Brothers would continue "to fashion Christian men" at LaSalle.

Relates Early History

In emergencies, men have been raised up to do the work of the church, Rev. Brother Emilian James, Baltimore, provincial of the Brothers of the Christian Schools, said in relating the early history of the Christian Brothers.

He paid special tribute to the man chiefly responsible for the beginning of the Christian Brothers work in Maryland.

St. De LaSalle, founder of the order, is happy in Heaven to know that the Christian Brothers are in Cumberland, Brother Emilian concluded.

Rep. J. Glenn Beall, in a brief tribute to the work of the Christian Brothers, said Western Maryland is grateful for the type of citizens the Christian Brothers have produced at LaSalle High School.

Among the highlights of the banquet were selections by the Glee Club of St. Francis College, Loretta, Pa., which included the traditional Welsh air, "All Through the Night" and the spiritual, "Let My People Go."

Dr. George Smith, director of St. Francis, paid tribute to LaSalle, pointing out that some 50 LaSalle graduates have become affiliated with St. Francis.

Some 400 persons were present for the banquet.

Pontifical Mass Held

"LaSalle High School, Cumberland, is one of the brightest gems in the crown of the Christian Brothers in the United States," said Rt. Rev. Monsignor Thomas F. McNally, Ph.D., pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Jenkintown, suburban Philadelphia, in his sermon yesterday at the Pontifical high mass in St. Patrick's Church, celebrating the centennial of the Brothers in this country and their fortieth year in Cumberland.

Wallace Petition Names To Be Printed Again

ANNAPOLIS, May 11 (AP)—More than 20,000 names, neatly typed on hundreds of sheets of crisp white paper, were on their way to newspaper advertising columns today.

They were taken from petitions which will gain ballot places for candidates of the Progressive Party of Maryland and Socialist Party next November.

S. P. Brock, administrative assistant to the Secretary of State, said the names must be advertised within 30 days of filing.

Secretary Bertram L. Boone II hired four extra typists for the transcript job. They worked two solid days, pounding out more than 20,000 names.

Most of the signatures were on petitions for the Progressive Party aspirants, Henry A. Wallace for president and Sen. Glen H. Taylor for vice president, along with three Maryland congressional candidates.
